CHICAGO STIRS U. S. TO ACTION ON POSTOFFICE

Senate Acts Today to End 2 Year Delay.

While the Chicago campaign for an immediate start on the construction of the $14,000,000 postoffice was gathering momentum last night encouraging news came from Washington that the Keyes-Elliott public building bill is scheduled for enactment by the senate this afternoon.

Lack of this legislation has been declared by government officials a factor in the delay of the Chicago project. The bill, which authorizes the employment of outside architects, has been passed by the house and approved by the senate committee.

The foregoing information came from Washington following a meeting of builders and labor representatives who sent a telegram to Walter F. Brown, postmaster general, yesterday afternoon urging in the strongest terms that the construction of the postoffice be started early this spring instead of in the fall as the Washington officials planned.

Promises Quick Action.

The pressure from Chicago was believed to such an extent in Washington that treasury officials declared they would approve a proposition to begin excavating and put in the foundations for the big building before all the plans were completed.

"We had planned to let the contract for the entire structure at once," said A. C. Martin of the treasury division in charge of public buildings yesterday. "If we find, however, that six months or more can be saved by beginning excavation of the foundations before all the plans are completed we will approve such a course."

James Simpson, head of Marshall Field & Co., which is building the $13,000,000 Merchandise mart at Wells street and the river, joined the other Chicago leaders yesterday in a demand for action. He made a sharp contrast between the mart enterprise and the federal project, which will cost just half as much. He pointed out that while the Merchandise mart is being completed about two years after the date of the building and its inception, the postoffice plan has been dragging along for two years without a lick of construction work being done, though engineers long ago appropriated money for it.

Says City Is Neglected.

"There is no reason in the world why the work on the new postoffice should not be started shortly," Mr. Simpson said. "The government has been dragging along on this proposition too long. The delays are inexcusable.

"The government has neglected Chicago. Millions have been spent in other sections of the country but not one cent here in years.

"Marshall Field & Co. sold the tract at Harrison and Clinton on which the new postoffice is to be built to the government before we purchased the site for the Merchandise mart. It is time our senators and representatives in congress came awake on this proposition. Aggressive action on their part would have seen the project under way long ago."

Charles Wrede, manager of the Merchandise Mart, said plans were complete, working drawings and all—and the contracts let in eight months after the idea for the building was originated. The last touches will be put on the building by May 1—a little over a year and a half of work.

Another Example Cited.

Another large project put up quickly in Chicago was the Furniture Mart on the Lake Shore drive. From the office of Wells Bros., the contractors, it was learned that this $4,000,000 unit (the first unit) was finished in eight months. The working drawings were made while the building was under construction.

Robert R. Graham of the architectural firm of Graham, Anderson, Probst & White, makers of the plans for the Merchandise Mart as well as for the postoffice, said during the afternoon that in his opinion work could be started on the postoffice by July 1, if the Keyes-Elliott bill out of the way.

Many other civic leaders want a much earlier start than July 1. Mr. Graham said he believed a slipshod job of rushing might result if an earlier date were attempted.

The Builders' Conference.

The conference of builders and labor leaders in the Builders' building yesterday was a joint meeting of heads of the Chicago Building Trades council, the Builders' association, and the

FRENCH CHARGE REDS KIDNAPED CZARIST CHIEF

General Traced to Moscow Prison.

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 24.—It was the dread cheka of soviet Russia who in broad daylight, on the streets of Paris, on a peaceful Sunday morning, abducted Gen. Alexander Koutiepoff, who became the chief of the czarist Russian exiles all over the world following the death of Grand Duke Nicholas.

This was the conclusion tonight of the French police after a long investigation in which a score of the best men of the Surete Generale, the French Scotland Yard, have been engaged since Jan. 26, when the luckless Russian disappeared without a trace.

Held in Moscow Prison.

And, moreover, he is now a prisoner in the damp and bloody vaults of the sinister Loubianka prison in Moscow, subjected to incessant torture to make him reveal what he knows—which is everything—of White Russian plots in France, Jugo-Slavia, and China against the soviet régime. This is according to other information which reached Paris tonight.

Following these revelations by the French police, it appears tonight that the Franco-soviet relations, which are already strained, may be forced to the breaking point by the outcry of the press, which insists that the government immediately break off with Moscow. To do this would not be difficult. Jean Herbette, French ambassador to Russia, is now in Paris on an indefinite vacation.

Police Reveal Secret Witness.

For weeks the police have been working in silence, with the press silenced at their request. Tonight, however, the nationalist and violently anti-bolshevik La Liberta forced their hand with an extra edition that created a sensation by announcing that Gen. Koutiepoff had been abducted under Russian Dictator Stalin's orders and is now in Loubianka prison.

Pressed by all the other papers, the police finally admitted that a new witness had been found who had seen some mysterious happenings on the Norman coast, near Deauville, on the afternoon of Jan. 26. The police, after a careful check, concluded that the Norman coast episode was actually the transfer of the general to a Russian freighter standing some distance off the coast.

Girl Tells Story.

A Russian girl, whose name the police are keeping secret for fear of reprisals, declares that on the afternoon of the Sunday on which the general disappeared, she was walking on the beach between Houlgate and Villers sur Mer. She saw two cars arrive. Her description of the machines and their occupants tallies exactly with the evidence the police had already uncovered concerning the ambush into which the general fell on the lonely street near his home in Paris.

What looked to her like a big package was carried by four men aboard a launch, which rapidly put out in the direction of a ship whose shadowy form she saw in the offing.

The police, after a minute checkup and comparison with other evidence collected along the road to Deauville, announce that they accept this story and with it the theory that the general was abducted by the soviets, chloroformed, and put aboard a soviet ship whose destination was Russia.

Demand Drastic Action.

La Liberte claims, on what appears to be good authority, that eight days ago the general was still in Loubianka prison. It is claimed here that Stalin hoped by this audacious coup to get the general to confess enough to prove that the French were engaged in a conspiracy against the soviets, with the aim of letting loose another white Russian army against the Reds.

"The only hope left," says La Liberte, "is for the French government to act immediately and force Moscow to release the general. An ultimatum, and nothing less, will be necessary."

Gems Valued at $50,000 Stolen from Major's Home

Haverford, Pa., March 24.—(AP)—The theft of jewels valued at $50,000 from the home of Maj. David S. Barry Jr., United States Marine corps, and socially prominent here, was reported to the police tonight.

PROBE INSURANCE CLAIMS OF FAKE MEDIC STUDENT

Chief Investigator Pat Roche of the state's attorney's office started an investigation yesterday into reports that William J. Nolan, 32 years old, who invited 1,000 society matrons to invest in his career as a medical student, has collected large amounts from insurance companies. Nolan, who told the prosecutor that he was a milk wagon driver and an itinerant photographer, was revealed yesterday as the man who owned several photographic studios which were destroyed by fire.

Nolan, according to Roche's information, received $16,000 insurance after a fire destroyed a store in Cambridge, Mass., on Nov. 2, 1924. Nolan and his father owned the store. A year later he collected $20,000 after a fire damaged a store at 180 West Lake street, and on Sept. 26, 1926, he was awarded $43,264 for a fire at the Illinois Photographic and Advertising company, 5 West Austin avenue. He also collected $3,500 on a robbery policy.

Nolan was questioned, but released Saturday after it was revealed that he had sent letters to gold coast women asking them to invest money in his contemplated medical studies. He posed as a struggling student.

COURT UPHOLDS JAIL TERMS OF 3 POLLS OFFICIALS

The Appellate court in a decision handed down yesterday, upheld the sentence of one year in the county jail, imposed by County Judge Jarecki upon three election officials convicted of contempt of court for perpetrating frauds in the April primary last year in the Twentieth ward.

The defendants are Mrs. Dora Robin, who served as clerk of the 8th precinct, and Harry Schwartz and Timothy Sullivan, judges of the same precinct. All three were followers of Morris Eller. They have only until tomorrow to file petitions for a rehearing.

While the court found Mrs. Robin's sentence severe, the opinion pointed out that "fair and honest elections are the foundation upon which our government rests and those who err in this respect deserve speedy and severe punishment." Concerning the sentence upon the two men, the opinion said that "they well deserved the punishment inflicted."

Gunman Robs Woman of $2,400 in Jewelry

A Negro gunman held up Mrs. Marie Marsh, 50 years old, divorced wife of a railroad contractor, last night a few steps from her home at 3141 Prairie avenue, stripped her of a diamond ring valued at $2,200, a wrist watch worth $160, a $30 necklace, her spectacles worth $25, and her purse containing $15, and escaped. Mrs. Marsh told police part of the jewelry was insured.

Modify Jones Dry Act, Says Wickersham

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—Drastic measures to enforce the dry laws as recommended by certain dry leaders are not desirable in the opinion of George W. Wickersham, chairman of the law enforcement commission, whose testimony before a private session of the senate judiciary committee a week ago was given out today.

In his testimony Mr. Wickersham said he opposed the use of the army and navy to enforce the prohibition laws, on the ground that the people "always resent, except under great stress, the employment of the military to enforce civil laws."

He also favored modification of the Jones "five and ten" act with the explanation that effective law enforcement is never accomplished by placing extreme penalties on minor violations. Mr. Wickersham told the committee the act covers offenses "indiscriminately under the classification of felonies with the exception of possession and maintaining a nuisance" which he regarded as "contrary to sound legislative policy."

"Human Appetite Widespread."

Discussing enforcement and the proposed reorganization of the prohibition bureau after it is transferred to the department of justice, Mr. Wickersham said that in his opinion the dry law could be "measurably enforced, although human appetite is widespread."

Recognizing that many prosecuting officials and judges had used discretion in keeping minor prohibition law offenders from falling under the heavy penalties of the Jones act, Mr. Wickersham stated:

"The principal objection is that it does subject, at the discretion or lack of discretion of the judge, a man who has committed a comparatively trivial offense to a very severe penalty, unlike any other crime that I know of."

Dry Agents "Improved."

Replying to a question by Senator Borah, a member of the committee, Mr. Wickersham said:

"I think the quality of the people engaged in enforcement is greatly improved, and you know that as yet the complete examination and classification of the whole force has not been finished."

Chairman Wickersham said the commission is not considering the wisdom or unwisdom of prohibition but is concentrating its efforts strictly upon better enforcement. The commission, he said, started, "with the assumption that the eighteenth amendment is a part of the constitution," adding: "It was not for us to inquire whether the constitution should be what it is or is not. We took the constitution."

Mr. Wickersham urged passage of the bills recommended by the commission as measures badly needed to correct deficiencies in present dry law enforcement.

SNOW AND SLEET BLANKET CITY; SLOW UP TRAFFIC

Winter, driven by a fierce northeast gale, roared in on the city late last night and early this morning. A snow and sleet storm drove pedestrians from the streets, slowed up street car traffic, and made motoring perilous. The storm followed rain earlier in the night. Reports from towns north along the lake and south to the Indiana line were that the gale was raging at those points and snow and sleet covered the ground.

The reign of winter, however, will be short, according to the weather bureau forecast. Fresh northeast winds and a cloudy day are predicted for the forenoon today and fair and slightly warmer for the afternoon.

The storm seriously affected the home and street lighting systems of the northern section of Chicago and of north shore towns as far north as Wankegan. The lights flickered uncertainly as a result of sleet forming on the power line insulators. The momentary periods of darkness were explained at the Niles Center substation as caused by automatic cutouts which operate when ice, forming on insulators, makes a short circuit imminent.

Girl Gets $5,000 for Fall from Merry-Go-Round

Doroles Arne, 10 years old, 2935 North Kilbourn avenue, was awarded $5,000 yesterday by a jury in Judge Marcus Kavanagh's court. The girl was injured in Riverview park last summer, according to testimony, when she fell off a merry-go-round. Her skull was fractured and the right side of her face partly paralyzed.

James Fraser, 4453½ North Damen avenue, was awarded $25,000 damages from the R. E. Stewart Cartage company by a jury in Judge Caylor's court. Fraser was injured in 1928 when a piece of steel, projecting from a truck owned by the company, was rammed through his cheek and jaw.

2 Hurt in Train Wreck; 21 Cars Plunge Into Ditch

Billings, Mont., March 24.—(AP)—Two men were injured severely in a derailment that sent twenty-one cars of an eastbound Milwaukee freight train into a ditch near Saurus, west of Terry, tonight. Traffic on the road was expected to be tied up ten or twelve hours. O. J. Hunter, 45, was crushed about the head and Jack Molley, 24, suffered loss of his left leg. A broken truck on one of the box cars was said by railway men to have caused the derailment.

Jealousy (Professional) Causes Doctors' Divorce

Dr. Nora B. Brandenburg, 642 North Laurel avenue, was granted a divorce yesterday by Circuit Judge Lynch from Dr. Kenneth Brandenburg, also a physician, with offices at 5602 West North avenue. She left her husband last Oct. 15 when, in a fit of professional jealousy, he jabbed an electric needle into her back, she told the judge. She waived alimony.

Col. Charles J. Kraft, commandant of the 202d Coast artillery, Illinois National Guard, and in charge of the Broadway armory at 5875 Broadway, was relieved of his command yesterday. A state audit and a governmental inquiry pertaining to state and federal funds and property preceded the removal of Col. Kraft.

State Auditor Oscar Nelson said his office had discovered that money obtained from rental of the armory to private parties had not been accounted for. He said he did not know the exact sum of money involved.

A high state military official said the supposed shortages involved were "no piker sum," and that United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson had been investigating because of a shortage of federal funds and property. Auditor Nelson's report dealt only with irregularities regarding armory rentals, it was said.

Removal Ordered by Shand.

The order removing Col. Kraft was issued by Col. Richard Shand as acting adjutant general of the Illinois National Guard. Lieut. Col. Edward McTamaney, executive officer of Coast Guard artillery, was put in Col. Kraft's place.

This order designated Gen. Abel Davis, Gen. John J. Garrity and Gen. Frank Schwengel as a board of inquiry and directed that they begin the investigation today. Gen. Schwengel said last night he had heard nothing of the subject of the charges.

Col. Shand said he did not know what else was involved besides the discrepancy in rental funds. He said Adjt. Gen. Black had first mentioned the matter last summer, soon after Col. Otis Duncan, colored war hero, was relieved of his command under similar circumstances. Gen. Black is ill, but at his office it was said that for the last six weeks a government investigator had been going over the Broadway Armory books.

Reports Money Discrepancies.

This investigator's report declared, according to the official, that numerous vouchers had been drawn for work done on the armory, and that the payment to the contractor or worker was for amounts usually half of that specified on the vouchers. The discrepancies were for small amounts—$50 or so—but there were many of them, the government investigator is said to have reported.

Col. Kraft lives at 6303 Wayne avenue. During the war he saw service overseas with the 131st Field artillery.

FEAR FOR SAFETY OF 10 ABOARD 2 ICEBOUND BOATS

Leland, Mich., March 24.—(AP)—A mail boat with four men aboard and a coast guard boat with a crew of six were held fast in the ice four miles off North Manitou island tonight after an all day effort to break loose.

Fears were expressed here for the safety of the ten men, who were without food or fuel.—Heavy blocks of ice were moving slowly about the two craft. The greatest danger was that a wind would come up, crushing the small boats between cakes of ice.

The mail boat left North Manitou island this morning for Leland in command of Capt. Tracy Grosvenor.

A coast guard crew in a 40 foot power boat under Capt. Fisher put out from South Manitou island, but the craft was caught alongside the mail boat.

The Wabash car ferry Ann Arbor was expected to arrive here at 7 a. m. tomorrow to attempt a rescue.

SENATE VOTES 53-31; RETAINS THE DEBENTURE

Measure Faces Hot Fight in House.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—By a vote of 53 to 31 the senate today passed the long pending tariff bill. Tomorrow it will go back to the house, which passed it last May, and the Democrats and radical Republicans will maneuver to obtain separate votes on controversial items before it is sent to conference. Their effort probably will be unsuccessful and conferees will be appointed by the house and subsequently by the senate. A compromise bill will emerge from conference in a month or six weeks.

As passed by the senate the bill represents a higher degree of protection than is afforded under the present law, but provides duties on a somewhat lower level than the house measure.

21 Per cent Above Underwood Act.

Senator Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah] told the senate that the dutiable items in the bill as passed represent the equivalent of an average ad valorem rate of 35.99 per cent, as compared with 40.54 per cent as reported from the finance committee, 43.15 per cent as passed by the house, 34.61 per cent in the present law and 21.08 per cent in the Underwood act of 1913. The senate made 1,253 amendments to the house bill, according to Senator Smoot.

Features of the senate bill include many increases in rates on agricultural products over those granted in the house bill, a somewhat smaller increase in the duty on sugar than in the house bill, imposition of duties on cement and brick as in the house bill, a new duty on soft wood lumber, elimination of duties on shingles and hardwood lumber as proposed in the house bill, lower duties than in the house bill on aluminum, pig iron, watches and clocks, and on many chemicals and other manufactured products.

The export debenture farm relief provision and repeal of the flexible tariff which are in the senate bill will provoke most bitter contests of the deliberations between the conference committees of the two houses. Censorship of obscene literature by customs officials is continued in the senate bill with some changes from the language of the house bill.

Defeat Motion to Recommit.

The bill was passed by the senate exactly as completed and advanced to third reading on Saturday night. Prior to the final roll call a motion by Senator Elmer Thomas [Dem., Okla.] to recommit the bill with instructions to eliminate all rate changes except those applying to agricultural products was defeated by a vote of 9 to 76. In the roll call on final passage 46 Republicans and 7 Democrats voted for the bill, while 25 Democrats and 5 Republicans voted against it. The radicals split, seven of them voting for the bill and one being paired for the bill while five voted in the negative.

Nearly six hours of debate preceded passage of the bill. The time was occupied chiefly by its critics.

Senator Borah, who voted for the bill, indicated that he did so chiefly because of his support of the export debenture provision and repeal of the flexible tariff. He intimated that he would vote against the conference report if these two provisions are eliminated. He said that "while I make no threat, I venture to say that if the debenture is taken out of the bill finally the fight will have just begun."

Sees No Relief by Farm Board.

"If we take the debenture out of the bill what will we have done for agriculture in this congress?" asked Senator Borah. "We will go away from here without any permanent, substantial benefit for the cause for which we were called here. We know that the farm board so far has brought no relief to the farmer. We have increased the duties upon things the farmer must use. Unless you keep the debenture or bounty in the bill and enable the farmer to enjoy some benefit from the protective system he will get no benefit."

Senator Borah was asked by Senator C. C. Dill [Dem., Wash.] if he had any serious idea that the debenture would remain in the bill. The Idaho senator said he was aware that the Republican senate conferees all were hostile to the debenture. The discussion caused Senators Smoot, James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], and Samuel Shortridge [Rep., Cal.], who will be the Republican conferees, to express their intention to bring the matter back to the senate for instructions before consenting to the elimination of the debenture provision.

Senator La Follette denounced the senate measure as "Grundy's billion dollar tariff bill." He insisted that a billion dollars was a conservative estimate of the additional cost of commodities to consumers which would result from its enactment. The Wisconsin senator criticized President Hoover's attitude during the progress of the bill.

"The Grundy tariff bill eclipses the tariff of abominations' of 1828 in its impositions upon the public and by comparison dwarfs the injustice and iniquity of the Payne-Aldrich act of 1909, which wrecked the Republican party in 1912," said Senator LaFollette. "As the bill stands today, it is the product of a series of deals conceived in secret, but executed with a branzen effrontery that is without parallel in the annals of the senate.

"The rate structure of the bill, in the main, is the product of a combination of lobbyists who pooled their interests to secure the rewriting of this piece of legislation during the final weeks of its consideration."

Senator McMaster in condemning the bill said that he figured it would benfit the people of South Dakota to the extent of $1,500,000 and that it would cost them about $10,000,000. The bill is an "empty gesture" he said, so far as the farmer is concerned.

Urges Hoover to Use Veto.

Senator David I. Walsh [Dem., Mass.] said that if President Hoover "listens to the voice of industry he will veto the bill." His complaint was that manufacturing interests failed to get compensatory increases to make up for duties on raw materials.

Senators John J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.], T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark], and Tom Connally [Dem., Tex.], were others who assailed the bill.

Advance rumblings of a flurry in the house when administration leaders seek to send the tariff bill to conference were heard today in speeches by Represenatives James A. Frear [Rep., Wis.] and C. W. Ramseyer [Rep., Ia.], two low tariff members of the ways and means committee. Representative John Garner [Dem., Tex.], minority leader, again asked for support in an effort to defeat a special rule for sending the bill to conference with a view to providing for separate votes on controversial items in the house.

U. S. VS. FLORIDA FIGHT LOOMS ON CAPONE'S STATUS

Whether Alphonse Capone shall be permitted an unmolested visit to his Miami estate apparently became an issue last night between Federal Judge Ritter of the Florida circuit and Doyle Carlton, governor of the state.

An Associated Press dispatch from Tallahassee, the Florida capital, quotes Gov. Carlton as refusing to rescind his order to every Florida sheriff to seize and deport Capone the instant he sets foot on Florida soil. Judge Ritter had previously issued an injunction restraining Florida peace officers from molesting the Chicago gang boss.

"He may for a time wrap about himself the technicalities of the law, but he will not establish headquarters in Florida," said Gov. Carlton. "For me there is but one position, and I expect support from every self-respecting citizen of the state."

Asked what action he would take if Capone appeared in his office, Gov. Carlton declared he would summon the sheriff to arrest the gangster. Tallahassee is on the direct route between Chicago and Miami.

HELD FOR ROBBING WOMEN.

Arrested by Chicago police of suspicion in the murder of Mrs. Agnes Lavander, Ted Peterson, 23 years old, of Villa Park, was booked on robbery charges yesterday by Elmhurst police on complaint of thirteen suburban women who identified him.

YOUTH AND GIRL KILLED AS AUTO RUNS INTO TRAIN

Edwin E. Scharbach, 20 year old son of a wealthy Hobart, Ind., lumber dealer, and an unidentified girl about the same age were killed last night when their coupe was wrecked by a Chicago bound Monon passenger train at Munster, Ind. Trainmen declared that the car ran into the side of the locomotive. Scharbach, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Scharbach, attained prominence as a high school athlete.

Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli in the Speeder's court yesterday sentenced three more intoxicated automobile drivers to serve ten days each in the Bridewell and fined them $100 and costs. This made a total of 88 drivers punished by jail sentences in the three months that Judge Borrelli has been in the court.

Those fined and sentenced yesterday were Robert Costello, 4518 Forrestville avenue; Allen Woodworth, 5515 Emerald avenue, and Harry Lewendowski, 1821 North Lincoln street.

No deaths due to automobile accidents were reported in Cook county yesterday and the toll remained at 199.

POTSDAM DOOMS GATE BOUGHT BY EX-KAISER HERE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 24.—The proud gate which was one of the most distinguished architectural decorations at the Chicago World's Fair and which was bought by the former kaiser to set up at his Palace Sans Souci at Potsdam, has fallen upon evil days.

Potsdam art experts have decided that the Chicago gate looks too imperialistic and have ordered it removed from the entrance to the famous palace park and thrown into discard in an old barn.

The reason given is that the Germans, who have greater respect for Frederick the Great than for Wilhelm II., decided to restore the old simple gate which was originally set up by Frederick when he designed the Sans Souci. This old gate was removed by Kaiser Wilhelm to make way for the Chicago gate.

LEGGE OPPOSES OPENING OF NEW FARMING AREAS

Takes Stand to Prevent Crop Surpluses.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—Chairman Alexander Legge of the federal farm board today put himself emphatically on record as opposed to the development of any new irrigation and reclamation enterprises by the government.

So long as the farm board is striving to reduce the acreage of wheat and other agricultural commodities the opening of new lands which would increase surpluses is "unwarranted and absolutely contrary to common sense," Mr. Legge asserted. He added that he has had conversations with interior department officials on the subject and that more active steps by the board may follow.

"Certainly," the farm board chairman continued, "we will stand squarely against all bills in congress that would give us more farms and farmers at this time."

In Line with Plans.

The move of the farm board against the further opening of reclaimed and irrigated tracts is in line with its previous declarations in favor of a ten per cent reduction in wheat planting next year and corresponding cuts in other overproduced crops. It coincides also with the view of the department of agriculture, the National Grange and other farm organizations.

"It's about as simple as two and two are four that more land means more farmers and more crops, more crops mean greater surpluses and surpluses are the exact things we are trying to get rid of," said Mr. Legge.

"It goes without saying that no progressive citizen would do anything to hinder the legitimate development and expansion of our country. But, in view of the fact that agricultural efficiency and production are increasing faster than our population, and in view of the existing agricultural surplus the farmers have a right to demand that no new irrigation and reclamation projects shall be authorized until there is need for them."

Projects in West and South.

Two of the proposals being agitated in congress apparently referred to be Mr. Legge are those for the Columbia basin project in the state of Washington and the bill authorizing the creation of organized rural communities to demonstrate methods of reclamation and benefits of planned rural development in eleven southern states.

Under the Columbia basin development plan 1,883,000 acres of land would be irrigated, involving federal appropriations of $315,000,000. It would put 30,000 additional farmers on the land which, it is estimated, would produce apples, potatoes, alfalfa and other crops to the extent of $90,000,000 a year.

Under the southern states reclamation bill the secretary of the interior, acting through the bureau of reclamation, would be authorized to acquire through donation, purchase, or eminent domain an area of swamp, cutover, neglected, abandoned or poorly farmed land sufficient to create at least 200 farms and farm workers allotments in each of eleven states. It would authorize an appropriation of $10,000,000 with the provision that not more than $2,000,000 should be spent in each state.

Sugar Beets Excepted.

In condemning the land development policy Mr. Legge qualified his remarks in only one respect. He said he could see no particular objection to opening new acreage for sugar beets as there is no sugar surplus in this country.

Mr. Legge in addition to setting forth his attitude on government land booms, discussed the national grain corporation's reduction from $1.25 to $1.20 a bushel, the Minneapolis loan figure on northern spring wheat. The 5 cent decrease, he explained, was put into effect because Minneapolis wheat, formerly seven cents above the Chicago price, is now three cents beneath it. The decrease, he said, will "bring the loan figure into line" with that at Chicago which remains at $1.18 a bushel.

Opposes Debenture Plan.

In reply to questions Chairman Legge took a wallop at the export debenture plan written by the senate into the tariff bill. The farm board, he said, "thinks the debenture plan is all right, only it won't work." He modified this by saying "it might work a little while but not much longer."

"The farm board isn't going to put into operation a plan it thinks 'won't work,' is it?" he was asked.

At this the chairman laughed and suggested that the inquirer answer it for himself. He added that he did not choose to be drawn into any "political squabbles" as the farm board has its hands full enough with carrying out the farm relief act without talking debenture.

Canada Starts Wheat Export; Prices Show Upward Trend

BY PAUL POTTER.

While Europe bound ships laden with Canadian wheat were steaming from North American ports, prices on United States grains continued their slightly upward trend yesterday, although little domestic wheat was being purchased for export to old world consumers.

The United States, at its present wheat price levels, is the only producing nation which is unable to deliver breadstuffs to England and other consuming countries. But this bearish factor on the American market, according to traders, has been tempered by an official announcement from the federal farm board's Grain Stabilization corporation. George S. Milnor, executive vice president of the governmental concern, authorized the release by cable to European correspondents of Modern Miller, trade publication, the announcement "that the grain stabilization corporation, an auxiliary of the federal farm board, has not and and does not contemplate shipping any unsold wheat to European markets."

Pledge Against Dumping.

This was interpreted by Chicago grain men as a further pledge of the federal farm board that it had no intentions of "dumping" wheat into foreign markets at lower price levels in an effort to relieve the brimming over American granaries. Chairman Legge of the farm board had previously made such a declaration, with a view, according to local authorities, of preventing European buyers from discriminating now against American grain in the hope of getting it at lower prices later.

Some United States hard winter wheat was being purchased for export at the gulf at prices 1½ cents under yesterday's Chicago May delivery quotations, it was reported. But considerable quantities were moving out of both Atlantic and Pacific seaboard ports in Canada, dispatches to THE TRIBUNE said.

Prices on Canadian wheat at Winnipeg closed yesterday within a fraction of Chicago quotations, indicating a rise in that market since March 12 of from 93¾ cents to $1.07⅝ per bushel for No. 1 northern. Montreal grain merchants declared Canadian wheat, because of its high protein content, to be worth at least 8 cents per bushel more than American. They gave this as the reason for what European buyers have come into the Canadian markets in the last few days.

North American shipments of wheat last week amounted to 5,540,000 bushels, and of this the bulk was said to be Canadian grain.

Pacific Port Shipments.

Considerable export movements of wheat from Vancouver and other Canadian Pacific ports are being reported, to offset an unusual lack of shipping from Fort William and Port Arthur. The ships from Vancouver get their grain from the recently built dominion elevators and sail through the Panama canal for European points. Such wheat is said to find ready sale to millers because in the long voyage it becomes "tempered" and takes on considerable moisture content, according to shippers.

Grain growers of the northwest were advised yesterday that the federal farm board, through the Farmers' National Grain corporation, had reduced the loan basis on spring wheat 5 cents per bushel to $1.20 as at Minneapolis or Duluth.

SOVIETS DECLARE "WAR TO END" ON RICH PEASANTS

MOSCOW, March 24.—(AP)—Unrelenting war upon kulaks [rich peasants] and "right wing opportunists" of the communist party was declared anew today by Pravda and Izvestia, official mouthpieces of the communist party and the government.

This came as a surprise to those kulaks and opposition members of the party who saw in the government's recent modification of its rural policies signs of retreat from the previous uncompromising attitude toward the kulak.

"We must deliver a smashing, crushing, merciless blow to the kulak and others opposed to our agricultural collectivization scheme," says Pravda.

"In order to annihilate the kulaks decisively, it is necessary to isolate them politically from the poor and middle class peasants. In this task we have been greatly hindered by excesses committed by soviet village officials."

PENSION FOR BOY CRIPPLED BY DRY IS STEP NEARER

Prohibition Bureau Is No Longer Opposed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—The prohibition bureau's objection to the payment of a pension to George C. Walther, a farm youth of Underwood, Wash., who was paralyzed by a dry agent's bullet seven years ago was formally withdrawn today by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

Reversing a former decision Mr. Mellon informed the house claims committee that in view of further information about the case which he has received his department, of which the prohibition unit is a part, "will not interpose objection to this resolution, and will leave the matter to such disposition as the congress may deem proper."

Bill Pending in House.

The resolution referred to is that to give Walther $150 a month for life. The measure has been approved by the claims committee and is pending in the house. According to the house leaders it is the first move ever made in congress, with any prospect of success, to aid a victim of hair trigger dry law enforcement. Representative John C. Schafer [Rep., Wis.], a wet, is sponsoring the resolution.

Secretary Mellon in his letter to the claims committee, explained that there were conflicting stories as to the circumstances of the shooting but that the records showed Walther and two others set up a still in the woods. It was surrounded by dry officers. Walther entered the net and as a dry officer started for him the officer stumbled over a log and discharged his gun. The agent called it an accident, although later he had Walther indicted on a charge of dry law violation.

Supported by Friends.

With the bullet lodged in his spine Walther, then 18, became paralyzed below the waist and since has occupied a wheel chair. The government paid his hospital bills but since he has been supported by friends.

Payment of a pension to the youth had the approval of Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, former assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition.

BUILDERS, HOTEL OPERATORS URGE DRY LAW REPEAL

26 Die on One Job; Bad Rum Gets Most Blame.

Plans to stamp out the evils of bootleg booze by getting rid of the Volstead law came yesterday from two groups whose acquaintance with drinking under prohibition has been gained by contact with many kinds of people, ranging from day laborers to guests in first rank hotels.

One plea came from hotel men in eastern and middle western states, who, in the second returns of a national poll on prohibition, voted for the return of lawful drinking. The second was from Chicago building contractors, who reported a growing number of deaths and injuries due to drunken workmen.

James A. Tracy, a claim attorney, who represented the George A. Fuller company, builders of the Stevens hotel, disclosed yesterday in an article in the National Underwriter, leading insurance weekly, that the 26 deaths and hundreds of injuries to workmen employed in the building of that hotel were mainly attributable to the drinking of contraband liquor provided by workmen-bootleggers.

Term Bootleg Perils.

"Worse conditions prevail in the building industry today," Mr. Tracy declared. "Most building contractors employ private detectives to weed out the rum peddlers, but the workmen get their booze surreptitiously. One or two drinks of the poisonous stuff will change a man from an efficient worker to a crazy man."

The claim expert reported the case of one workman who appeared for work at 8 o'clock, sober. Twenty minutes later he was found dead at the bottom of a shaft, which was safely barricaded at the top. A half pint of booze was found in his pocket and a coroner's physician found that he had been drunk at the time of the accident.

"There is more drinking in the building trades today than ever before," Mr. Tracy said. "Men come to work sober and are dead drunk by the middle of the day. They come to work drunk and have to be turned away. There is a marked increase in the number of cases of injury due to drunkenness which are heard before the Illinois industrial commission."

"Makes Men Crazy."

Additional proof of drunkenness among workmen was supplied by officials of John Griffiths and Sons, builders of the Chicago Civic Opera house and the Merchandise Mart.

"The modern bootlegger," said one official, "is a man of powerful influence. As soon as a building project is announced the bootleggers set up a shop in the vicinity of the new building and do a flourishing business among the workmen.

"We had a lot of trouble with drinking while we were putting up the opera house. We reported it to the prohibition agents, but it didn't help matters. The men brought the stuff to work. We are having the same trouble at the Merchandise Mart.

"Working men used to have their beer at lunch and come back refreshed, but now they tank up on 'corn' and it makes crazy men of them. Not long ago a drunken man tried to jump across a hole on top of the Merchandise Mart and fell to his death."

Another contractor charged that business agents plant their bootlegging friends in the neighborhood and share in the receipts.

Hotel Men's Vote.

The results of the second poll of the hotel operators and proprietors are contained in this week's issue of the Hotel World. It contained the opinions of nearly 800 hotel men in Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New York, Ohio, and Wisconsin.

Stating that "the time for passive acquiescence is passed," the paper submits eight propositions for the votes of the hotel men. Their views are reserved by the Hotel World as important because of their contact with drinking by all sorts of people. The results on the questions of chief interest are shown as follows:

Do you favor changing laws to legalize the sale of: 1. High alcoholic content beer—whisky, gin, etc.? For, 467; against, 337.

2. Light wine: For, 727; against, 54.

3. Beer: For, 736; against, 45.

4. If sale of all liquor were allowed, would you favor a return to the old-fashioned saloon? For, 93; against, 670.

According to the journal, early returns from other states show that "returns of territory, views on prohibition are about the same."

Engaged to Wealthy Irishman

MARILYN MILLER.

No Date Is Set

New York, March 24.—(AP)—Marilyn Miller, stage and screen star, today announced her engagement to Michael Farmer, whom she described as wealthy and an Irishman born in Dublin. After a visit to New York he left last week on the Aquitania.

Miss Miller said no date had been set for the wedding. She will go to Hollywood shortly to make a picture and return in the fall to appear in musical comedy.

When she made the announcement at a hotel, Clifton Webb, dancer, and his mother were with her.

Miss Miller's first husband, Frank Carter, actor, was killed in an automobile accident ten years ago. Three years ago in Paris she obtained a divorce from Jack Pickford, actor, brother of Mary Pickford.

FAKE DRY FOOLS OFFICERS; LEADS AGENTS IN RAID

Pleads Guilty After Extortion Attempt.

The story of an extortionist who hoodwinked the federal officials in prohibition headquarters here and who got two dry agents to help him in his forts to shake down a saloonkeeper was told in Federal Judge Wilkerson's court yesterday. The facts were related by Assistant United States Attorney James C. Leaton in a statement to the court on the extortionist's plea of guilty to the charge of impersonating a federal officer.

Story of Shakedown.

The impostor is Adolph E. Kubitz Jr. of 2621 West 24th street. He bought a drink at the saloon of Secondo Niccolai, 2500 South Western avenue, announced he was a federal agent, and demanded $25 to drop the case.

Niccolai thought $25 was too much. He offered $10. Kubitz took the $10, but said he would be back for the other $15. Niccolai still demurred, whereupon Kubitz said: "I'll be back with a squad of agents and knock this place off."

"I'm a special investigator from Washington, here on assignment," Kubitz announced to the prohibition authorities in the Transportation building. "I want a squad of men to raid a certain saloon." Kubitz was sent on his way with Agents B. V. Kloonan and M. Fitzpatrick.

Impostor Is Unmasked.

When the three reached the saloon Niccolai informed the agents that Kubitz had tried to extort money from him. Then they grew suspicious and demanded to see Kubitz's credentials and badge. He was arrested and offered to plead guilty.

Kubitz was sentenced to six months in the county jail. He has been in jail two months and this was deducted from the sentence. A liquor charge is pending against Niccolai.

BANDITS SHOOT MARSHALL.

Washington, Ind., March 24.—(Special.)—Tom Fisher, 66 year old town marshal of Montgomery, six miles east of here, lies seriously wounded in the Davies county hospital as a result of having been shot through the back by one of two unidentified bandits, who attempted to hold him up.

LEFT $700,000 BY MAN SHE SAW ONLY ONE TIME

Los Angeles, Cal., March 24.—[Special.]—Mrs. Fred Mallrup, formerly of Chicago, today was rejoicing in the second odd and unexpected inheritance which has showered her with wealth in recent years.

Mrs. Mallrup received word from the public administrator in Paris, France, that Henri de la Salle, 89 year old Frenchman, who in younger days was her uncle's companion on gold prospecting and mining ventures here and in Alaska, had willed her $700,000.

The only stipulation, Mrs. Mallrup has been informed, is that she administer a $100,000 trust fund so as to finance an American boy or girl through college every year with the interest. Mrs. Mallrup's uncle, George Lamont Didier, died in 1924 and left her $60,000, providing she would move from Chicago to California.

Mrs. Mallrup said the "only time I ever saw Mr. De la Salle was when he spent five days in Los Angeles last August while on his way around the world. He did not seem to be burdened with money and never mentioned it to me at all."

VANISHED OHIO CHEMIST DIES IN DOUBLE SUICIDE

Link Missing Girl Model with Vienna Tragedy.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Austria, March 24.—The body of Dr. Ernest Watzl, Cleveland chemist, who disappeared last November, was found pierced by two bullets in his boudoir in the fashionable Hotel Satcher tonight. Beside him was the lifeless form of a woman who had registered as his wife but who police declared used the name of Josephine Flassak and was the wife of a Cleveland business man.

Dr. Watzl, according to the police, traveled on a passport issued in the name of John Flassak.

The couple posed as well to do Americans and had spent the last three nights since their arrival in Vienna last Friday in night clubs. The double suicide was apparently carefully planned, for police found a stack of letters addressed to relatives beside the bodies.

Claim Girl Is Lost Model.

Cleveland, O., March 24.—[Special.]—Authorities here tonight believed that the body of the woman found beside that of Dr. Watzl in Vienna is none other than Mrs. Mary Horvath McGranahan, pretty model, who disappeared soon after Dr. Watzl did. He vanished on Nov. 6 last.

His auto, seared by an intense flame, was found partly submerged in the Schuylkill river near Ryersford, Pa. At first it was believed he had been the victim of foul play. Efforts to find his body failed.

Subsequent investigation here revealed that he had maintained a studio office, where he employed Mrs. McGranahan, pretty young blonde, as stenographer and model.

Carried $60,000 Insurance.

The dapper young monocle-wearing chemist had left Cleveland ostensibly to present a secret process of water dechlorinization to city officials at Philadelphia. He had posted his insurance policies as security for a $5,000 loan made before he left. These totaled more than $60,000, and it was just shortly before the hour of midnight, which would have voided the policies, that he took his life in a last dramatic flourish.

Dr. Watzl's father is a wealthy resident of Vienna, and his brother-in-law, a high government official, also resides in that city, according to V. F. J. Tlach, Austrian consul in Cleveland.

Mrs. McGranahan disappeared early in December. Her husband filed suit for divorce, naming Dr. Watzl. Last week Mrs. Julia Horvath, mother of the missing girl, sued for divorce. In a cross petition her husband said Dr. Watzl and Mary had left Cleveland together, and he blamed Mrs. Horvath because of her failure to correct her daughter's ways.

Dr. Watzl's first contact with Cleveland was in 1912 when the Austrian government commissioned him to do chemical research work in this country. Here he met and married his wife. The world war called him back to Austria, where he became captain of a liquid fire division fighting on the Italian front.

After the war they returned to Cleveland. Dr. Watzl had become interested in the problem of water purification offered here. He became a partner in the firm of Watzl & Schweitzer, consulting chemical engineers.

Jailed for $63,000 Theft from an Armored Car

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—Raymond Gallagher, 32, a chauffeur for the Brinks Express company, who drove off in an armored car from in front of the Chemical Bank and Trust company at 165 Broadway while other members of the car crew were in the bank, and later looted the car of ten pay rolls totaling $63,000, was arrested tonight and charged with grand larceny.

U. S. and Canada Negotiate Treaty to Halt Smuggling

BY GEORGE SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., March 24.—Prime Minister Mackenzie King, answering criticism in the house of commons of his bill to ban export of liquor to the United States, to the effect that the proper proceeding should have been the framing of a treaty in which mutual concessions would be made, announced tonight that a treaty designed to check smuggling between the two countries will be negotiated, and that the preliminary steps already have been taken.

"Now, when we have cleared our own skirts, we are prepared to negotiate on the general question of smuggling," he said.

After spending seven hours in committee today considering the various clauses of Premier King's bill, the house of commons at adjournment tonight had approved of every clause, including a new one specifically prohibiting liquor export by "aeroplane, motor truck or railway." The committee, however, decided not to report the bill for final reading tonight but instead accepted the suggestion of Richard Bennett, Conservative leader, to go home and sleep on it another night. The measure should pass committee and third reading and be ready for the senate tomorrow.

Charges Pressure by U. S.

C. H. Cahan, Conservative, of Montreal, charged today that the government was pushing the measure at the request of "high American officials," who, he said, had threatened to put an armed guard of 10,000 men on the Detroit river border. He challenged the constitutional aspects of the measure.

"I have been told by a very high official of the United States," he said, "that unless this parliament of Canada passed a prohibition of export it was the determination of the United States to place from five to ten thousand armed men along the border in order to prevent it."

The prime minister denied that any such representations had been made, directly or indirectly.

"Another Salaam to U. S."

Robert Manion, Fort William, Ont., Conservative, characterized the government's move to prohibit liquor exports to America as "another grand salaam to Washington, another obeisance to the blindfolded statute of liberty."

The Americans themselves, he said, were not notably respectful of their own dry law. He interpreted Canada's move as one to have 10 million Canadians enforce a dry law which 110 million Americans had failed to enforce.

Henry Bourassa, Liberal, Quebec, facetiously described the United States as "the most virtuous and the thirstiest nation on earth." He flatly asserted the opinion that Canada was passing her booze ban under American compulsion.

"We do this, because of the power of the United States to enforce their demands on us. They are in a position to bring pressure," he said.

STUDENTS OF 6 COLLEGES VOTE 'WRINGING WET'

Boston, Mass., March 24.—[Special.]—Technology, Amherst, Yale, Brown, Rutgers, and Williams are wringing wet, according to results thus far in the student prohibition poll being conducted in 18 colleges.

At Tech, with half the student body voting, 70 per cent favored repeal or modification of the prohibition law and 60 per cent admitted they drink, while 24 admitted they got drunk.

Three-fourths of the Amherst students voted, and of that number the vote for modification was nearly three to one.

Yale voted 2,117 in favor of modification to 425 for enforcement. Rutgers voted on a 5 to 3 ratio in favor of modification.

Brown was 80 per cent in favor of modification, and at Williams 75 per cent of the voters expressed the opinion prohibition was a failure.

Michigan U. Wet, Too.

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 24.—[Special.]—With indications pointing toward an overwhelming vote against prohibition, 3,950 University of Michigan students voted today in the first of a two day poll.

The faculty vote was swelled to 367, and though the editors of the Michigan Daily, sponsoring the straw vote, refused to divulge the results, it was learned that almost none favored the law as it now exists.

U. S. to See Polish Flag on Polish Ship for First Time

WARSAW, March 24.—(AP)—The Polonia, a Polish ship under the Polish flag, will soon sail for the United States—the first time in history that the Polish flag will make its appearance in American waters on a Polish vessel.

DENEEN OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN IN COOK COUNTY

Defends Stand on Court as Old Party Policy.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Senator Charles S. Deneen opened his Cook county campaign last night with a discussion of the world court and the attitude of the Republican party toward it. Addressing an audience in the Aragon ballroom in the 48th ward, Senator Deneen declared that five Republican Presidents from McKinley to Hoover have advocated a world court, and that it has been supported in four Republican national platforms.

The senator asserted that the court is not an attachment of the league of nations, that the Republican party is against the league, and that when the question of adherence is submitted to the senate by President Hoover the "only practical issue" will be whether the senate reservations are a "satisfactory safeguard."

"I do not think," he said, "that any responsible person questions that the reservations afford every safeguard to the United States in ratifying the constitution of the world court."

Opens Downtown Campaign Today.

Senator Deneen also appeared at Mira Lago hall before the Wilmette League of Women Voters. Today he starts his downtown campaigning with a meeting at the Grand Opera house, when, his managers, declare, some of the local issues and the Jones 5 and 10 act may be discussed.

"The Republican party is one of the great political institutions of the country," said Senator Deneen in his address at the Aragon. "The candidates who submit their names to the Republicans in a Republican primary should be measured by the principles, policies, and traditions of the party, and if chosen should represent them in our legislative and executive offices.

"Mrs. McCormick, in her addresses on the world court, states the world court is an annex to the league of nations. The attitude of the Republican party is against the league of nations. This attitude has been expressed by Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover since the league of nations was established in 1919.

Voted Against League.

"The Republican party is on record against it in its national platforms, since that date, and I am on record against it by my vote in the senate Jan. 27, 1926. I voted for the first reservation, which says 'membership in the court shall involve no legal relation with the league of nations or the assumption of any obligations under the treaty of Versailles.'

"And I voted for the fifth reservation, which provides that adherence to the court shall not require the United States to depart from its traditional policies.

"It is plain that Mrs. McCormick misinterprets the attitude of the Republican party toward the court and toward the league of nations. The Republican party has favored the world court and has opposed the league of nations, and I am the only candidate at the primaries in Illinois who is on record against the league of nations, as my vote in the senate on Jan. 27, 1926, makes plain. I have not altered my views regarding the league of nations.

Cites Her Stand in 1928.

"The attitude of Mrs. McCormick is surprising in view of a letter which she wrote to her campaign manager in La Salle county when she was a candidate for congressman at large, on Jan. 30, 1928, which I have quoted in my speeches, and in which she stated:

"'The outlawry of war program calls for a world court, and this sort of a court I do support.' In none of her speeches has she given the slightest information of the 'sort of a court' she does support.

"Forty-two nations have ratified the constitution of the present world court; twelve others have signed it and it is waiting ratification by their legislative bodies. Mrs. McCormick has given no hint that any of these nations would withdraw from the existing world court to join a new world court or a 'sort of a court' which she suggests she does support.

Sees No Issue Between Courts.

"In view of the fact that it required 6,000 years of effort to create the first world court, and that there has been no intimation that any other nation is inclined to join with us in creating a new world court, I am indeed curious to know what sort of a court will be proposed. I am inclined to think that the views of President Coolidge expressed in his message to congress are in the more practical plan.

"There cannot be an issue between a new world court and the existing world court. The only practical issue is whether or not the reservations attached to the ratification of the constitution of the existing world court by the senate are satisfactory. These reservations have met with the approval of the great majority of the people of the United States.

"The so called Root formula will be submitted to the senate in due course by the President. It will be referred to the committee on foreign relations of the senate.

"The issue, therefore, will be upon the reservations to the constitution of the existing court, and not regarding a new world court, and may I add in discussing the reservations to the world court, which will come up in the senate on the submission of the message by the President, that no one in the Republican party will favor the United States joining the league of nations, or in any way making the United States a part of it."

Court Policy 30 Years Old.

Senator Deneen declared that the attitude of the Republican party toward the world court runs back thirty years.

"President McKinley," he said, "instructed the American delegates to the first peace conference at The Hague in 1899 to act upon the establishment of an international court. Instructions of similar import were made by President Roosevelt to the delegates to the second peace conference at The Hague in 1907. President Taft favored such a court.

"After the world court was established in 1920, Presidents Harding, Coolidge, and Hoover favored ratification by the senate of the constitution of the world court. The national Republican platforms of 1912 and 1916 favored a world court. In 1924, after the establishment of the court, the Republican national platform 'favored adherence as recommended by President Coolidge.' The national platform of 1928 said 'we approve the foreign policies of President Coolidge.' The views of congress were expressed on March 3, 1925 in a resolution of the house for 'early adherence to the court.' There were only 28 votes out of 445 against the resolution, and in the Illinois delegation of 27 members but one vote was cast against it. In the senate 17 votes out of 96 senators were cast against it."

Deneen Takes Bacon Under His Wing as Treasurer Candidate

BY PARKE BROWN.

With local Republican lines steadily becoming more entangled by deals and trades, observers were delighted yesterday to see one snarl unkinked. Walter E. Bacon, whose chief sponsor heretofore has been Fred Lundin, was publicly accepted and acknowledged by the Deneen group as its own candidate for county treasurer.

This message was spread at a meeting of workers addressed by Senator Deneen at noon and in the evening Bacon appeared on the same platform with Senator Deneen at the Aragon ballroom and spoke from it as a fully recognized member of the Deneen slate.

Seen as Victory for Lundin.

Such an outcome was considered a victory for Lundin, who, it is said, had felt no confidence of general Deneen support for the candidate whose cause he espoused long before the major organizations began making up their tickets. This open wedding of Deneen and Lundin forces is expected to reduce to a slight extent the vast amount of trading already well under way. Lundin is expected to stick with Deneen all the way now instead of swapping for votes with candidates and ward committeemen of other camps.

Following a line of thought he expressed last week, Bacon emphasized his opposition to the city hall and its allies under the leadership of County Chairman Snow.

"The voters," he said, "must decide whether they are going to follow the old pathway of crookedness, dishonesty, and inefficiency in government which has disgraced us before the civilized world or are going to take their stand for a restoration of clean, honest, and capable government in our community.

"There is no middle ground. Support of the Snow, Thompson, Ettelson, Harding candidates, even though there may be new faces among them, means nothing more or less than a continuation of misgovernment and maladministration of the people's affairs."

The principal candidate against Bacon for the treasurership is Howard P. Savage, former national commander of the American Legion. After he became a candidate under the sponsorship of service men he was indorsed by the Snow campaign committee and is speaking at its ward meetings. A third candidate is Dr. John E. Stanton, also a Legionnaire, who continues to confine his campaign to attacking Savage on charges that he abuses his position as a past national commander and that he is an Insull employé.

Adams Attacks Swanson.

Robert McCormick Adams, executive chairman of the Republican business men's organization, which is backing the Lonnquist ticket for the county board, issued a statement criticising State's Attorney Swanson for playing factional politics in the present situation.

"If he would quit factional politics and clean up the sanitary district and give some attention to the rottenness of the present county board's administration," it read, "citizens would have a little more hope for the future.

"Who is advising Mr. Swanson not to proceed with the sanitary district and county board investigations, and why?

"The public is not interested in Mr. Swanson's personal preferences for United States senator. It wants the crooks, grafters, bombers, murderers, and thieves put behind the bars so that life will be safer in Chicago."

MRS. McCORMICK TWITS DENEEN ON "SENIORITY"

Tells Peoria Hearers He Contradicts Self.

Peoria, Ill., March 24.—[Special.]—Ruth Hanna McCormick, digging into the files of six years ago, declared tonight that Senator Charles S. Deneen is now advocating the "seniority rule" issue which in 1924 "he said was all bosh." Mrs. McCormick addressed an audience at the Majestic theater here. This afternoon she spoke at Pekin.

"Senator Deneen has been making the argument in this campaign," said Mrs. McCormick, "that he should be reelected to the senate because he has already been there for five years. He points out that the seniority rule in the senate gives a member choicer committee appointments and increases his prestige as his service in the senate is extended.

"If Senator Deneen is going to make an issue of that point in this campaign, I wonder how he is going to explain to the people of Peoria a speech he made in this city in his campaign six years ago, in which he said, in effect, that seniority rule is all 'bosh.'

Tomorrow Mrs. McCormick makes an afternoon speech in Beardstown, and at night appears in Springfield, where Gov. Emmerson has indicated he expects to sit on the platform as he did at Senator Deneen's meeting. Wednesday Mrs. McCormick is to speak at Hoopeston in the afternoon and Danville at night. Thursday is set for the birthday party at Evanston. A feature of this will be a torchlight parade in the costumes of 1896, the days of the Mark Hanna campaign for McKinley against Bryan.

ARMY TROOPS TO GIVE MILITARY EXPOSITION AT SOLDIERS' FIELD

A military tournament and exposition depicting all the means of national defense, through exhibits and troop demonstrations, will be held by the regular army of the 6th corps area in Soldiers' field from June 21 to June 28, according to a announcement yesterday by Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the 6th corps area. The net proceeds of the exposition will be turned over to the Army Relief society, an organization that assists widows and orphans of regular army soldiers.

Every combatant branch of the army, including airplanes, tanks, artillery, infantry, cavalry, chemical warfare, and signal corps, will take part in the maneuvers. One of the most spectacular displays will be the reproduction of the battle of Chateau Thierry, the entire French village being reproduced on a huge stage to be erected in Soldiers' field.

Arrangements have been completed for the participation of a number of large national groups in Chicago. Pageants and drills in native costumes will be presented. More than 60 army planes will take part in an air show which will be a feature of the exposition.

DIVORCE GRANTED TO W. C. BULLITT, WAR DIPLOMAT

Philadelphia, Pa., March 24.—(AP)—A divorce was granted today to William C. Bullitt, author and diplomatic agent during the world war. He filed suit Dec. 4, charging his wife, Mrs. Anne Moen Louise Bryant Reed Bullitt, with "personal indignities."

Bullitt's grandfather, John C. Bullitt, sponsored the charter under which Philadelphia was governed for years.

Mrs. Bullitt first was married to John Reed, a war corespondent who died of typhus in Russia in 1920. Bullitt was divorced from his first wife, the former Ernesta Drinker. The Bullitts had one daughter. They were married in Rome seven years ago.

REMOVE REGENCY, ENTHRONE CAROL, RUMANIANS CRY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 24.—The immediate dissolution of the regency and the recall of Prince Carol to the throne was demanded today at a tumultous meeting of former Premier General Fofoza Averescu's Peoples party. So critical has become the situation for Juliu Maniu's peasant government that six of the leading newspapers were suppressed because they reported the proceedings of the meeting.

"The regency has lost the confidence and esteem of the country," declared Gen. Averescu, addressing his party. And M. Buchan, a former minister and Gen. Averescu's young aid, went further by blaming all the ills of Rumania to the three persons who were named to govern the country until King Michael becomes of age. "We must suppress this dangerous institution of a regency immediately," he said.

Traffic Cop Dismissed for Shooting Waiter

Traffic Policeman Harold J. Leigh, 5605 South Carpenter street, was relieved of his star yesterday when he was charged before the civil service commission with shooting and slightly injuring John Sedbery, waiter, in the White Owl restaurant, last Sunday morning. Leigh was also booked by the police of the State street station on charges of assault with a deadly weapon and will be arraigned in the State street court today. Leigh said the gun was discharged accidentally.

RICH BOOKMAKER VANISHES; POLICE HUNT KIDNAPERS

Alton, Ill., March 24.—(AP)—Charles Conley, wealthy bookmaker, disappeared tonight under circumstances which led police to believe he had been kidnaped.

The alarm was given about 11:30 p. m. by William Newman, a relative, who went to Conley's billiard parlor to accompany him home. He had talked to Conley on the telephone a few minutes before. When he reached the place it was lighted, doors open, and empty.

Witnesses told of seeing a big sedan pull away from the place just before Newman arrived. Newman told of Conley's fear of being kidnaped. Conley was held up three months ago, on the eve of taking his bankroll to Baltimore, Md., for a whirl at the horses, and robbed of $4,000.

GRUNDY, LEWIS SUPPORTED BY MELLON FACTION

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 24.—(AP)—Decision to support a ticket at the May primary headed by Joseph R. Grundy for senator and Samuel S. Lewis for governor was reached by the Mellon-Grundy leadership in the Republican state organization during a conference this afternoon at the Schenly Park home of W. L. Mellon, former chairman of the state committee.

The decision eliminated the possibility of a compromise with the Vare organization of Philadelphia on these chief offices and made certain a spirited battle in the primary campaign. The Vare ticket has agreed upon former Attorney General Francis S. Brown for governor and Secretary of Labor Davis for senator.

8 WOMEN ACCUSE U. OF I. ATHLETE OF PURSE THEFTS

A score of women, recent victims of a purse snatcher, called at Hyde Park police station last night to confront Chester Francis, 29 years old, former track athlete at the University of Illinois and more recently a cab driver. Seven of the women instantly recognized him and an eighth, her memory refreshed by Francis himself, finally identified him also.

"Surely you remember me, madam," the prisoner said to Mrs. Marjorie Sligh, 4809 Dorchester avenue, as she wavered against accusing him. He recalled how he snatched her purse on March 1, vaulted over a fence and escaped, gaining eight pennies for his pains.

Mrs. Haliburton Fales Jr., Society Woman, Gets Divorce

Reno, Nev., March 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Ellen Dexter Fales, socially prominent in New York, was granted a divorce in District court here today from Haliburton Fales Jr., to whom she was married at Newburyport, Mass., Oct. 10, 1916.

The testified that her husband neglected her and criticised her management of the house and their three children, whose custody was given the mother.

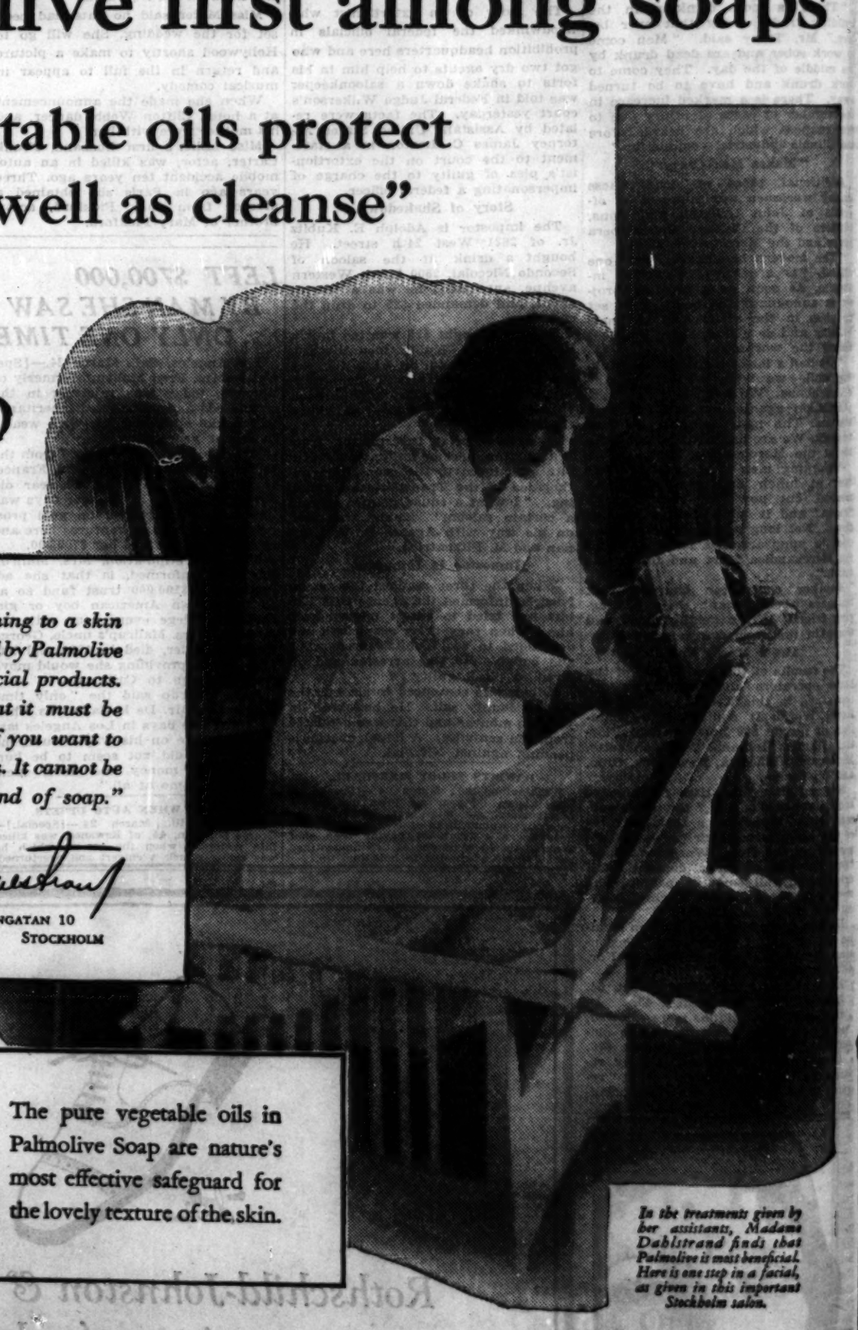
"I place Palmolive first among soaps because its vegetable oils protect and soothe as well as cleanse"

says Madame DAHLSTRAND

foremost beauty specialist of Stockholm

"Time can do nothing to a skin that is safeguarded by Palmolive Soap and my special products. But remember that it must be Palmolive Soap, if you want to obtain these results. It cannot be done with ANY kind of soap."

Hamngatan 10 Stockholm



In the treatment given by her assistants, Madame Dahlstrand finds that Palmolive is most beneficial. Here is one step in a facial, as given in this important Stockholm salon.

The pure vegetable oils in Palmolive Soap are nature's most effective safeguard for the lovely texture of the skin.

"HOWEVER successful I am with my beauty treatments, all my efforts would be in vain if my clients did not continue the treatments in their own homes," says Mme. Dahlstrand. "My principle for home treatments is first of all to keep the skin clean, the most vital condition for beauty, and Palmolive Soap is my valuable assistant in the service of beauty."

In all Sweden there is no more important beauty shop than that of Mme. Dahlstrand, of Stockholm, who gives this interview on beauty. Her salon is housed in a magnificent marble palace, and her beauty theory was learned in Paris, center of the cosmetic arts.

"This fine facial soap," she goes on to say, "keeps the surface of the skin well protected. It is bland and neutral. Use it with warm water, for careful cleansing; then rinse with cold water or ice to prevent relaxation of the skin or sagging."

In Paris, in London, Rome, Madrid

The great specialists all over the world, 19,813 of them, agree on the efficacy of Palmolive Soap. They may differ on dozens, hundreds of other theories. But on this one facial treatment they all agree.

19,813 professional experts advise one soap—Palmolive!

Could there possibly be a more authentic recommendation than this approval of 19,813 professional experts?

They all realize that soap must cleanse without irritating; must refresh and beautify the skin without injuring its delicate texture. And Palmolive answers these needs perfectly. Its vegetable oils have been used by lovely women since the days of Cleopatra. It is used today by millions—for the bath as well as the face—because it costs so little.

Palmolive owes its natural green color to palm and olive oils . . . to no other fats whatever. The fresh odor of these oils makes unnecessary the addition of heavy perfumes. It is a pure, vegetable oil soap, safe for the most sensitive skin.

"Vegetable oils in soaps," says Mme. Dahlstrand, "will help to improve your color and tone up your skin."

Take Mme. Dahlstrand's advice and begin this very day to use Palmolive.

DETROIT ELOPERS SPENT $11,000 ON 24 DAY LOVE TEST

Borrowed Cash Gone, So Man Ended Life.

Detroit, Mich., March 24.—[Special.]—The lavish three week "love experiment" that Mrs. Dorothy March had with Thomas A. Newton with the consent of her husband was financed with borrowed money, it was learned here today.

Mrs. March and her husband, Benjamin March, a curator of oriental art at the Detroit Institute of Fine Arts, separated after the wife decided that she preferred Mr. Newton. Mr. March and 18 month old daughter to Newton, are somewhere in Michigan planning to begin life anew under the shadow of Newton's tragic suicide. Newton killed himself after Mrs. March told him of her decision to return to her husband.

A friend of Newton's revealed today that when Newton, young son of a wealthy packer, departed with Mrs. March he had just borrowed $11,000. Mrs. March, the understanding husband in the case, gave his consent to a month's "love experiment" between his wife and Newton in the hope, he says, that close association would cure her "wild infatuation" for Newton.

Borrows from Friend.

A few days before the unique "consent elopement" Newton went to a Detroit friend and told him he was desperate for money.

"If I don't get some cash I'll kill myself," the friend quoted Newton as saying.

"I didn't know there was a woman in the case," the friend said today. "I gave Newton $11,000 in securities, which he was to use as collateral for a loan. He told me he was in a terrible financial jam and that his father had refused to help him."

With the $11,000 borrowed cash in his pocket, Newton took Mrs. March on a speedcraft journey to Bermuda, Cuba, and finally to Florida. That financial worries might have been a factor in his suicide was indicated by the fact that only $17 of the borrowed cash roll was left when he shot himself in Miami last Thursday. He was known to have lost heavily in the stock market collapse last fall.

Wife Offered Forgiveness.

It also was learned today that Newton's wife, the Mrs. March's husband, was prepared for reconciliation. Newton had communicated with his wife from Florida, telling her of his dependency. She wired him:

"Because of my love for you, fight until I get there. Hold on for me.—Ethel."

The telegram arrived six hours after Newton had shot himself.

While one train sped south carrying the grief stricken widow who had waited at home and prayed that her husband would come back to her, another passed, not 10 feet away, flying northward, bearing Mrs. March back to her husband and her baby and happiness.

From "somewhere in Michigan" a message was received today by a Detroit friend of the Marchs which in substance reads:

"We are together once more, we intend to be happy, for we now understand each other, and will take up life again together as though the tragedy that has passed never happened."

Fine Fresh Start Together.

"Ben and Dorothy are too busy talking things over, too concerned with each other, to think of anything but themselves," said a friend of March today. "They are out of town and will remain away for several days. Now that the ordeal is over, their friends will do all possible to help them straighten out their lives."

March is a graduate of the University of Chicago. He married Dorothy Rowe, daughter of a missionary in China. Mrs. March was born in the Orient and has written a number of Chinese children's stories under her maiden name. Both are 31.

CHARGES SCHOOL HEAD SELECTED EVANSTON SLATE

A sudden decision to call off an election caucus, scheduled for last night in the State Bank building of Evanston, provoked charges that Frank L. Bacon, superintendent of Evanston High school, had succeeded in placing hand picked candidates in nomination for the high school board. Mrs. Howard Ladd, secretary of the caucus, had responsibility for calling it off, reportedly upon Supt. Bacon. It had notified her last Friday, Mrs. Ladd said, that he had discovered a move requiring the filing of petitions for nomination at least twenty days before election.

Even such a law would make Saturday the deadline for filing, Mrs. Ladd and her husband set that date to solicit petitions for three candidates: William Hufstad, now president of the board; Allan J. Carter, now a member of the board, and Warner G. Hoyt, a realty dealer. Carter said that although he was seeking the nomination, he was considerably surprised to learn that his petition had been already filed.

SURVIVES FIRST UNION LEAGUE

William H. Bates, 90 years old, of Pekin, Ill., one of the members of the original Union league of civil war days, who will attend the fiftieth anniversary dinner of the Union League club of Chicago tonight. He is pointing to tablet which is a memorial to the forming of the first Union league council in Pekin.

UNION LEAGUE CLUB TO OBSERVE 50TH BIRTHDAY

The Union League club of Chicago tonight will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of its founding.

William H. Bates of Pekin, Ill., 90 years old, the only surviving member of the original council of the Union League of America, the civil war organization founded at Pekin on June 25, 1862, will be a guest of honor. From Pekin the Union League movement spread to adjoining counties, and on Aug. 19, 1862, the first Union League council in Chicago was organized in the chambers of Judge Grant Goodrich in the courthouse where the city hall now stands. The Chicago Union League club was founded later. A state-wide organization was formed in Bloomington on Sept. 25, 1862. From Illinois the movement spread throughout the north.

Dr. John Timothy Stone, president of the Presbyterian Theological seminary, and William P. Sidley, former president of the club, will speak at tonight's celebration. Combined with the golden anniversary program will be the annual meeting of the club. Officers for the year 1930-1931 who will be installed are: John R. Montgomery, president; Henry H. Hilton, first vice president; F. O. Hale, second vice president; Howell W. Kitchell, secretary; Hugo A. Anderson, treasurer, and R. M. Ashcraft, Scott Brown, Carl Howe, and Elmer J. Jensen, directors.

Other guests of honor besides Mr. Bates will be 11 men who joined the Union League club during its first decade: J. Frank Aldrich, W. A. Douglass, Nelson Thomasson, Frank G. Logan, Charles E. Afield, J. J. Glessner, H. D. Higinbotham, W. H. Gray, J. F. A. Halbach, Louis Vierling, and John M. Zane.

BRIBERY TRIAL OF PROSECUTOR'S CLERK STARTED

CRIMINAL COURT.

Carl Weiss, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in Pontiac reformatory by Judge John P. McGoorty.

Fred Smith, robbery; sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Joe Mascioni, assault to rob, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary; Herbert Kadow and Edward Wishoff, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary by Judge Phillip Finnegan.

George Webb, assault to murder; sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary by Judge Peter Schwaba.

Attorneys representing Andrew Bender, former clerk in the bond forfeiture department of the state's attorney's office during the Hoyne and Crowe régimes, argued to Judge E. I. Frankhauser in the Criminal court yesterday that he could not be guilty of accepting a bribe, as charged by the state, because the law makes no provision for the state's attorney having any help other than assistants.

Assistant State's Attorneys Charles J. Mueller and George Lavin, both former office associates of Bender, opposed the technical move on the part of Attorneys Benedict Short and George Guenther, and when court adjourned the judge indicated that he would require the defendant to answer to the jury for accepting money to fix up bond forfeiture records so that the bonds could not be collected.

The jury in the case was completed at the morning session.

The defense told the jury that even if Bender did accept a gratuity as charged by the state he was guilty of no offense under the law. They pointed out that Bender was a clerk and that the department was in charge of Attorney Lucius Winchester, then an assistant state's attorney.

FALL FROM MOTORCYCLE FATAL.

VICE CHIEF GETS LOOK AT HIMSELF AS COPS SEE HIM

Jack Zuta, known for years as head of a west side vice syndicate, was confronted with his own reputation yesterday at the detective bureau. He was arrested in pursuance of the general order to pick up disreputables, gangsters and gunmen on sight.

"I haven't an enemy in the world," he said to Chief of Detectives Stege.

"Yes you have; I'm your enemy," Stege declared. "Every decent man is your enemy. The mother of every girl whose virtue you sullied and sold is your enemy."

"I'm not what you think I am," Zuta protested.

"I'll call you by your proper term—the worst word that can be applied to man—at the corner of State and Madison streets in the presence of 500 witnesses and you can sue me if you want," Stege challanged. "I know your history.

Stege Accuses Vice Chief.

"You operated a chain of dives on the west side for years without trouble until two years ago when Mike De Pike Heitler, Rocco Fanelli, and John and Peppi Genero and that gang got control and took your joints away from you.

"You left Chicago, hid in Ohio, with a price of $30,000 on your head. Julius Rosenheim, who was killed a few months ago, told me about it then.

"'Two Gun Patsy' Tardi was put in charge of your former business at the Sterling hotel and your man, Jack Hartnett, went up there and tried to run Tardi out. They shot each other plenty. Joe Aiello wanted the Genaro brothers put on the spot, and Tony Lombardo wouldn't do it so Aiello and Lombardo became enemies and Lombardo was killed.

"You came back to Chicago and made a combination with Bugs Moran, Aiello and the north side gang for protection against Heitler and the Capone pandering crowd."

Realty Man, He Says.

"You got me painted wrong," Zuta insisted. "I'm in the real estate business."

"When did you sell your last piece of property?" Assistant State's Attorney Harry S. Ditchburne asked.

"I'm buying," Zuta stated in contradiction to the impression he was trying to give of being financially distressed. His dark suit, of fine material, indicated at least a temporary prosperity, but Zuta wasn't giving much information.

"Where were you when the Clark street massacre took place?" Ditchburne asked.

"I don't remember. I have a bad memory," Zuta replied.

"You're mixed up with a gang now that knows a lot about that massacre," Stege said, "and they have no use for you."

"Joe Aiello is a fine man," Zuta defended his friend. "He does a lot for widows and orphans; you'd be surprised how much."

Warns Zuta He's Doomed.

"Yes, he makes widows and orphans," Stege retorted. "Look out for him. He has no use for your kind. You make your living out of women's shame and you're a doomed man. I've told that to fourteen others who sat on that same chair you are on now and all of them are dead. Maybe you'll wait till Mr. Ditchburne gets enough evidence to put you away, but you can't live long in Chicago."

Zuta said he formerly had his real estate office at 127 North Dearborn street, an office raided several months ago and found to be a headquarters for the Moran-Aiello gang.

"I was in the next office to that one and I heard you come in and ask for money you said was coming to you," Stege informed him. "You were told you had nothing coming because your end went to buy guns and supplies for the gun fighters who were trying to regain control of your vice resorts."

A lawyer procured a writ of habeas corpus for Zuta and Stege had to agree to release the prisoner on bonds—$100—by 8 o'clock at night.

UNUSED SCHOOL LAND, WORTH $40,947,806, EARNS ONLY MILLION

The board of education owns 2,592 acres of land with a total value of $80,976,700, according to an appraisement by the board's bureau of real estate. These figures are contained in the annual report of Ernest Withall, business manager for the board, which was submitted to the school trustees yesterday. Only 1,364 acres, or approximately one-half of this land, is occupied by school plants. The remainder of the land is reserved for new schools, is under lease or is lying vacant.

The value of the school fund land not being used for school purposes is $40,947,806, it is stated in the report. The total income in rentals from this property, as estimated in the school budget for 1930, is only $1,005,000.

Close observers of school affairs have often urged the sale of some of its land. They point out that most of the unused property is bringing in little income. Although the principal of the sales could not be spent, the money might be invested in municipal bonds, and the income used in improving school equipment, they have argued.

LABOR RADICALS DEMAND BRITAIN WIPE OUT ARMY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 24.—The Labor back benchers went on the warpath again tonight in the house of commons when Minister of War Tom Shaw introduced his army estimates totaling $70,470,000. The left wingers demanded a reduction of 100,000 men, virtually amounting to abolition of the British army, as the 1930 establishment according to the minister of war is 148,000 odd—$7,000 less than in 1914. This challenge of government policy from the ministerial back benches was met by the minister of war declaring that the government stood for a reduction of armaments by agreement only.

2 ADMIT FORMER ARRESTS—SERVE ON GUN CASE JURY

But Man Robbed 4 Times Will Help Decide It.

Bernard O'Donnell, union business agent as well as part owner of a speakeasy, was placed on trial yesterday before a jury, two members of which were once defendants in cases of their own. The two jurors told when questioned by Assistant State's Attorney Harry Busch of their own troubles, but he accepted them as jurors as did Attorneys W. W. Smith and Everett Jennings for the defense. O'Donnell is charged with guntoting. The trial is being held in Judge Harry B. Miller's Criminal court.

One of the jurors said he was at one time a resident of Herrin, Ill., and that he was indicted, but not in such a case as would prejudice him against police testimony. He gave no details nor was he asked for any explanations by the prosecutor. The other man was arrested, he said, for disorderly conduct as a result of a fist fight.

Considers Both Qualified.

The prosecutor in explaining his acceptance of the jurors after the panel was sworn in said that he thought both men qualified. He said he did not think his actions unusual.

The defense was forced to take one juror, W. F. Mott, 7022 Wallace street, who said he has been held up four times and is not very "partial to men with guns." The defense had exhausted its peremptory challenges and could not excuse Mott when he said he would not allow his previous experiences to influence him in the present case.

Holds Search Is Legal.

Judge Miller at the start of the trial ruled that the police need not have a search warrant when they arrest gunmen and racketeers and search them for revolvers. He denied O'Donnell's petition asking that his gun be returned and that the police be reprimanded for not first going to a judge for a search warrant before they looked through his clothing for a revolver.

"This idea that a policeman must ask a hoodlum to wait while the officer obtains a warrant is absurd. I want to let this case go to the Supreme court for a ruling on that point, if necessary," the judge said.

Contrary to Former Ruling.

The ruling of Judge Miller was directly contrary to that made last week by Judge Peter Schwaba of the same court with the consent of the state's attorney's office. They, however, reversed their position the next day at the request of Judge Schwaba.

O'Donnell, a brother of William (Klondike) O'Donnell, well known beer runner, admitted in his petition asking for the return of his revolver that the police found him armed on Feb. 12 with George Barker and William White, ex-convict labor leaders, in the Cafe Barrositti, 4654 West Madison street.

ITALY PROPOSES 2 MONTH RECESS OF NAVAL PARLEY

Grandi Says Breach with France Is Serious.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 24.—Dino Grandi, head of the Italian delegation to the five power naval conference, called today on Prime Minister MacDonald and reported that the relations between Italy and France have become so strained through the acrimonious debate over their respective naval needs that it will require some time for their feelings to cool off.

The Italian delegate suggested to the British prime minister that an adjournment of the conference be ordered. During the time of adjournment, he intimated, Paris and Rome could seek a solution of their difficulties over naval parity. One report said Sig. Grandi suggested an adjournment of six months.

Italy Still Demands Parity.

Italy intends to stand pat on its demand for complete parity with France's navy, Sig. Grandi said. He called attention to the recent resolution of the Fascist grand council in Rome supporting this view, which makes it impossible for him to make any other suggestions.

Great Britain has nothing further to offer as a solution of the deadlock and sees no alternative proposals to overcome the difficulties. This is admitted by Mr. MacDonald.

Both delegates admitted after the two hour conversation that the situation seems more hopeless than ever. The prime minister expressed discouragement over the prospects and stressed the serious repercussion which will be inevitable in Europe if the parley fails, especially the evil effect it will have on the league of nations preparatory disarmament commission's efforts.

FRENCH RETURN

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 24.—The naval conference showed some signs of revival today. The British and American delegations were encouraged by the return of J. L. Dumesnil, French minister of marine, and the announcement that Francois Pietri, French minister of colonies, is coming tomorrow and that Foreign Minister Briand will arrive later in the week.

At a meeting of the British delegation at 10 Downing street today, Prime Minister MacDonald laid before his fellow delegates the present situation as he sees it. Later the American delegation arrived and the two groups discussed the general situation for a couple of hours. Special emphasis, it is understood, was paid to American-Japanese negotiations.

The general idea now seems to be that the delegations will mark time until a Japanese reply is received. If the reply is favorable, it is then likely that a plenary meeting will be summoned early next week, at which Mr. MacDonald will demand a clear statement from both the French and Italians. If they then prove to be as far apart as they now are, hope for a five power treaty will be abandoned and work will begin on a three power treaty.

Tokio to Accept U. S. Deal.

TOKIO, March 24.—(AP)—There were strong indications here tonight that the Japanese government next Thursday would accept the tentative agreement of the Japanese and American delegates to the London naval conference, providing that Japan's total naval tonnage shall be a maximum of 69.6 per cent of the American total. The American quota is expected to be the same as the British.

This expected decision of the cabinet is believed here to be the forerunner of a naval treaty at least between Japan, the United States and Great Britain, even though France and Italy should not become parties.

The proposal which the Japanese cabinet is expected to approve is that the permitted United States' total naval tonnage should be 527,000 and that of Japan 366,900.

While this would permit Japan 69.6 per cent, there has been much dissatisfaction among Japanese high naval officers. These officers urged their government to reject the tentative agreement because it did not grant Japan a 70 per cent ratio with Great Britain and the United States in large cruisers, 70 per cent of auxiliary tonnage and 78,000 tons of submarines.

ITALIAN INDUSTRY AT GRAVE CRISIS, MUSSOLINI TOLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, March 24.—While schemes for perfecting the Fascist corporative state are being put forth, a somber picture of Italian industrial conditions was exposed to Premier Mussolini today by President Benni of the General Confederation of Industrialists.

Sig. Benni reported on the steel, textile, and building trades. He claimed that more hours had been worked in industry during the past year than during the previous year, but that the profits of all three industries had been practically nothing during the year just ending.

Despite these difficulties, Sig. Benni continued, industry has gone on with reducing production costs, renewing machinery and reorganizing labor. He expressed hope that the new measures being worked out by the government will be successful in reducing the cost of living, and also that the growing fiscal charges levied in industry will "still leave capital investments intact."

RULES ARKANSAS DEMOCRATS CAN EXCLUDE NEGRO

Supreme Court Says It Has No Jurisdiction.

Little Rock, Ark., March 24.—(AP)—Democratic primary election rules in Arkansas were held valid by the state Supreme court today.

The opinion affirmed the decree of Pulaski chancery court dismissing for want of equity a suit for injunction against members of the Little Rock Democratic central committee to restrain them from barring Negroes from the city primaries of 1928.

J. M. Robinson and other Negro voters contended exclusion from the primaries violated the 14th and 15th amendments of the federal constitution.

Can Promulgate Rules.

In dismissing the appeal the Supreme court held that as a voluntary political organization and not an agency of the state the Democratic party legally was entitled to define qualifications for membership and promulgate party rules without violating any of the prohibitions of the 14th or 15th amendments.

"The fact that nominees of the Democratic primary in Arkansas are always elected at the general election does not alter the situation," the court held.

Primary Not Legalized.

"Primary elections are beyond the concern of the state, save only in those instances where the state legalizes the primary by statute," the opinion reads. In no instance, it said, was the state entitled to direct the machinery of the party primary, termed by the court "entirely an instrumentality created by the party."

An appeal probably will be taken to the United States Supreme court.

Guerrilla Who Terrorized Mexican States Executed

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, March 24.—Guadalupe Hernandez, a guerrilla leader, who terrorized Durango and adjoining states and refused to accept the amnesty offered by the government following the Escobar revolt last year, was executed at Fereria, near Durango City, last night by military authorities.

FLAMING YOUTH GETS A BREAK IN GEORGIA TOWN

Williacoochee, Ga., March 24.—(AP)—The city council has decreed that young people may return to their homes after midnight, but grown men must furnish the city marshal a satisfactory reason if caught on Williacoochee's streets during early morning hours.

Also, the ordinance makes it unlawful for any person to be loafing or loitering about the city's streets without giving a good reason to the marshal. No person shall enter any house or residence after 12 o'clock midnight "other than their most notorious place of abode" without giving the marshal a good explanation.

Although allowing girls and young men who left earlier in the evening to return home after midnight, the ordinance says it is unlawful for "any person to go out riding after midnight and until daylight or for any male person to go driving with any woman or girl between these hours unless the party or parties can give a good and sufficient reason to the marshal on duty.

"This ordinance is not, however, meant to construe that young people who may go away early in the evening cannot come home after midnight so long as they are orderly. . . ."

Persons found guilty of violating the new ordinances are subject to a fine of $100 or thirty days labor on the city streets or both, at the mayor's discretion.

The city has a population of 1,200.

Officials Gloomy Over Revenue Outlook.

Local governments will probably receive approximately $21,000,000 less in taxes under the reassessment in the city than they did under the 1927 quadrennial. This estimate was made yesterday by tax officials following the release of assessment figures by the board of assessors.

In 1927 city property was assessed at $3,280,777,828, and under the 1928 reassessment, as modified by the board of assessors, the total dropped to $2,773,319,142. Estimating a further $50,000,000 cut in valuations by the board of review and considering also the loss and cost of collecting the tax, the conclusion of the tax experts was that the 1928 assessment will realize but $122,500,000, or $21,450,000 less than 1927. In 1927 the total of taxes extended was $159,995,979, but only $143,296,282 was collected.

How Loss Is Distributed.

The losses in revenue as estimated by officials for the chief taxing bodies on the city's total are as follows:

Schools	$6,000,000
City	6,500,000
County	1,900,000
Parks	1,800,000
Sanitary district	1,700,000
State	1,300,000

The release of the assessors' figures on Sunday revealed that the city probably has overappropriated by more than $600,000 in passing its 1930 budget. Revenue estimates were based on an anticipated valuation of $2,832,131,788, or $58,812,646 more than can be expected in revenue from the assessors' figures. The city's loss may be increased by $500,000 if the board of review cuts the city's assessment by $50,000,000. The board of review has already slashed $28,000,000 from the city total on review of almost four-fifths of the city's real estate. The reviewers pointed out that the amount of their reduction may be decreased if loop property values are raised.

Alderman Is Gloomy.

Ald. John S. Clark, chairman of the council finance committee, said yesterday that the reduction will seriously cripple the city's finances. He declared that if taxes are collected by July 1 the city will have to meet tax anticipation warrants with interest. These will take the city's share of taxes and leave nothing for salaries and expenses, which can not be met save through further sale of 1930 warrants, now almost at the saturation point.

President Cermak of the county board estimated the county's net loss at $500,000. The county will realize increases in country town districts, where valuations have been doubled, but will lose on the whole in the reduction in the city.

Director Harry S. Cutmore of the reassessment took another view of the situation. He declared that the collection of taxes in 1928 would not be accompanied by as great a loss and cost in collection as in 1927 and set the difference in the two years at $10,000,000.

Officials united in condemning the 37 per cent factor used under the reassessment to determine what portion of the market value of real estate should be taken as the assessed valuation. The 37 per cent was fixed for assessment purposes by the board as the average for counties throughout the state. The officials held that the percentage should have been 45 per cent and criticized the board for fixing the factor without consideration to the needs of local governmental bodies. It was declared that the higher factor would cover the loss in taxes due to lower city valuations.

The board of review yesterday announced that in the rush to complete its share of work on the 1928 assessment it will be impossible to hear fully the complaints from the country town districts. The reviewers turned down 7,500 complaints from the town of Calumet on the ground that they had not been filed in properly. Similar action is expected in other towns.

Work on the 1930 personal property tax was begun yesterday by the assessors. A staff of 32 men were sent out to deliver schedules in the city. At the same time 20 clerks from the reassessment department began an examination of building permits and fire reports on the inauguration of the 1929 real estate assessment.

COUNCIL TO ASK USE OF GAS TAX FOR I. C. TRACK DEPRESSION

Members of the council track elevation committee yesterday approved the suggestion of Ald. William A. Rowan (10th) to ask the legislature to permit the use of a portion of the gas tax fund for the depression of the Illinois Central tracks in 71st street and Exchange avenue. State Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg, who was present, promised the committee that he would determine what amendments to the state law would be necessary to divert funds for that purpose and introduce them at the next legislative session.

COACH VANISHES, GIRL AND WOMAN DOCTOR ARE DEAD

Indiana Coroner Hears Story; Does Not Act.

North Webster, Ind., March 24.—[Special.]—Robert E. Lee, 33, athletic director of the high school, and Gladys Allen, 32, music teacher of the school, had been sweethearts for two years and were engaged to marry, Miss Allen confided to her friends.

A fortnight ago Lee took the basketball team to Indianapolis for the state tournament. The team was eliminated at the start and the players returned home without their coach.

Two days later the principal, Guy Bushong, received a letter written by the coach in an Indianapolis hotel, in which Lee thanked the principal for past courtesies and stated he was going away, never to return to North Webster. Teachers and students were sympathetic to the coach, assuming that in chagrin over the showing of his team he was ashamed to come back. He had promised and his team had pledged the town a championship.

Teacher in Tears.

There was one among the faculty, however, who displayed not sympathy but grief. Miss Allen remained alone in her boarding house at night and wept frequently in class.

Last Friday afternoon she left school early, in tears, and drove to near by Columbia City to the home of Dr. Alice Williams, 64, who had practiced medicine for thirty-two years.

She is assumed to have spent the night with Dr. Williams, for the following afternoon the physician called for an ambulance, in which the teacher was taken from the Williams' home to the Linvill hospital. Miss Allen died there within two hours.

Finds Doctor Dying.

Yesterday afternoon, about 18 hours after the teacher died, Dr. Ben Linvill, proprietor of the hospital, was summoned to Dr. William's home. He found Dr. Williams dying, apparently of a heart attack.

No one in authority would venture an opinion today on the cause of Miss Allen's death. Dr. Linvill said that when she was admitted to the hospital, the teacher was suffering from internal hemorrhages. It developed that Dr. Williams had been indicted two years ago for performing an illegal operation, but had never been brought to trial, due to fear of the authorities that the ordeal might bring a heart attack. Dr. Linvill said he was willing to sign a certificate ascribing Dr. Williams' death to angina pectoris.

Coroner O. F. Lehmbart admitted hearing rumors of the two deaths and the disappearance of the coach. The coroner said he would take no action unless instructed by District Attorney Ralph Probst.

"It is not the business of my office to pry into affairs of that sort," said Prosecutor Probst.

TRIAL DATE SET

Myrtle C. Thoren Kopelman.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Myrtle Thoren, divorced wife of Theodore Kopelman, an insurance broker who was kidnaped for ransom several weeks ago, almost lost her bond through forfeiture yesterday when she was late in making her appearance in Judge Harry B. Miller's Criminal court. She hurried through the courtroom door with Attorney L. L. Cohen just as the bailiff was about to announce that her cash bond was forfeited for failure to answer to a conspiracy to kidnap charge.

The six other defendants, five of whom face trial for their lives for the Kopelman kidnaping, appeared with their attorneys and announced that a motion for bond would be filed. Assistant State's Attorney Charles Mueller, however, said that he would oppose such a motion because the crime is punishable by death. The defendants are Samuel Gold, Irving Sandler, Charles [Chich] Hadesman, Norman Resnick, and Seymour Pellar. Michael Rosenberg, the other defendant is at liberty on bond.

Prosecutor Mueller explained that Mrs. Thoren and Rosenberg are entitled to bond because the prosecution could not connect them up with the actual kidnaping, but had to indict them for conspiracy, a bailable offense. The trial was postponed until April 28.

Girl and Mother Held After Father Is Stabbed

Walter Whitman, 52 years old, 1711 Carroll avenue, was in the Bridewell hospital last night suffering from a stab wound in the chest which he said was inflicted by his 17 year old daughter, Mary, when he attempted to beat her. The girl and her mother, Mrs. Anna Whitman, are being held at the Warren avenue police station. Mary told the police that her father and mother had been drinking. Her two younger sisters and brother witnessed the fight.

NORTHUP ACTS AS WITNESS IN CANAL INQUIRY

Carey Trial Delayed Past Primary.

First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup acted as his own witness before the grand jury yesterday, it is reported, in an effort to speed up new indictments in the one year old sanitary district investigation. It was reported that the prosecutor plans to get some indictments before the April primary, although Northup refused to affirm or deny this rumor.

Bishop Archibald Carey, Thompson civil service commissioner, defendant in the other outstanding prosecution of public officials by State's Attorney Swanson, was granted a continuance until April 19 by Judge Otto Kerner when the state agreed to the move. The arrangement for the continuance to a date following the primary was made, it was reported, several weeks ago by Prosecutor Swanson and Attorney Leonard C. Reid of the law firm of Litsinger & Reid, of which Edward R. Litsinger is the head.

Carey, who is charged with accepting bribes to favor candidates for civil service positions, was represented in court by Attorney Milton D. Smith.

Prosecutor Northup told the jury yesterday, it is reported, the evidence he has found in his investigation. He has issued subpoenas and witnesses may be called before the jury today.

Girl, 19, Without Work, Tries to End Own Life

Despondent because she had been out of work for several weeks, Miss Dorothy Blake, 19 years old, 5420 Kenwood avenue, last night attempted suicide by swallowing poison in the women's restroom of the Oakland Square theater, 3949 Drexel boulevard. After treatment at the Chicago hospital, she was pronounced out of danger, but Lieut. Anthony Golden of the Hyde Park police ordered her held for the night, fearing that she might make a second attempt on her life.

Measuring Transportation Needs

THE traffic checker is an important factor in the every day task of the Chicago Surface Lines. He provides the information upon which traffic engineers base their decisions in writing schedules for the operation of Surface Lines cars.

Riding habits of people in the various communities change frequently and the needs of the routes serving the one thousand miles of track are constantly shifting.

The checker is the scout of the transportation organization. His reports indicate changing conditions and they are followed up by revisions in schedule. By this means the management is able to place cars where and when they are most needed.

Every car on the Chicago Surface Lines operates on a schedule as carefully worked out as the time table of a transcontinental train.

There is no substitute for street car service

Sets Income of Estate at Over Million Annually.

Mrs. Katherine Dexter McCormick, wife of Stanley McCormick, and appointed his guardian by a Santa Barbara, Cal., court, yesterday filed a petition before Probate Judge Henry Horner asking that her income from her husband's estate be increased to $420,000 annually.

The long petition revealed that the McCormick estate was worth $10,472,-227 in 1916, when Stanley McCormick was adjudged incompetent, and had risen to a value of $52,031,400 in February, 1929. Due to depreciation in International Harvester company stock, which composed the most of the estate, the value of the estate dropped to $46,859,824 during the great market upheaval, the petition stated.

Says Income Is Over Million.

The income from the estate is "in excess of a million a year," the petition went on. Out of this Mrs. McCormick has been receiving an income which increased by gradual stages from $4,000 annually in 1907 to $162,-000 a year in 1928. This income has not been large enough to support Mrs. McCormick in the manner to which she has become accustomed, she stated, and she has had to go into debt.

Approximately $3,000,000 has been spent for Stanley McCormick in the 21 years in which he has been confined to his estate at Riven Rock, Santa Barbara, according to the petition.

Mrs. McCormick asked for $600,000 immediately and an income of $35,000 a month thereafter in order to meet her needs. The petition declared that she "will ask further allowances from time to time in the future" as the need arises.

"Made Sole Heir in Will."

The petitioner pointed out that under a will made by her husband in 1904, she was made executrix and sole heir to his estate and that she is entitled to such income as she deems necessary. If she should die before her husband, the estate would go to his sister and brothers.

"All possible heirs have, and no doubt will always have, ample funds for their comfort and support," the petition stated.

Another petition asked the court to pay for expenses incurred between Jan. 2, 1923, and Dec. 31, 1929, in court proceedings involving the conservatorship of Stanley McCormick. The physicians who testified in the case charged $500 a day for their services, the petition stated, and a total of $7,500 was asked to pay for this.

Jumps Jail, but Must Pay Up on Alimony Debt

John Joseph Sabath was asked yesterday to send Joseph Patka, a tailor, to jail for failure to pay alimony to his wife, Irene, 25 years old, 4958 Rice street, since she obtained a divorce two months ago. The judge refused to jail Patka, but he ordered him to pay $13.50 each week for the support of his former wife and 5 year old daughter, Vivian.

Max Berger, 45 years old, committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself in the head in a bowling house at 24 North Carpenter street.

Every advance in science makes new demands of Antiseptics— and Listerine meets them all

2 Has penetrating power equal to 3% solution of carbolic acid.

3 Absolutely safe to use; non-poisonous, non-caustic.

4 Passes all tests of the Bureau of Chemistry of the United States Government, and is approved by three nationally known laboratories, and The Lancet of London, outstanding medical journal.

PENETRATION TEST OF LISTERINE ANTISEPTIC Staphylococcus Aureus Nutrient Agar + 10% Blood Serum (From an actual photograph. Note the larger area free of germs, proving Listerine's effectiveness.)

Laboratory tests show that full-strength Listerine kills not only the pus and typhoid germs in 15 seconds, but also such dangerous invaders as the Streptococcus, pneumonia, catarrh, influenza and acidophilus odontolycus germs type I and type II.

In the prevention and treatment of disease, medical science has made mighty strides forward in the last decade.

As a result, greater efficiency is demanded of antiseptics and germicides. Those which cannot meet these new requirements are rejected. Those which can meet them find wholesale acceptance. Listerine has successfully passed every scientific test to which it has been put. More than adequately, it has met every modern requirement.

These triumphs, preceded by fifty years of use in the hands of physician and layman alike, establish it as the antiseptic best suited to personal use—safe and healing in effect, yet with power to kill germs in the fastest time possible to measure accurately.

Listerine passes germicidal test in three great laboratories

The standard method used by the Bureau of Chemistry of the U. S. Government to test germ killing power and the penetration of an antiseptic in the presence of body fluids, is the Reddish Germicidal Method. Using this exact technique, three bacteriological laboratories of national repute in New York, Philadelphia, and Boston, have tested Listerine repeatedly.

Their records show that full strength Listerine Kills Staphylococcus Aureus (the pus germ) and Bacillus Typhosus (the typhoid germ) in counts ranging to 200,000,000 in 15 seconds.

Kills twenty times as fast as U. S. Government requires

To qualify as an antiseptic or germicide, under Government standards, a preparation must kill Staphylococcus Aureus (the pus germ) within five minutes.

Note that full strength Listerine kills this germ in 15 seconds—twenty times as fast as required.

Special Note: In the measurement of killing power, 15 seconds is the quickest time science has been able to record accurately. Any claims by others of speedier killing are open to serious question.

Listerine's penetrating power enables it to reach germs readily

To destroy germs a germicide must first be able to reach them when they lie below the surface of tissue. Obviously penetrating power is vital to the value of any solution. Listerine has this power to an amazing degree. Using the accurate Petri dish method, the three laboratories mentioned above show Listerine to actually have penetrating power equal to a 3% solution of carbolic acid.

Acclaimed by "Lancet," high medical authority

No higher endorsement can be given an antiseptic and germicide than that of The Lancet of London. This great medical journal never bestows approval on a practice or a product until it has been thoroughly tested. After conducting its own research, The Lancet unreservedly endorses Listerine as a safe antiseptic of high germicidal potency.

Listerine—non-poisonous, non-toxic, absolutely safe

Listerine may be safely used full strength in any body cavity. It is non-poisonous, non-irritating, and actually has a soothing and healing effect on tissue. Contrast these qualities with those of harsh, metallic, or poisonous solutions which damage tissue. This factor of safety cannot be overestimated, especially if any antiseptic is to be kept in a home where there are children.

Effective against sore throat, dandruff, and halitosis because germicidal

Listerine has been found to be an excellent treatment for a great many ailments. Many of these ailments are alike in that they are caused by germs. And Listerine's success in checking them is due primarily to its germicidal power.

As a mouth wash and gargle it is highly successful in preventing colds and sore throat which are of germ origin and in checking them once they have taken hold.

Many dermatologists agree that dandruff also is a germ infection. If this be true, you can understand why Listerine is accepted as a superior treatment for dandruff. In addition to its germicidal action, Listerine has remarkable cleansing powers. Moreover, it dissolves and removes the loose particles of dandruff.

Halitosis (unpleasant breath) yields to Listerine first because Listerine is a powerful deodorant. When halitosis is caused by infections of the nose, mouth, gums, or throat, Listerine gets at the seat of the trouble by attacking the infection itself.

It is always wise to use Listerine full strength; in this way you are certain of its effect. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

DR. TOBIAS FINDS DOOR OPEN FOR NEGRO ADVANCE

Says Opportunity Exceeds Present Training.

The door of opportunity for Negro advancement is not closed, according to Dr. Channing H. Tobias, New York, secretary of the national council of the Y. M. C. A. Dr. Tobias is colored. He pleaded for a better understanding of his race yesterday at the first Illinois interracial conference. The sessions are under the auspices of the Federal Council of Churches, the Chicago Church federation, and associated organizations, and will continue through today at the Central Y. M. C. A., 19 South La Salle street.

Dr. Tobias declared there is danger that added doors of opportunity might open too suddenly. He pointed out instances where calls had come to him from industrial concerns for specially trained colored employés which were difficult to fill because of the scarcity of colored people with the proper training.

Blames Housing Conditions.

Housing conditions in colored sections of American cities were blamed by the Y. M. C. A. leader for health and crime conditions among their residents. He cited conditions in Detroit, where he declared that 60,000 Negroes were crowded into buildings intended to house 10,000. Dr. Tobias referred to the famous Sweet death case and race riots in Detroit as being the direct result of overcrowding.

"Responsibility for Negro problems must be shared both by the white people and Negroes," said Dr. Tobias. "There has been entirely too much bewailing of lack of opportunity among the colored people."

Cites New York Conditions.

Dr. Tobias said that in New York Italians and Scandinavians had located businesses in the colored area in Harlem and were on the road to wealth simply because of the lack of enterprise of the colored residents. He declared that the vegetable markets patronized exclusively by colored residents of Harlem were operated almost exclusively by white people solely because colored people did not wish to get up at 4 in the morning to lay in vegetable stocks.

Judge Albert B. George, associate judge of the Municipal court, presided. Dr. E. F. Tittle, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Evanston, and the Rev. Albert L. Scott, pastor of Lincoln Memorial Congregational church, were on the program. This afternoon Dr. Frank O. Beck of Gargett Biblical institute, Evanston, will conduct a sight-seeing tour of the south side. The purpose of the conference is to improve the relationship between the races.

Fire in Restaurant Stops Dinner for 100 Diners

About 100 diners were interrupted at their meals last evening when fire broke out in a grease chute in the kitchen of the Walter Powers restaurant at 3950 Madison street. Powers estimated the damage at $500. Firemen stationed their apparatus in alleys around the restaurant to avoid blocking traffic at the busy intersection of Madison street and Crawford avenue.

Jury Refuses Woman's Plea for $100,000 Balm

A jury in Judge Willis F. Graham's court yesterday refused to award damages to Miss Francis Mroneck, 22 years old, in her $100,000 breach of promise suit against Emil Melnik, 36 years old, garage owner at 3127 South Racine avenue. Miss Mroneck charged she was left waiting at the church by Melnik, who married another woman.

DRUGGIST ROUTS ROBBER.

Three pistol shots, fired yesterday by Ray Van Dunden, a druggist of 3550 Southport avenue, routed a bandit, who was holding him up in his store.

THE CIRCUS COMES TO CHICAGO AGAIN, 30 CARLOADS OF IT

Thirty double length railroad cars, filled to the brim with strange beasts, educated horses, highly trained elephants, freaks and curiosities, as well as many performers, arrived in the New York Central railroad yards early this morning.

The thirty cars represented the performing section of the Sells-Floto circus, which last night left its winter quarters at Peru, Ind., on its first movement of the season.

The Chicago engagement will open next Saturday afternoon at the Coliseum and performances will be given there for sixteen days. After leaving the Coliseum the circus will play for a short time at the Stadium on West Madison street.

"I KILLED WRONG WITCH," SQUAW TO TELL COURT

Buffalo, N. Y., March 24.—[Special.]—The twefith juror in the trial of Lila Jimerson, the Red Lilac of the last remnants of the once great Seneca tribe, who stands charged with inciting old Nancy Bowen to the murder of Clothilde Marchand, was drawn at dusk tonight. Nearly 200 talesmen had been examined.

Henri Marchand, whose flaming love making swept the Indian maid off her feet and aroused in her a passion that the state contends led her to plot the death of his wife, is in the county jail, waiting to be called as one of the first prosecution witnesses.

Scarcely a block away from where he paces his cell old Nancy Bowen stoically awaits the call to court.

Prosecutor Moore asserts Red Lilac was insanely jealous of Marchand's wife. He says Red Lilac sent old Nancy letters purporting to come from a spiritualist named "Mrs. Dooley," inciting her to kill Clothilde Marchand.

"I do not believe I did wrong to kill her," the old squaw said today. "I was told to kill her because she was a witch. At that time I thought she was one. Now I know I was fooled. I believed that she had killed my husband but that was not my fault.

"It is all too bad, but I'm not to blame. I killed the wrong witch—that is all."

Held in $50,000 Bonds for Riverside Bank Holdup

James Walker, alias Ben Howard, captured by Riverside police last Friday after being routed by a clerk in an attempt to hold up the First National bank of Riverside, pleaded not guilty to robbery with a gun when arraigned yesterday before Justice of the Peace J. D. Clancy and was remanded to the county jail under a $50,000 bond. His confederate, Walter Young, alias Dick Richards, who was seriously wounded in the gun battle which followed the holdup, will be arraigned as soon as his condition permits his appearance in court.

Building Construction Employers' association. In attendance were Henry Ericsson, president; William McGuineus, vice president, and E. M. Craig, executive secretary of the employers; George Getschow, Oscar W. Rosenthal, president of the Builders' association; Thomas Flynn, head of the Carpenters' District council; Michael J. Boyle of the electricians, Hugh Mulligan of the asbestos workers, James Close of the sheet metal workers, Patrick Cullen of the stone cutters, Patrick Sullivan, president, and Martin Durkin, vice president, of the Building Trades council.

A resolution was adopted instructing Mr. Craig to send a telegram to the postmaster general urging the Chicago postoffice be started on at once and that the whole Hoover $92,000,000 building and public works program be pushed along.

"Today the building industry of America is slowly recovering from a slump which dropped activities to a low ebb and brought about unemployment for thousands of building workers and also men and women in kindred industries," said this message.

"Governmental agencies can exert beneficial coöperation to the general program by immediately commencing their building projects, both in Chicago and in other sections of the country. The time is now opportune for building and labor has evinced a desire to aid in retrieving construction by coöperating with the builders of the nation. Fall construction of the Chicago postoffice would delay and shelve for the summer months the employment now needed by resident building trades workers. An early spring beginning of all federal construction projects is almost imperative."

"Build Now!" was a slogan adopted by the joint meeting before it was adjourned. The leaders said they expect to make the words ring around the nation before long.

Julius Uhlman, secretary-treasurer of the Chicago Metal Trades council, announced during the day that his organization of 75,000 workers would take up the postoffice project also and that each member would be urged to write to the postmaster general, officials of the treasury department, and to their congressmen at once for an immediate start of the work.

John Donlin, an officer of the International Plasterers' union, said: "Now is the time for government construction to start. Hoover's program to start public building should have come sixty days earlier than it did."

NEW LINER EUROPA MAY BREAK RECORD; NEARS U. S. SHORE

S. S. EUROPA, March 24.—(AP)—Sliding into the home stretch of her maiden run from Cherbourg breakwater to Ambrose channel lightship, the North German Lloyd liner Europa steamed abreast of Nantucket at 11:20 p. m., ship's time, today. The officers felt that only unforeseen conditions could prevent her from setting a new record for the Atlantic crossing from east to west. It is expected the ship will reach Ambrose light by 6 a. m. tomorrow.

When the Bremen, the Europa's sister ship, made her maiden voyage last July, she set a new mark of 4 days 17 hours and 42 minutes for the run.

The Bremen later lowered her record by 18 minutes to 4 days 17 hours and 24 minutes.

Court Decides Not to Pull Uncle Sam's Beard

Uncle Sam's whiskers were entangled in the machinery of the Traffic court for a time yesterday. A. R. Larson, a federal investigator of 3030 North Troy street, was haled before Judge Arnold Heap, charged with driving without a license. His plea that the government owned the car failed to sway Judge Heap, who had imposed a fine when Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court happened in and advised his colleague against the danger of "pulling Uncle Sam's whiskers." Judge Heap rescinded the fine.

TRUE STORY MAGAZINE

LARGEST News Stand Sale in the World

Are You Clamoring For Case Histories?

THIS year of our Lord 1930 probably finds about three-quarters of a million of us men who have "been through college" now holding executive positions.

Most of us, at some time or other, because it was a snap course, took Sociology I., and therefore know all about case histories.

Therefore, a goodly number of you who have been reading these pages and who, for one reason or another, are interested in True Story Magazine, are probably demanding case histories of this thesis we have set out upon: that the great majority of True Story readers are of the wage-earning classes; that the economic change among these classes that has been taking place for the past ten years has become the deciding factor in the entire commercial set-up of America; and finally, that these changes deal more with social and economic position than with ethics. In other words, that the wage-earning classes are trying to obtain a new standard of living while they maintain the old standard of morals.

To you let us say that we have collected many thousands of such case histories with the most competent help available; and that, while we are strangely alone in this field, the results from our outside sources seem to check with the parallel material that comes to us at the magazine.

* * * *

To you several millions of other executives who have gotten along quite comfortably and piled up fortune and position without the crutch of college, case histories may not seem so important, but they really have a value.

* * * *

Case histories, as you know, are the collected records of any group of people who are doing the same thing or have the same objective. They are obtained by getting the letters which such people have written to one another regarding their objective, or by going out and interviewing the people themselves.

For example, take any emigration movement from Europe. You get the personal letters of these people who are coming to America—letters to their relatives in America, their friends who are helping them, and oftentimes to other friends and relatives back home. Then you lay these letters side by side and you find out what kind of citizens these people were in the old country, why they are coming to the new country, and what they expect to do when they get here. Then, on their arrival, you interview them personally. And you pretty nearly know in advance what kind of citizens they are going to make.

Of course, the written records are far more accurate than the personal interviews, as we shall see later on.

* * * *

Now, taking our own wage-earning classes of native-born Americans and pursuing the same plan of case histories, we can get a pretty accurate measure of who they are, what they are doing, how they are living, and what their objective is in this rapidly changing world. Unfortunately, we have no parallel to go by in this work, except in the departments of sociology in the universities. And their efforts are naturally limited. For some strange reason, no other magazine seems willing to claim kinship with this great mass of American wage-earning people whose new economic status is now providing them with their first leaven of culture and who are striving so earnestly to justify the new social values that have been made possible.

There is no trouble with our statistical data. That is easy. If you want to find out who a man is, what he does, how much he earns, and how he lives, just go to his house and ask him. No trouble about that.

You may get an exaggerated answer, but all you do is arrive at a certain percentage for exaggeration, then deduct that percentage and you come pretty close to the facts. And those facts, as you know, are pretty wonderful here in America, even at this time.

* * * *

But if you want to know what a man's problems are, that's another matter. If you want to find out whether his wife is going to leave him, or if he is worrying about his daughter, or wondering whether his son is still going straight, that's not so easy.

And here we have to rely not so much on interviews as upon the innumerable personal letters that come pouring in on every true story that hits home on one of these problems.

And if you don't think there are these problems in these hurly-burly times, you ought to sit down for an hour and read some of these letters.

* * * *

We are not referring to sob stories. We are referring entirely to social problems. Jim Smith runs away with another woman. And there's a problem that affects every wage-earning family in America. Jim Smith comes back. And there's the solution of that problem in the re-affirmation of the sanctity of the home. Mary Brown goes out on an automobile party and gets into a mess. And Mary Brown's father sits at home with as heavy a social problem as ever confronted any man. (Incidentally, the automobile has been responsible for so many social changes that it is almost startling when you consider it in the light of these letters that come in.)

* * * *

But it must be evident to anyone, after even a casual study of these case histories, that without the re-affirmation of old virtues by these wage-earning classes, without the determined effort to hang on to basic principles, you would have a social mess here in America, due to this new economic freedom, that all the king's horses and all the king's men couldn't put together again.

And to have an understanding of these factors, we claim, is equally important both to us and to you.

* * * *

We are assembling a mass of these case histories and at a later date we shall give them to you in basketfuls. Because here, you know, is where they come—in basketfuls.

JAPAN AND THE U. S. AT LONDON.

The disposition of the Japanese delegation at London to drive the best possible bargain presents an interesting contrast to the American diplomacy of the new model, but it is especially deserving of attention as indicating that our situation in the Pacific will not be governed by the sentiments of vicarious altruism which seem to have inspired our conduct in international negotiations since the war. Japanese diplomacy, so far as we have followed it, has not erred through modesty in demand or experimental altruism. If it has made mistakes they were those of overplaying its hand, not of giving anything away, and the net results of a consistently determined policy have been such as to justify it to Japanese statecraft and national judgment.

If we are willing to face robust realities in international relations we will realize from the Japanese tactics at London that if our growing interests and responsibilities in the Pacific are to be protected and fulfilled we must take our own part, as Theodore Roosevelt preached to a less apologetic and befuddled generation. Japan has not been stirred to imitation by our example at Washington in 1921. Having found us willing to give, it has been sensibly willing to take as much as we can be induced to give. Its idea of dealing with us is derived, we think, from jiujitsu, not ring-around-a-rosy. At Washington we gave up our right to establish bases in the eastern Pacific and to fortify the Philippines. That not only gave Japan security against serious offensive operations by us but guaranteed her military possession of the Philippines and Guam whenever she considers it expedient to take them. We even pledged ourselves not to establish a base in the Aleutians, our own coast line. Also we entered into a treaty for peaceful adjustment of differences. For all of which after nine years we find Japan demanding an increase of relative naval force which can have no justification in any change in her defensive position, but is obviously directed at increasing her naval domination over trade routes and communications which are of increasing importance to us.

The commendable ambition to reduce military expenditures and provocative armament should be tempered by our observation of Japanese ambitions. The policy of the Japanese delegation at London wears a significant aspect. Our delegation has been reducing our program of commerce defense, cruisers and submarines, while the Japanese delegation has been demanding higher ratios.

If we are willing to be shut out of the expanding opportunities of intercourse with Asia, to be cut off from supplies essential to our industrial prosperity, to be something like a futility in the Pacific save upon conditions controlled by Japan, we will continue to make concessions to her masterful diplomacy.

With no malice or ill feeling against the Japanese, we hold that we made at Washington in 1921 all the military concessions to her that are either justifiable or tolerable. We then assured her of virtual immunity from invasion and gave other substantial evidence of our pacific and friendly disposition. It is time now to make it clear that enough is enough, that we are not indefinitely gullible, and that we have interests and prospects in the Pacific which we propose to protect and develop. Since the Washington conference Japanese demands for higher ratios, for greater relative naval power, cannot be justified by fear of naval aggression by the United States. They express a very natural ambition to dominate in the eastern Pacific.

With our superior force in capital ships canceled through our lack of bases, the situation there turns upon cruiser strength, and in this category a balance cannot be struck by comparing ships, except as we discount the efficiency of every American cruiser by the factor of its cruising radius—that is, the distance from its nearest base. Thus if Japan is to be granted a large cruiser ratio of 70 to 100, this does not represent a discrepancy in force of 30 per cent. We do not assume to estimate what the actual ratio of force would be, but it would be very much more favorable to Japan, probably approaching equality. In addition, it is reported equality has been agreed upon as to submarines and auxiliary ships, which means in fact a substantial superiority for Japan in eastern waters. When we consider also that our navy must be divided for defense in the Atlantic as well as the Pacific the balance Japan is pressing toward will be seen to be very heavily against us.

We are not considering remoter possibilities of combinations against us or of serious invasion of either country by the other. We are considering our ability to protect our commercial future in the far east. That commerce is already large. It is destined to grow very much larger. It includes one commodity alone which is essential to our domestic prosperity, rubber, and to our efficiency in war. Both China and the Malay archipelago are markets of great importance to us, and Japan sits securely upon the flank of our communications with either. If we continue to reduce our naval efficiency we shall sooner or later be shut off from the far east with its tremendous opportunities, or be compelled to accept such access to it as Japan finds it profitable to grant.

This is our very serious interest in the terms of naval limitation with Japan. It is an interest which our representatives should protect and advance. It should not be compromised in exchange for hypothetical benefits. We are far from counseling a belligerent or even an unsympathetic attitude toward Japan. But we are able to create and maintain a naval force in the Pacific which in any probable eventuality would be adequate to keep open our communications with the far east and we should not barter away our freedom to create and maintain such a force.

Our delegation at London, and at home, the President and congress are subjected to an elaborate propaganda on behalf of naval reduction and concession. The interests of the nation in the development of its foreign commerce, which requires the support and defense of adequate naval power, is not so vocal. It should make itself heard. If peace societies are bombarding our government, we suggest a counter fire had better begin at once from the representatives of American commerce, industry, agriculture, and labor.

TO SPEED THE RETURN OF PROSPERITY.

A period of depression, as everybody knows, is accompanied by decreases in employment, industrial output, and the turnover of goods. The current notion of the extent of these decreases, however, is much exaggerated. As a matter of fact, a change of only a point or two in the percentages is sufficient to change sunshine to deep gloom, and vice versa. The economic machine is nicely balanced. Accordingly a slight disturbance in one of its cylinders is likely to have profoundly disquieting effects, seemingly out of all proportion to the cause.

Take the question of unemployment, for example. It is generally agreed that current statistics are none too reliable, but few statisticians would venture to say that unemployment today is more than 5 or 6 per cent above what is regarded as normal for the season; a good many would say that the increase in unemployment is considerably less than 5 per cent.

Depressions, it seems to be pretty generally agreed, commonly result from an accumulation of goods in excess of the purchasing power of the consuming public. In consequence some of the men and women employed in production are dropped from the pay rolls. That further aggravates the situation, because their buying power is curtailed, and the moment when the excess of goods disappears from the market, which is the moment when the upswing begins, is by that much delayed.

If this analysis is correct the importance of maintaining employment during times of depression as nearly normal as possible is plain. It will hasten the day when factories can again be operated profitably with full staffs. On this theory governments and large industries have been urged to undertake large capital expenditures now, but governments and large industries are not the only agents which can, and in self-interest should, cooperate in the endeavor. Every employer, every real estate owner, and every householder can play his part in hastening the return of prosperity. The creation of a job, if only a temporary one, here and there will be sufficient to make a marked reduction in the percentage of unemployment. It is not as if 50 per cent of the working population were out of jobs. As has been pointed out, 95 out of every 100 men and women ordinarily employed are employed today. Jobs must be found now for only the other five.

Almost every building is in need of at least minor repairs and additions which must be made sooner or later. Those repairs should be made now, when labor is plentiful and prompt and thorough attention can be given to them. Thousands of men and women could be employed usefully in painting, cleaning, and repairing. This is the time for every householder to make an inspection of his property with a view to correcting defects in construction and repairing the accumulated damages wrought by time.

No one who walks about the streets of a city can fail to see countless opportunities for work of this character. Broken sidewalks, cracked window panes, stairs in need of repair are common sights. Every building owner expects to make these repairs sooner or later.

Another fruitful source of jobs should be the heating installations. In a few weeks the furnaces will be closed down. Many thousands of them have outlived their usefulness and are a liability. Great advances in heating apparatus have been made in recent years, and the expense of new furnaces can be more than met by savings in fuel bills. This is the time to obtain estimates of the cost of modernizing an old heating plant, which will not only save money spent for fuel but reduce the smoke nuisance as well.

Editorial of the Day

SOMEHOW THEY STILL LEARN.

[Decatur, Ill., Herald.]

A poll that has just been taken of the undergraduate students of Yale discloses the facts that more than 70 per cent of them drink, and that their favorite beverage is whisky. This bit of statistical evidence, which conforms pretty well with the results of questionnaires among other student groups as far apart as New York and southern California, is chiefly interesting for the reason that Yale has a basis of comparison, in a similar poll taken in the year 1906, when the sale of intoxicants was not limited even by local option. In that year only 50 per cent of the Yale undergradpates would confess to drinking, and the favorite student tipple was beer, containing only a tenth of the amount of alcohol in whisky.

Any one who wishes to draw conclusions from these figures must be on his guard against some distortion, due to the fact that in 1906 a confession of drinking was made reluctantly, whereas in 1930 it is a boast. For all that, there is enough of substantial evidence in these figures to give the most ardent prohibitionist some pangs of uncertainty. For of all the arguments in behalf of prohibition none seemed more credible than the one which held that even if the hardened old sinners were not saved, at least the young would be kept from acquiring the habit, and the desire for alcohol would die out with the coming of a new generation.

The boys now in Yale were children 10 or 11 years old when prohibition was enacted. Not one, probably, has ever seen the inside of a licensed saloon. Nevertheless, as a means of keeping these college boys from acquiring a taste for alcoholic beverages prohibition seems to have been just about as useful as an umbrella carried by a soldier caught in a barrage.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. By Ed.

NOW, LISTEN! IT ISN'T A BIT OF USE—

saying anything to the American delegates at the peace parley in London about coming home right now. The battleship thing hasn't been touched on yet; and, besides, it's only a few weeks until the Derby. And after the Derby comes Ascot. How could any reasonable being expect the delegates to give up on reaching a parity before the Derby and Ascot are over.

If we were an American delegate living in England, do you suppose we would go out and sink battleships and have the job all over before the Derby is run? With all our expenses being paid by good old Uncle Sam? Not on your life. We'd stay over for Cowes and Goodwood, the shooting in Scotland, and ye olde English Christmas.

And, besides, the new tariff bill is going in effect very soon. We have it on absolutely reliable authority (Democratic) that the new bill will add five billion dollars a year to the cost of living. Why would an American delegate want to come back to a home where he has to drink whatsit instead of the champagne he has in London; where he has to pay a slice of that five billion dollar increase in living; and where he'll miss the Derby (Darby, please, in English) and Ascot and Hyde Park in springtime? We not only say, WHY? Far worse, we say, HUH?

After all, our delegates are human. Gosh! Ask yourself if you would want to go ahead and sink battleships and rush home and miss the Derby (Darby). The answer is, NO, NO, NO!!!

SWAN SONG.

Quietly, too quietly,
The rain comes down . . .
Where is the storm that I thought to find?

Under me and over me,
Who wished to drown
In sordid splendor, is the peace of those gone blind. . . .

Blind to April's tears,
Deaf to April's laughter . . . .
What is there left to me? The course is run.

Not again in years
That wait hereafter,
The madness, fear and gayety. . . . Love, we are done.

THE FRENCH PEASANTS say the curse of the American potato bug has descended on their farms and is destroying their potatoes. They declare that two potato bugs (presumably a married pair) must have been brought over to France during the great war in the knapsack of a Yank soldier. We rather think the two potato bugs were taken to France by some American doughboy who had been there before and wanted to get revenge on the French cooties.

THREE CHEERS! THEY'VE GOT THROUGH THE "F'S"!

The secretary of war yesterday awarded citations to American soldiers for bravery at Fismes and Fismette in 1918. Courage, buddies! If the war department has worked down as far as the "F's" in twelve years some sweet day they'll get around to those who fought at Grand Pré, Guillemont Farm, Longuyon, Longwy, the Marne, Meuse, Montdidier, Nauroy, Ourcq, Quennemont Farm, Scheldt, Sergy, Seringes-et-Nesles, Soissons, Torcy, and Vendhulle. And at least you can be glad there were no battles commencing with "Z." Gosh! if it's taken twelve years to get through the "F's" it would be a long, long time before they got to the "Z's."

"CLAUDIUS!" Yessir, that's it. That's our latest suggestion for the name of the new planet. Of course the name is in honor of Claudius H. Huston, the new national chairman of the G. O. P. The name is extremely appropriate because the new planet cannot be seen by the naked eye and lots of the Republican bosses say they simply can't see Mr. Huston as chairman of the national committee, even with magnifying glasses. We had another idea, but we dropped it. We thought that in honor of Mr. Huston we might call the new planet Tennessee because Mr. Huston is from Tennessee. But there's no use in making the whole state of Tennessee mad. They'd think we were rubbing it in.

MAYBE IT'S 'CAUSE HENRY'S MADE A LADY OUT OF LIZZIE.

Oh, Henry Ford! Just a minute! We understand you are now manufacturing Ford tractors in Cork, Ireland, and shipping them to the U. S. A., where they come in free of duty as agricultural implements. Here's the point, Henry. You said if the 18th amendment is ever repealed you will close up all your auto shops around Detroit and not make those cunning little things in a land where beer, wine and such pernicious things are permitted. But, Henry, over in Ireland they make Dublin stout, and Guinness stout, and De War's whisky, and Duffy's pure malt whisky, and lots of things like that. Maybe it's all right to make farm tractors in a land where alcoholic likker is permitted, but not automobiles. But why, Henry? It would seem to us that what is wrong for a cute little tin Lizzie would be wrong for a farm tractor. Or maybe the farm tractor has more self-control and knows how to conduct itself properly in spite of the temptations of the Demon Rum than the carefree, jolly little tin Lizzie. But explanation it to us, Henry, explanation it!

NO LAST LINE TODAY! BECAUSE Mr. Legge says if the farmers cut their production of wheat twenty per cent then they will get twenty per cent more money. So if we cut our production of last lines twenty per cent (that is, no last line every fifth day), maybe we will get twenty per cent more money, too. All right, we've cut the last line out today, as you see. Now we are waiting for twenty per cent more money. How soon may we expect it, Mr. Legge? Hurry, please; shake a legge!

HOSPITAL MUSIC.

MISS ILSEN, writing in the Modern Hospital, proposes a new college degree. It is D. H. M.—director of hospital music. It would be the duty of a person with this degree to make hospital rounds and prescribe the music to which each patient should listen either over the radio or rendered on some musical instrument in the patient's room.

For instance, she suggests that one who sleeps poorly listen to a rendition of "O, Night of Love" from "Tales of Hoffman" just at bedtime. If this dosage proves to be not quite strong enough the next night the prescription would call for "Jocelyn's Lullaby," by Godard.

The program to be listened to should be chosen for each individual on the basis of his personality, his emotional state, and the nature of his disease. The method offers promise, especially in hospitals and sanitaria for the insane. It is more likely to have a trial in private sanitaria caring for people with mild mental disturbances.

It is most certain this proposal will meet with the retort: Nothing new. Every such hospital provides some music and even some dancing. The answer is that, while this is true, it is in the form of a shotgun prescription not based on proper fundamentals and not individualized nor even modified for different groups.

This proposal is largely based on scientific work done by Prof. C. E. Seashore of the University of Iowa. Prof. Seashore proposes determining the musical sensitivity of people. This is termed the musical profile. If this could be done with a general population radio programs could be planned with scientific prognostication of their success. Their salesmenship features could be augmented and also their beneficial effect on listeners. Individuals who knew their grouping could select the music which pleased them and benefited them.

While the cure of certain disorders and the prevention of emotional states and mental difficulties would be important, perhaps these other uses of the method would be more important still.

FALLEN ARCHES.

G. S. writes: Walking pigeontoed is not sufficient to aid one who works standing. The hours off duty are not long enough to allow enough walking. The subject should do fifty knee bends morning and night, enough to make all the muscles of the thighs ache for the first week or two. He should practice the habit of standing with the weight on the balls of the feet, toes in, habitually springing slightly up and down, all day. Add to this your pigeontoed walking and the standing worker can find relief. I speak from long experience as a hotel clerk. Standing became painful. The usual pigeontoed prescription was made. I had to add to it.

TENDENCY IN FAMILY.

H. E. R. writes:

1. Will you please give your advice on the following situation. A young couple are planning marriage. The boy is one of seven brothers, two of whom have the condition of cleft palate, and I believe that one of the cases was accompanied by harelip. The parents, five other brothers, and all other of the numerous relatives are perfectly normal. The couple planning marriage are physically perfect. What risk, if any, is the girl taking if she marries the man and has a family?

2. Is there any remedy for this condition if attended to when young?

REPLY.

1. The danger that children born to this couple will have the disorder is not great. However, there is a slight tendency in that direction in the boy's family.

2. Yes. Operation generally gives good results.

IT MAY WORK OUT LATER.

A. J. L. writes: Recently I had a tooth pulled out. The dentist failed to extract the whole of the tooth and left a part of the root in the gum. He said that in about six months it would grow out. Is this true?

REPLY.

It may work out. Removal may be advisable now or later.

MINOR INCURS DEBT.

Chicago, March 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A friend of mine, a minor, owes a man $21; $10 of this was borrowed. The rest was lost gambling. The man threatens to have the minor's wages garnished. 1. Can this be done? 2. Can the minor be made to pay?

1. Garnishment would not be in order until judgment has first been secured against the minor, and the fact of minority should be sufficient defense to prevent such a judgment. 2. See 1.

CIVIL EMPLOYEES' ADVANTAGE.

Chicago, March 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is there a law preventing a landlord from seeking redress from a city employé for the breaking of a lease? In other words, has a city employé advantages over a man employed by a private concern? J. L.

The only difference is that the wages of city employés cannot be reached by garnishment.

IMPLIED RENEWAL OF CONTRACT.

Chicago, March 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Will you kindly inform us of the status of a contract made out between an employer and an employé calling for five years' service at a fixed salary? The contract referred to was made out January, 1920, and the employer continued on the same terms up to March, 1930, and at that time decided to cut the salary of the employé. It is our understanding that if after the expiration of a contract of employment the service be continued, it will be presumed that the same is done upon the same terms and conditions as contained in the original contract.

E. H. B.

Since under the statute of frauds a contract that is not to be fully performed within one year must be in writing, the oral or implied renewal is only from year to year. Hence the cut can be made in January, 1931, but not before. We assume that there has been no express agreement as to the renewals.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 25, 1865.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Gen. Grant sent the following message to Gen. Dix: "Richmond papers are received. Following is a dispatch from North Carolina: 'It is understood in official circles that no fighting has occurred in North Carolina since March 19 and from all we can learn Sherman has attempted no advance since his check on that date. Gen. Hardee's victory on the 16th was a very important one, and, as regards the enemy, a most bloody affair. Gen. Johnston telegraphed that in that battle the confederate loss was 450 while that of the enemy was 3,300. The fight took place at Averysboro, on the Cape Fear river, half way between Fayetteville and Raleigh. Gen. Johnston's defeat of the enemy on the 19th was at Bentonville.'"

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Sutlers and others who have returned from Grant's army report everything is activity, and a movement is hourly expected. Rumors of the evacuation of Richmond continue, coupled with the statement that Lee is marching rapidly to unite with Johnston to make a concentrated attack on Sherman.

MOBILE BAY.—[March 16, via Cairo.]—The Union attack on Mobile began this morning. Five monitors attacked two of the batteries defending the city. Two of the monitors silenced the batteries, driving the men from their guns.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Jackson's guerrillas hanged two more Negroes near Columbia in Boone county and attached labels to their bodies stating they were hanged for not having a master's pass.

CAIRO.—The rebel Gen. Slaughter has prohibited the circulation of any newspaper in Texas.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Republican says: "A gentleman from Richmond reports that the rebels admit that the damage done by Sheridan in his recent raids amounts to $50,000,000."

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 25, 1900.

CHICAGO. — James Dunlap, whom the police identify as the Northampton, Mass., bank robber, and one of the most notorious safeblowers known to the country's criminal history, was arrested in his apartment, 3252 Wabash avenue. Chicago police expect to connect him with numerous bank robbing operations near this city. Dunlap came here several years ago, long after he severed his connection with the gang which looted eastern banks, culminating its operations with the Northampton robbery on Jan. 25, 1876, in which the robbers secured $1,600,000 in securities and cash. He and one other of the band served prison sentences for the crime. He has lived in luxury in Chicago. When arrested he had a complete safeblowing outfit in his possession.

CHICAGO.—The city council passed the budget for the current year. It authorizes expenditures aggregating $3,112,694 in excess of the estimated largest receipts the city can secure during the year from taxes, miscellaneous receipts, and the water fund.

NEW YORK.—In the presence of an immense crowd, and with speeches by distinguished men, earth was turned and work was actually begun on New York's underground railway. After the ceremony people fought for the earth and stones taken from the spot before the city hall, where a tablet commemorating the event was laid.

NOTRE DAME, Ind. — John A. Creighton of Omaha, Neb., will receive the Laetare medal from the University of Notre Dame this year. The medal is a recognition of services rendered by the laity in behalf of religion, education, and morality. Creighton is one of the pioneers of Omaha and he has made many gifts to Catholic institutions.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 25, 1920.

CHICAGO.—By voting to increase salaries of the 18,050 city employés, including policemen and firemen, approximately 10 per cent, and to discharge no civil service employés, the city council staved off—temporarily at least—the financial and strike crisis facing the city. Neither city officials nor the bankers would make a guess last night as to where the $4,000,000 which the council voted to spend is to be obtained.

CHICAGO.—Officials of Carpenters' union, local No. 434, yesterday united the erection of Chicago's first portable house at 103d street and Perry avenue by calling the carpenters, all of whom were union men, off the job just as the first ready made sections of the building were to be put in place. Thus was stopped the first effort to end the high rent conditions through the housing of families in quickly erected dwellings.

LEXINGTON, Ky.—While relatives of Paul Little, 12 years old, son of E. T. Little, Lexington capitalist, were searching for him following his disappearance late today, a note was received at the little home saying the boy was being held for a ransom supposed to be $25,000.

BERLIN.—Berlin and portions of Germany outside of the Ruhr basin are quiet, but the Ebert government admits that that part of the country in control of the Red army, which is well organized, officered and armed. Gen. von Secht has ordered all available troops against the Red cities, but they are insufficient to compel the Reds to disarm.

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

MEXICAN IMMIGRATION.

Chicago, March 21.—I was very much interested in reading your editorial regarding the limitation of Mexican immigration. The principal opponents of the position taken by you seem to be such interests as the beet sugar industry, employing large numbers of Mexican laborers in various parts of the United States.

This situation parallels in some respects that which prevailed during the long period when the south was importing thousands of African slaves, with little thought of the tragic consequences of implanting an alien race simply because it was economically advisable to utilize such labor. The beet sugar industry is already receiving more tariff protection than it should have. Some sugar interests have gone so far as to say that no import duty on sugar that the American people can reasonably be expected to bear is sufficient to bring prosperity to the industry, but that some sort of bounty must eventually be established in favor of the sugar producer.

It is needless to say that any industry that requires, in addition to heavy tariff protection, the importation of cheap foreign labor is not one to benefit the country. Such an industry is obviously artificial and exotic.

Since our country cannot expect to become entirely self-sufficient, isn't it advisable for us to try to produce the world's automobiles, machinery, etc., in which we are specialists, and let Cuba produce our sugar if she can do it at half our production cost?

I feel that for many years to come American import duties as a whole will show a declining tendency with the exception of those to appear in the pending tariff bill. PAUL J. HOGAN.

UNEMPLOYMENT.

Crown Point, Ind., March 21.—I venture to state that if pressure of public opinion could be brought to bear upon the employers in our Calumet region to replace the alien Mexicans with American citizens we would have no unemployment. M. K. CHRISTY.

IN DANIELS' STATE.

Harvard, Ill., March 20.—I was greatly amused at the remarks of our good friend Josephus Daniels anent prohibition.

Just before the 18th amendment went into effect I lived in a small city in North Carolina for over one year. At that time there was not one speakeasy in town and it was necessary to travel quite a distance into the mountains to obtain liquor.

I was in the same city for one week in January last and drank liquor in nine places on the main street within a distance of three blocks, and it was good old "mountain dew."

Prohibition has certainly improved conditions in Mr. Daniels' home state.

A TRAVELER.

SPECIAL DELIVERY BOYS.

Chicago, March 20.—Special delivery boys, whose ages range from sixteen to twenty-one, work every day, including Sundays and holidays, with but one Sunday a month off duty. I believe they are the only employés in the postal service who have but one day off duty in the month.

I read both your editorials in behalf of the mail carriers, who are soliciting a salary increase and a half day off on Saturdays. I think they deserve both the increase in salary and the half day off. LAURA FLYNN.

DISPOSING OF BOOTLEGGERS.

Chicago, March 18.—Your correspondent in Hammond wishes to invite her Kansas relatives to our World's Fair in '33, but is apprehensive on account of the Chicago gangsters. Please inform her Kansas relatives to get rid of prohibition and there won't be any bootleggers anywhere in this country.

E. V. DE M.

TWO GREAT EVILS!

Chicago, March 19.—When you speak of the present depression in our vaunted prosperity you must not overlook two great evils with which our country is accursed—the merger evil and the chainizing evil. If nothing is done to curb these unpatriotic as well as boneheaded practices, then no number of conferences and no amount of optimism will save us. T. S.

YES.

Chicago, March 18.—Don't you think we should have a law forcing those in charge of special assessments, etc., to send out the bills to the property owners when they are becoming due just as they do tax bills when we are running along in regular routine? Then the small owner would save time, effort and temper. MRS. M. E. NASH.

ON THE TRAIL OF THE SQUICKET.

Chicago, March 19.—I am intrigued with the articles on squicket stones in your Vox Pop column.

In looking over my notes on the several voyages I have made I find that in 1879 while I was a seaman on the S. S. Bear, which at that time was making an exploration for the National museum, we stopped at an island in the Philippine group which at that time suffered from the name of La Isla Falsa. We found after draining one of the mountain lakes a squicket stone of gigantic size. Later on the same voyage we touched at the coast of Africa and sent a small group into the Sahara desert, when on a little known oasis named El Bhul we found another squicket stone some twenty feet high. The peculiar thing about these stones was that they were shaped like a harp and authorities on squickets claim these were probably erected by Hegon O'Regon on some earlier voyage than those found in Iceland. W. S. GARVA.

ADVICE TO MR. COMISKEY.

Chicago, March 22.—Tell this great old Comiskey to climb down out of the crabapple tree and talk turkey to the Shires kid pretty quick. Things have changed a lot since last summer.

Shires was just a rotter, it looked like, when he began abusing both the Volstead act and innocent noses. But the kid surprised us. Enlisting as a rookie in an entirely different arena of sport, he not only took the usual socks on the nose but an additional weight of customers' raxs—and always came through grinning. Then at the showdown with the big judge he sacrificed the financial chance of a lifetime—for what? For the opportunity to clean his slate as a ball player this year.

But the quality of Comiskey mercy is badly strained. Comiskey, anxious by hitting below the belt; by digging up a skeleton that should have been laid, if at all, long ago, and that was duly pursued, dissected, buried, and, it is to fairness, generally forgotten, three functioning of the authorities involved at that time.

There are thousands of us who haven't time or cash to attend ball games regularly enough to know the team and who find a mere match between strangers uninteresting. But we will shell out to see a personality in action—whether it's Babe Ruth or Shires or Lindbergh or Greta Garbo. So we'd like to see a square deal for the kid and a break for the occasional customer, too. G. M. K.

A SIMILARITY OF NAMES.

Chicago, March 18.—I did not compose the letter about Mrs. Willebrandt which you published over my name last week. Probably a forgery. My views are opposite to those contained therein. The TRIBUNE'S obsession against prohibition I consider as the joke of the ages. The bad it has misled the ignorant, the weak, and the blind; increased crime, disrespect for law, made more drunkard graves, and given aid and comfort to the enemies of our country and its laws and constitution. It is full of treason and nullification, if not a joke.

EDWARD VAIL,
4242 North Hermitage avenue.

THE BRITISH NAVY.

Chicago, March 18.—What authority has the Hoover administration to support the British attempt to maintain a navy twice the size of any other European power? Is not that a matter for congress? J. BRUNS.

THE CURE.

Chicago, March 20.—Three things stare the people of the United States in the face:

Unemployment.
Poor prices of farm products.
High taxes.

One common sense act on the part of congress could alleviate all three with one shot:

Modify the Volstead act so as to allow for the manufacture and distribution of light wines and beers.

Does the United States congress have to be hit over the head in order to see this? H. F.

BOOTLEGGING.

Chicago, March 19.—It's rather amusing, don't you think? I mean the howling that's going on because Russia is making them bootleg their religion, many of the howlers being the same ones who are making us bootleg our whisky. Isn't the same element of personal rights involved? S. C. ASHLEY.

CAPONE'S DOINGS.

Chicago, March 18.—It's nice that Taft died earlier in the month. Had he died this week we might not have heard much about it, for the front pages have been given over to Capone and his famous "release and the back page to huge pictures of Capone. A.

PLAN SEVEN HOUR AIR PASSENGER SERVICE TO N. Y.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

Plans for the first air passenger service between Chicago and New York, which will cut 13 hours from the present train time and carry travelers through the loop and Manhattan in less than seven hours, were announced yesterday by officials of National Air Transport, operators of the Chicago-New York segment of the transcontinental air mail trunk line.

In addition, the mail operators plan to fly passengers from Dallas and Fort Worth to Chicago by way of Tulsa and Kansas City in eight hours, placing the southwest within 15 flying hours of New York.

The National Air Transport passenger line will fill an important gap in the air line network of the United States, officials said yesterday. Within the last two years passenger service has extended to every important population center in the country, but passenger carrying between the two largest cities has never been attempted, principally because of the difficulties presented in flying over the Alleghenies.

A year ago National Air Transport surveyed the route for passenger carrying, bought a fleet of tri-motored planes and flew them over the route.

What type of plane will be used in the new service was not disclosed by the officials, but the announcement stated that the ships would be capable of traveling at a cruising speed of 140 miles an hour.

The new service will follow the present mail route from Chicago to Cleveland, Toledo and New York.

National Air Transport's decision to enter the passenger carrying business is believed to have been made in anticipation of favorable action on the Watres bill, now pending before congress, and the opening of the line, it was said, awaits congressional action on the bill. The bill will permit mail carrying by passenger planes for the first time.

SIGN ZEP CONTRACT

New York, March 24.—(AP)—Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City company, and Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, tonight announced the signing of contracts with prominent financial and aircraft interests in the United States and Europe for the establishment of a lighter than air mail and passenger line across the Atlantic.

The contracts were signed by the International Zeppelin Transport Co., formed late last year in Delaware, and by the following other concerns:

The National City company, the Goodyear Zeppelin company; Luftschiffbau Zeppelin [the German Zeppelin company]; the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals company, a subsidiary of the Union Carbide company; the United Aircraft corporation, the largest aircraft combine in the country, and the Aluminum company of America.

The announcement was interpreted as clearing away all doubt that plans for the trans-Atlantic airship service, discussed for some time, would be pushed forward.

Chicago Pilot, 2 Others Injured in Plane Crash

A Chicago pilot and two passengers were injured in an airplane accident near Carrollton, Miss., yesterday, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Memphis, Tenn. The pilot was James Templeton, 23 years old, flying for the Curtiss-Wright flying service. He was reported to have suffered a broken hip. W. O. Rutledge, 25 years old, of McComb, Miss., suffered a broken arm and F. V. Adriance, the co-pilot, who was said to be a resident of New Jersey, was bruised. The plane left Gulfport, Miss., yesterday morning for Chicago.

MOVIE ACTOR'S PLANE PLUNGES TRIO TO DEATH

Los Angeles, Cal., March 24.—(AP)—Wallace Beery's biplane crashed in flames near Alhambra, Los Angeles suburb, today, three occupants being instantly killed. The motion picture actor was not in the ship. The victims were identified as George Maves, 23, pilot; Lynn H. Hayes, 26, and Mrs. Cythia Maves, wife of the pilot.

The airplane left United airport at Burbank, north of here, and went into a tail spin a few miles out, nosing down and striking a field with terrific impact, the motor still running. Gasoline from tanks ripped open by the impact ignited and set the wreckage afire before the scores of spectators on Valley boulevard were able to reach the scene. The bodies of the victims were seen within the smashed burning cabin, and indications were that all were killed instantly.

Maves was the personal pilot of Wallace Beery. Hayes also was a pilot, living in Westwood, a suburb, and was married and the father of two children. The Maves had no children.

PILOT FROM ILLINOIS.

Maves was born in Evanston and moved with his folks to La Grange, where he had been a resident for the most part of his life. His wife, the former Miss Cynthia Darneille, 19 years old, lived in Los Angeles, whence she moved from Washington, D. C. They were married on May 18, 1929. Maves' father, William Maves, 319 Spring avenue, La Grange, was awaiting further advices from Los Angeles last night before leaving for Los Angeles to claim the bodies of his son and daughter-in-law.

WOMAN TELLS HOW SHE FOOLED POLICE OF PARIS

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, March 24.—Not since Leon Daudet escaped from the Santé prison by a faked phone call from the ministry of justice has Paris enjoyed such a politico-legal comedy as has been furnished in the last 24 hours by Mme. Hanau, woman financier jailed over a year ago in the bucketshop scandal of the Gazette du Franc.

Hoping to draw attention here to her plight of remaining in jail more than a year without a final hearing, Mme. Hanau 17 days ago began a hunger strike which she maintained until she was in such a weakened condition it was though advisable to remove her from the St. Lazare women's prison to the Cochin hospital where yesterday morning physicians resorted to forcible feeding.

Though weakened by her protracted fast, Mme. Hanau astonished her guards by escaping from the hospital last night and appearing at the prison, demanding readmittance to her cell in protest against indignities to which she was subjected at the hospital.

Official Linked with Escape.

She gave a lurid account of this exploit today, her attorney declaring she fainted several times from her exertions. According to her statement, she went from the hospital to the prison in a taxi, but it was currently reported today she was aided in her escape by an automobile belonging to M. Mouthon, one of the principal officials in the justice ministry.

A special meeting of the police judiciary commission had been called this afternoon to deliberate Mme. Hanau's status when it received a new shock, as it was discovered that 56 documents relating to the Gazette du Franc investigation had been stolen from a safe in the prosecuting attorney's office.

To cap the climax the key to the safe had disappeared. It was received in the mail tonight addressed to Raoul Peret, minister of justice, with a note apologizing for liberties taken.

"Disgusted by the violence I had to endure at the hospital," Mme. Hanau said, "I decided I preferred my prison cell."

Escaped Unrecognized.

Though guards were outside her door, she dressed, tied a sheet to a radiator, and slid down into the inside courtyard of the hospital. There, she says, she fainted, but, recovering, passed out the main entrance unrecognized, though several persons saw her. She says she then hailed a taxi and drove to a café, where she telephoned her attorney.

Afterward in another taxi she went to the postoffice and mailed a letter addressed to M. Mouthon, head of criminal affairs in the department of justice, who is an old intimate friend, asking him to intercede in her behalf and permit her to remain in the prison.

Afterward in a third taxi, while half conscious, she was brought to the prison, where she was allowed to pass the night in a cell.

U. S. Too Rich to Be Loved, Owen Young Tells Collegians

Berkeley, Cal., March 24.—(AP)—Dealing largely with the reparations plan which he was instrumental in drafting, Owen D. Young of New York delivered the sixty-second University of California Charter day address here today.

He explained the parts politics and economics had played in settling the obligations incurred by the nations during the world war. Politics he delineated as the "gaudy mistress" of the world, eternally at outs with economics, the force which pays the bills and keeps the wheels turning.

"I have great confidence in Germany's ability to pay, although only time will tell whether the burden placed upon her shoulders is too great for her to bear," he said.

Thinks Isolation Impossible.

"Isolation of America, either economic or political, is impossible. Let no man think that the living standards of the country can be permanently maintained at a measurably higher level than those of other civilized nations.

"America is too rich to be loved. She is well off enough to be envied."

The speaker pointed out that under the Paris plan the creditor nations have undertaken to collect from Germany a sum approximately 50 per cent in excess of their aggregate debts to the United States.

"Each of these countries, you will remember, had protested against the burden of their indebtedness to the United States, even under the favorable debt settlements made," said Mr. Young.

"Yet they have paid Germany the compliment of assuming that she can bear the burden of them all, together with a substantial premium."

Her Resources Are Human.

"She has not a large supply of what the world calls basic raw material," he added. "She has in large measure, however, a supply of that kind of raw material too little taken into account in the world's affairs, namely, a capacity for scientific research, and the ability to apply it and organize it in production.

"We should all remember that the discipline of hard work and heavy responsibility is likely to do much for a people as well as for an individual. Let no man be sure, let no nation be sure, merely because he is a creditor of some one else's hard labor, that therefore he is strong and will always remain so."

Turkish Steamer Rescues 190 from Liner on Rocks

200,000 Yorkshire Textile Workers Reject Wage Cut

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 24.—A critical situation affecting 200,000 workers has developed in the Yorkshire wool and textile industry. Defying the advice of the largest union, the workers have decisively rejected employers' proposals for a cut in wages, according to the figures of the ballot available tonight.

COURT RULES OLD AUSTRIAN MONEY DOWN AND OUT

Pre-War Investors Lose Battle for Savings.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, March 24.—A crown is a crown even though it may have tumbled from its pre-war value of 20 cents to one-seven hundredths of a copper penny, the Austrian court of appeals ruled yesterday.

The decision is significant because it blasts any small hopes thousands of investors may have had of recovering something for the pre-war gold standard money they put in Austro-Hungarian stocks and bonds.

Most of those coupons, issued in the old Krone or crown have now been paid off at one-fourteen thousands of their original value for the crown was stabilized at that ratio when the bottom fell out of it and the now respectable Austrian schilling which is worth about 14 American cents was substituted in its place.

Five years ago two owners of the state railway bonds presented them at a Vienna bank for payment. For each bond of 400 crowns [formerly worth $80] they were offered four groschen. A groschen is one hundredth part of a schilling and four of them are worth about half an American cent.

Eventually the owners went to court and after having their suit thrown out by the lower court, won in a higher court.

The state railways then took the case to the court of appeals which decided that all loans which are not made payable in gold or in a foreign currency may be redeemed in banknotes no matter how worthless the latter may be.

This decision upheld the original decree made by the Socialist finance minister Schumpeter in 1920 when Austria was starving and in a state of chaos. He put through parliament a decree making all loans convertible into paper crowns.

"The Thinking Fellow Calls a Yellow"

OPEN BOOK
on small loans
$100 to $300

Here are the facts on how much you should pay when you borrow $100 to $300—2½% on unpaid principal—no more.

"How much interest should I pay when I borrow $100 to $300?" Borrowers everywhere have come to "Household" offices asking this question.

Our answer to them is the same as to you—2½% a month on the unpaid principal on loans of $100 to $300. And here are the reasons in plain words—facts which hundreds of thousands now know and appreciate—facts which are bringing hosts of borrowers to the Household Finance Corporation for amounts from $100 to $300 at 2½% interest per month:

So many people now know about the better loan service the Household Finance Corporation offers that "Household" can afford to limit its loans to those of the higher class—from $100 to $300. As a result "Household" has been able to reduce its interest rate to 2½% per month, thus passing on to its customers a saving of nearly one-third which this policy makes possible.

At the same time, "Household" is aware that loans of less than $100 and certain classes of loans up to $300 require a rate of 3½%. But why should you, if you need a loan of $100 to $300, help pay the greater cost of making poorer classes of loans by borrowing at 3½% when "Household" offers you its service at 2½% per month?

WHAT YOU PAY

Amount of loan	Time	Total Cost
$100	4 months	$ 6.25
200	4 months	12.50
300	4 months	18.75

Borrow from "Household" and save 1% a month

Here's the "Household" Plan
No Outside Signers—No Fees—No Deductions

The "Household" Plan enables you to get the money you need—$100 to $300—without delay. When you borrow $100 you get $100. All loans are made on the basis of repayment in twenty months.

But you may repay any time before that, and interest is charged only on the unpaid principal.

For instance, under the "Household" Plan, you can borrow $200 for thirty days at a total cost of $5.00.

Before You Borrow See Household

When you need extra money, come in, write or phone and let us explain the "Household" Plan.

HUNT SWINDLERS WHO TOOK $27,000 FROM EX-TEACHER

Police throughout the country were warned yesterday to be on the alert for three men and a woman who swindled Edward J. Eldridge, 65 years old, formerly of 809 Garfield avenue, Oak Park, of $27,000 at Reno, Nev., Jan. 24.

Eldridge told Lieut. William Crott at the detective bureau that he had retired after many years as a teacher at the John Worthy school, sold his Oak Park home, and set out with his wife and their life savings to drive to California. At El Paso, Tex., they met the confidence men, who talked of great winnings on the stock market and persuaded him to take some of their tips. Eldridge won $200,000 on paper, and they said that since he had been playing on credit, it would be necessary for him to post collateral with a "broker" at Reno before he could collect his winnings.

Eldridge turned over his money to the supposed broker and proceeded to New Orleans, where he was to meet his friends and collect. They did not appear.

Indigestion
Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.

WHERE ONE NEWSPAPER GIVES THOROUGH COVERAGE

MARKETS, today, are important in ratio to a manufacturer's ability to sell profitably therein. When trading centers are measured by the economy, effectiveness and thoroughness of their newspaper coverage—Philadelphia stands first in sales importance.

For here, in America's Third Largest Market, is a newspaper condition which exists in no other metropolitan area: one newspaper being read by practically a whole people. The Evening Bulletin is the newspaper of Philadelphia business . . . of the home.

The Bulletin, in six days, carries more retail store advertisements than all other Philadelphia newspapers, daily and Sunday combined, and more national and local display lineage than any Philadelphia seven-day newspaper.

The Bulletin has more than twice the circulation of any other evening newspaper, and nearly as great a total as all morning papers . . . all secured without premium or contest, without scare headline or lurid display.

The influence it exerts over its community attests how carefully The Evening Bulletin has builded through a third of a century.

Today, scarcely a home is without its daily copy of The Bulletin: a market of 572,600 homes; a circulation of 555,711 copies daily, almost entirely concentrated in this area.

PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia—a great natural market: a city of individual homes that consume almost a billion dollars' worth of merchandise yearly; a city where diverse manufacturing results in unusually steady employment. A city where $280,000,000 is at present being expended in a vast building program; a city where extensive railroad facilities, and a great tidewater port, with direct connection between freight car and ship and with lower rates, afford economical distribution. And above all! A city where one newspaper is read in nearly every home throughout this entire metropolitan area.

BANKERS TO HAVE CAR MERGER PLAN READY THIS WEEK

Transit Lawyers to Meet Aldermen Tomorrow.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The bankers' committee—Frank O. Wetmore, Harry L. Stuart, and Arthur Reynolds—expects to complete its plan this week for the condsolidation and reorganization of the surface and elevated lines into one company. Then will begin the task of submitting it to the 27 different variety of security holders, and gaining their approval.

One or two decisions will probably be made tomorrow on essentials. At the same time the bankers' committee will pass upon various features of the proposal of Albert W. Harris, chairman of the protective committee for the first mortgage bondholders of the west and north side surface lines.

Car Attorneys on Job.

The lawyers for the companies are completing their review and criticism of the proposed draft of franchise. The lawyers with their own engineers and city engineers worked for three days last week. They resumed the task yesterday, and have promised to be ready to confer with the city's lawyers and Ald. James B. Bowler's transit franchise subcommittee tomorrow.

Walter L. Fisher, legal adviser for Federal Judge Wilkerson—in whose court a receivership for the Chicago Railways company is pending—is insisting that the city must prepare and pass a subway ordinance at the same time it considers the indeterminate franchise.

Faherty Calls Hearing.

Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, has called a public hearing on a State street subway for Thursday. He has asked a large number of property owners to be present and express their views.

Aldermen said yesterday that they are not fathering the Faherty program. A rumor was spread that Mayor Thompson approves of Faherty's plans, although this was denied by one of the mayor's close friends.

Two Union Officials Shot in Cleveland Courtroom

Cleveland, O., March 24.—(AP)—Two officials of the Ladies' Garment Workers' union were shot and slightly wounded here today in the courtroom of Common Pleas Judge Fred H. Wolf. They were Charles Kreindler, secretary of the union's joint board here, and Louis Friend, chairman of the board.

Joseph Bloomfield, brother of Sol Bloomfield, a clothing manufacturer, who had been instrumental in bringing contempt of court proceedings against 22 pickets of the union, was held after the shooting by police.

WORLD GROWING BETTER, MELLON BELIEVES AT 75

Congratulations Pour In on Birthday.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 24.—(AP)—Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, today observed the 75th anniversary of his birth, and his three-quarters of a century of life, in his own words, "has been, and still is, both full and interesting."

Appearing like a man of many years younger, the custodian of the nation's financial destinies came to Pittsburgh—his home—to celebrate the day.

There was nothing much special to mark the occasion excepting hundreds of congratulatory messages from all over the world and some calls from his Pittsburgh friends. Interviewers were told, the secretary's words being accompanied by a twinkle in the eye, that he couldn't say much about his birthday, but that they should come around when he attained the century mark and he would have something to talk about.

Tonight a small group of old personal friends and neighbors honored the secretary at a private dinner at the Pittsburgh Country club.

Mr. Mellon reviewed the history of Pittsburgh and the world during the last seventy-five years, and described it as a period that "has carried mankind forward, not backward, and has raised the whole plane of civilization to a higher level."

"What has been accomplished, it seems to me, in the period which we have been considering is that the average person in this country now commands the means of a comfortable subsistence to a greater extent and with less effort than ever before in the history of the world," Mr. Mellon said.

"I do not mean to say that we have attained equality of opportunity. No nation ever has attained it. But here in America, if we have not yet achieved that aim towards which we have been striving, at least we are on the way toward realizing it eventually, nor have we any reason to be dissatisfied with our present rate of progress."

HOOVER, BRITISH ENVOY PLEAD FOR WORLD PEACE

Lindsay Takes Credentials to White House.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—Closer coöperation between the United States and Great Britain in the interests of world peace was urged today by President Hoover and Sir Ronald Lindsay, the new British ambassador to the United States.

In presenting his letters of credence at the White House Sir Ronald stated that it was the earnest desire of his majesty's government that relations of the utmost cordiality and a spirit of close coöperation should prevail between the American and British peoples.

The British ambassador said that the principal task of diplomacy today is that of making war impossible.

Now Regarded Practical.

"What for centuries has been the dream of poets and idealists has come to be regarded by practical men as a possibility of practical politics," the ambassador said.

"In this task the coöperation of all governments is necessary; but no cooperation is more important and none more completely assured than that which so happily exist between the government of the United States and that of the United Kingdom. The naval disarmament conference now sitting in London is a part of this inspiring effort and it is the hope of my government that it will result in an agreement satisfactory to all its participants and marking a long step forward along the path to permanent peace."

In responding President Hoover welcomed Ambassador Lindsay to the United States, but did not mention the London naval conference.

Most Friendly Relations.

"It is the established policy of the United States, as it is the sincere purpose of the American people, to promote the closest and most friendly relations between these two nations," Mr. Hoover said. "Your predecessor, Sir Esme Howard, has won a peculiar place in the hearts of the Americans by his earnest labors to further the coöperation between our peoples in the cause of world peace.

"It is my pleasure to anticipate in your person, Mr. Ambassador, a worthy successor in the cause which all right thinking Britons and Americans have at heart."

THE wisest investment is always the one that has lasting worth. This is especially true of the investment you make in your home. It pays to protect it against depreciation in every way that you can. For this reason, Mr. McLaughlin and other noted bankers advise you to build for permanency, with the best materials.

Copper flashings, gutters and downspouts, Brass or Copper pipe and solid Brass or Bronze hardware and lighting fixtures give lasting, trouble-free service. They cannot rust. They do not depreciate in value or service.

The slightly higher initial cost of these rust-proof materials is always more than justified by the long-term, maintenance-free service that they render.

The Building Service Department of the COPPER & BRASS RESEARCH ASSOCIATION, 25 Broadway, New York, will be glad to advise you without charge about the uses and proper application of these metals.

2. New processed steel; new blade resists rust
3. Cut-out corners of blade prevent "razor pull"
4. To clean, turn guard at right angles... then re-tighten... rinse... shake dry
5. New shape guard channel gives full shaving clearance
6. New shape guard teeth meet skin smoothly, naturally
7. No projecting posts to dull blade edges
8. Reinforced razor corners prevent damage if dropped
9. Square blade ends safer to handle
10. Shaves easier around mouth, nose, ears
11. New blades same price as old
12. New razor, 24K. gold-plated, with one new blade, in case, $1.00

ISN'T it worth the price of a few smokes to have lifetime shaving comfort?

Men tell us they'd pay many times one dollar rather than give up their New Gillette Blade and Razor. This new shaving tool won't "pull," can't "pull"—even if you abuse it, drop it on the basin, roll it on the floor.

Here's why:—

Gillette engineers found that "razor pull" is caused by dropping a razor and denting the corners. In a precision instrument such as the Gillette Razor, a slight nick may throw the blade out of alignment.

To meet this trouble, the entire razor and blade was redesigned at many points. The corners of the razor cap are reinforced with heavy metal lugs. Even if you should manage to dent this extra thickness of metal, you still won't throw the blade out of alignment. Why? Because all four corners of the new blade are cut out. The blade is under no pressure at the corners when cap and guard clamp together.

Now when you're through shaving, all you do is shift guard at right angles, re-tighten, and rinse under hot running water. No more taking the razor apart to wipe it. The blade is processed to resist rust. Just shake thoroughly and place on shelf. No more cut towels. No more wasted time.

The position posts too—which accidentally nicked more than one good blade edge—these are gone. Please note, too, how the guard teeth are rounded back farther to meet the skin more smoothly, and that the ends of the blade are squared off for safer handling with wet fingers and for closer shaving around the difficult corners of mouth, nose and ears.

Visit your Gillette dealer tomorrow. We are making every effort to fill the heavy demands for the new razor, but if you cannot get one at once, you can use the new blade in your old Gillette until the new model is available at your dealer's.

COURT ORDERS FORMAL CHARGE IN CAFE SHOOTING

Claims Voiler Is Wanted for Gem Theft.

Writs of habeas corpus in the Green Mill café shooting episode were asked yesterday for Harry O. Voiler, who presented Texas Guinan to Chicago night clubs, and Arthur Reed, who acted as bodyguard for Voiler. The two are accused of adding a few pistol shots to the whoopee of the night club early Sunday morning, with Leon Sweitzer, former manager of the Green Mill, as their target.

Judge Philip Finnegan, to whom the petition for their release was presented, directed Assistant State's Attorney Abraham Marovitz to file charges against the pair this morning or release them. Marovitz said he would seek their indictment as one of the first orders of business today.

Wanted in Ohio, Claim

"Voiler is an ex-convict, having been sentenced in Michigan for robbery," Marovitz said. "He is now wanted for robbery in Cincinnati, O., a jewel robbery, I believe it was. Voiler came to Chicago after his release from the penitentiary.

"He became associated with Irving Schlig and Harry Berman, notorious jewel thieves, who were found murdered early in 1925. They were wanted for a $100,000 jewel robbery in Ohio and were accused of other gem thefts. After the deaths of Schlig and Berman he became boss of a black and tan night club on the south side. Recently he became engaged in the theater ticket brokerage business and last year undertook the management of Miss Guinan.

"We're prepared to bring him to justice at last, he and his man, Reed, whom he hired two days after Reed's second release from a penitentiary. Reed served time for violation of the Mann act and for robbery."

Miss Guinan Prepares to Leave.

Miss Guinan, the internationally known night club hostess, who called her patrons suckers and made them like it, was preparing to pack up and return to New York. She attained unusual prominence there because of a dry law prosecution ordered by the then assistant attorney general, Mabel Willebrandt, and which resulted in an acquittal of the hostess. Her engagement in Chicago was to have terminated next Saturday, but the shooting of Sweitzer, who is still in a critical condition, precipitated her departure.

Police Commissioner Russell ordered the Green Mill closed Sunday night and yesterday he ordered the closing of the Little club, 975 North State street, owned by Sweitzer and Leonard Leon, formerly a professional bondsman. Sweitzer and Leon formerly operated the Green Mill but sublet it to Voiler for Miss Guinan, and the shooting was said to have resulted over Voiler's refusing to keep his agreement to pay the rent to May 1.

RICH DRUGGIST DENIES TALE OF HIS KIDNAPING

Kansas City, Mo., March 24.—(AP)—Michael H. Katz, millionaire drug company president, today denied published reports that he had been kidnaped from his motor car near his home in an exclusive residential district here last Tuesday and paid extortionists $100,000 for his release. His denial was corroborated by members of his family while the police and detective departments pushed an investigation against the mass of silence surrounding the alleged daylight abduction.

Katz late today consented to a conference in his office with Police Chief John L. Miles and E. P. Boyle, chief of detectives, but the officers reported Katz was not present when they called.

The Kansas City Star says payment of the $100,000 was abetted by a promise of silence and that by Sunday reports of the alleged occurrence had drifted from the exclusive south side district to the haunts of gangland.

PREPARE FOR U. S. TO BUY INDIES, HOLLAND TOLD

Complaints of Americans Outlined by Professor.

BY PIET VAN 'T VEER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Holland, March 24.—The campaign in the United States for acquisition of the West Indian islands owned by European countries has attracted the attention of The Netherlands.

Prof. Sleeswyk, who recently visited the Dutch West Indies, has written several articles on the question for the Amsterdam Telegraph. He refers to the position of the American oil industry on the island of Aruba, pointing out that the United States is following events in the Caribbean with great interest.

The riots in Curacao, the fact that Venezuelan rebels took possession of an American ship, and other complaints by the Americans on Aruba concerning bad conditions has made a bad impression in the United States, he says.

Netherlands Refuse to Sell.

Prof. Sleeswyk regards acquisition by the United States of the Dutch West Indies as not too tragic. He declares that where there is smoke there is fire, and he finds it important for Holland to listen to the voices of the American press.

As to the possibility of purchase by the United States of the Dutch West Indies, Foreign Minister Doctor F. Beelaerts van Blokland referred to a recent statement by the Dutch colonial minister, who had said that the proposal clashes with the dignity of The Netherlands.

British Industries Face Ruin.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 24.—Unless substantial assistance is speedily forthcoming. Great Britain's colonial sugar industries in the West Indies and at Mauritius are faced with ruin. This is the gist of the report of the West Indian sugar commission. Several proposals are made in the report, but none include any suggestions that the islands should be sold to America.

WORLD'S GREATEST TRAVEL SYSTEM

THE CONVERTIBLE COUPE

FRANKLIN PROGRESSIVENESS GIVES THE WORLD THE MOST POWERFUL TYPE OF ENGINE

THE PIRATE TOURING

Aviation disregarded the anchoring traditions of motor cars and developed a superior type of power plant. And Franklin, with that same progressive spirit, has swept aside previous conceptions of motor car performance and developed an AIRPLANE-TYPE ENGINE—an engine that delivers the greatest power for cylinder capacity of all automobile power plants—an engine that has FLOWN THE SKIES and traveled the highways from coast to coast for dramatic and sensational new road records. No other motor car performance compares to Franklin airplane performance. Its great power remains at the peak throughout the longest, fastest runs and most grueling hill climbs—it never lets up—it never varies.

Riding is gliding. At every speed there's smoothness, quietness and comfort heretofore unknown in motor cars. Sixty, seventy, eighty in fourth speed—you cannot describe the thrill because the usual sensations which go with high speed are entirely lacking.

The 1930 Franklin gives you a glimpse of the motor car of the future. Not only is its performance advanced, but it introduces new beauty, new style innovations. Concealed running boards, embossed paneling, low hung doors, and slender gracefully arched hood give smartness to the new Franklin just as Patou or Chanel through subtle touches give smartness to a Paris creation.

You'll want to see the new Franklin—and you'll surely want to drive it. We invite you to do both.

WHERE Will You Spend Your Vacation?

For several weeks motorists have been planning long trips, and the touring bureaus of the Chicago Motor Club show by their reports that no matter what the weather forecasts may be, spring is in the air.

Have you thought about your summer holidays? Possibly a bungalow camp in the Canadian Rockies may be your choice, or a few weeks at a dude ranch in New Mexico may have attractions for you. Others will vote for an Eastern trip. The territory immortalized by Irving, and hallowed by the blood of the ragged heroic colonials, will have an appeal to all lovers of American history. Millions of traveling Americans will be found in every corner of this continent, from Canada to Mexico and from Cape Cod to Yosemite.

The choice is unlimited. Many will want to find a lake where the bass bite, others will prefer a mountain stream well stocked with trout, others will decide upon a seashore resort, while you may prefer a quaint old city with a historic background.

Make your plans now. Let us help you. Come to one of the touring bureaus of the Chicago Motor Club. The main touring bureau is downtown in our own building, and district branches are located in thirty convenient parts of Chicago and Cook county. Branches also serve our members in the sixty-one other counties of Illinois and northern Indiana.

Travel service is given members of the Chicago Motor Club by American Automobile Association clubs, which blanket the country. Through its affiliation with the A. A. A. the club assures its members of this service, not only in this country, but in European countries. When planning your European trip, let the Chicago Motor Club make arrangements for securing all the documents required for foreign travel.

Touring bureau service is one of the benefits of membership in the club. The information on roads is collected by our road cars, and by correspondents in every part of the country. When you call for touring information, you can feel certain that you are getting the best and the shortest route to your destination. Maps and logs are supplied. The touring bureau will help you to plan your trip, will tell you about the various beauty spots throughout the country, the hotel accommodations, and the nature of the roadways. Last year the touring bureaus of the club answered 310,267 calls for touring information.

The touring bureaus of the club cannot be influenced by any association, or by any group of hotels to route traffic over any particular road. The club has no interest, financial or otherwise, in any hotel. All year round road cars are gathering information on conditions, so that members may be routed over roads that the touring bureau knows are the best and shortest routes to any particular destination.

In addition to this service, you can obtain free mechanical first aid and towing service at any hour of the day or night; home district service, which attends to special conditions around your home, such as seeing to it that refuse is promptly removed; accident prevention work, which seeks to cut accidents, especially among school children, by means of safety posters and fostering schoolboy patrols; and bail bond service, which guarantees your appearance in traffic violation cases, where a bond not in excess of one hundred dollars is demanded.

Another benefit available to members is the insurance service, which gives you a valued form policy, insures accessories without additional cost, and which last year returned cash savings to subscribers amounting to $711,332.11 You receive a check for your share of the savings to do with as you please. There is a branch in your neighborhood. Write or call for further information.

1930 Coat Fashions

Youthful—Wearable And So Individual

At $65

These Coats Are From the Moderate Price Section

They present those features that tend to make coats youthful. The ever-present cape has many versions here. The new bolero and peplum effects are handled with skill. And straight-line coats wrap over with new ease. Imported woolens are used a great deal, as are the lightweight fabrics. The furs are of attractive quality. And so the coat mode, in this Section, is complete and at its best in Moderate Price version.

This Coat Is Youthfully Caped, $65

The Straight Coat with Fur Is Belted, $65

A high collar of Elizabeth Wolf (soft and luxurious) is used on this coat of imported tweed. It comes in blue, beige and green. Sizes for misses and women. Sketched center.

The Coat with Cape and Flat Fur Priced at $65

There is choice of two combinations—covert and galyac, and in wool crepe with galyac or broadtail. The diagonal closing tends to give a slender line. Sizes for women and misses. In black, navy blue, gray, and brown wool crepe.

After All—

The Print's The Important Frock Of the Season

And These Have Every Smart Fashion Note

$19.50

In the Moderate Price Frock Section

Prints have full sway in this Frock Section where fashions are Paris-inspired—where fabrics are of the finer quality, and careful workmanship is, of course, important in presenting both fabric and fashion to advantage. Here prints run the gamut of the new colors and designs that were presented this season—lovelier than ever they are, small designs widely spaced, sophisticated in composition. Others have soft lovely coloring and show imaginative designing.

Very Fine Prints Develop The Bolero Jacket, $19.50

This jacket is very youthful, giving a very slender line to the waist and hips. Black, navy, green, brown grounds display a delicate Spring-like print in this silk crepe. Sizes 14 to 44. Center.

The Sleeveless Frock—with Berthe and Jacket, $19.50

Printed Chiffon Frock with a Very Lovely Berthe, $19.50

It is very deep and comes to the waist, thereby caping the arms. The neckline has lace set in around its V line. And the full skirt is cut to be very slenderizing. Lovely blended colors. Sketched at the right above. Sizes 14 to 40.

MISS ORCUTT'S 78 CLIPS PAR, LEADS TOURNEY

Glenna Collett 2d in Midsouth Golf.

Southern Pines, N. C., March 24.—(AP)—Sinking a trail which clipped five strokes from women's par and came close to the standard figure for men, Miss Maureen Orcutt of Haworth, N. J., turned in a 78 here today to take the lead in the 54 hole mid-south women's golf tournament.

MAUREEN ORCUTT.

The brilliant round gave Miss Orcutt a two stroke lead over Glenna Collett, American champion. Miss Collett completed her round with a birdie three on the 18th hole to take second place from Miss Marian Bennett, the young star from New Britain, Conn., who had finished earlier in the day with an 81.

Mrs. Hill in 4th Place.

Fourth place went to Mrs. O. S. Hill, the veteran links stylist from Kansas City, who holds the trans-Mississippi title. She turned in an 82. Within striking distance of the medalist was Miss Louise Fordyce of Youngstown, O., with an 85.

Miss Helen Hicks of Hewlitt, L. I., who has been burning up the course here this season, was off form. She was off the fairway several times, and her putts on several greens rolled a short, resulting in her placing in a three cornered tie with Mrs. John Lewis of Chicago and Mrs. E. H. Baker of Boston, Mass., with 86.

Mrs. Richard Clemson of Middleton, Pa., with 88, was the only other entrant to break 90. Bracketed at 90 was Miss Edith Quier of Reading, Pa., who was unable to profit by playing equal with Glenna Collett; Mrs. F. G. Bentley of Lake Forest, Ill., and Mrs. Emmet French of Southern Pines.

Drives Net 769 Yards.

Miss Eleanor Barron of Southern Pines was the first prize for low net scores with 67. She shot a 95 and had a handicap of 28. Mrs. Fauntleroy was second with 76, Miss Bennett third with 77, and Miss Orcutt fourth, with 78. Miss Orcutt won the prize offered for the longest drives. Her three attempts netted 769 yards.

Tomorrow finds Miss Orcutt starting out the second round with Mrs. O. S. Hill, while Miss Orcutt is paired again with Miss Quier. The low scores follow:

Maureen Orcutt, Haworth, N. J.	38	40	78
Glenna Collett, New York	41	39	80
Marian Bennett, E. Britain Conn.	40	41	81

RISKO DEFEATS GIANT CAMPOLO IN TEN ROUNDS

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—Johnny Risko got even tonight. In Madison Square Garden, before 10,263 fans, he received a decision over Victorio Campolo, giant South American heavyweight although it was the opinion of the audience that Campolo had battered him through a majority of the ten rounds.

In their battle at Miami several weeks ago the situation was reversed, Campolo getting the decision after Risko apparently had earned it.

Tonight's gathering, which paid gate receipts of $49,421, was stunned when the verdict was announced. The fans booed and jeered to such length as to prevent the introduction of the principals in the semi-final bout which followed.

Referee Arthur Donovan voted for Risko and so did Judge George Patrick. Judge Charles F. Matison cast his ballot for Campolo.

The Cleveland veteran was the aggressor. He plunged recklessly, fearlessly, tirelessly at his foe and never relented in his plucky, almost foolishly offensive. But Campolo almost invariably met Risko's rushes with straight stopping right hand drives to the heart and body and frequently shot his punches to the head.

Referee Donovan found it necessary to warn Campolo repeatedly against the use of rabbit punches in close fighting. It was believed that the use of this illegal blow influenced the judges against Campolo.

CONFERT WINS BY K. O.

THE GUMPS—THE FUTURE GREAT

CUBS MARK TIME UNTIL PIRATES SERIES THURSDAY

Veteran Hurlers to Work Against Pittsburgh.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 24.—When the Pirates come to town this weekend Mr. Joe McCarthy of your Chicago Cubs is not going to welcome them as valued friends.

The Cubs' boss could easily be the genial host by letting his rookies hurl for the better part of the four days of strife slated between the two teams, but that is not his intention. The Pirates will be looked upon as the same common enemy they actually will be from April to October and to this end they will be permitted to look only at the best of the Chicago twirlers.

McCarthy, of course, has a double purpose in arranging this program for next Thursday to Sunday inclusive. For one thing he dislikes being whipped and the Pirates have whipped him so often that he is a bit peeved about it. Moreover he desires to ascertain just how his veteran moundmen stand as to physical condition. What they do against the Pittsburgh hitters should furnish the answer.

Will Send Pitchers Over Route.

The Cub boss, according to what he said today, not only intends to give the Pirates the best available in hurlers but plans on alloting a maximum of work for each.

McCarthy's original scheme was not to ask more than four or five innings from a regular hurler until the polishing up series at Kansas City three weeks hence but he now thinks he'll let Root, Malone, Bush, Carlson, or Blake go as far as they can in the Pirate games here. In other words some of them will be permitted to throw full games against the Buccos unless grief or weariness overtakes them in a lesser number of rounds.

Some of the veterans have already demonstrated they are just about ready for an assignment of regulation length. This is especially true of Root, Carlson, and Malone. Rush says he is ripe but the way the Angels smacked him Sunday indicated otherwise. Blake hasn't done enough to provide a real line on his condition, but the important thing to consider is that the entire five have no ailments and as long as they all are sound of body it is reasonable to expect the Cub hurling of 1930 will be as effective as that of last season which was a huge success until the world series was reached.

Bell's Arm Is Improving

The item of ball put forth to date by Lester Bell, the third sacker purchased from the Braves, hasn't been worth eight column lines in the public prints, but this doesn't mean the hot corner is again going to be a problem for McCarthy.

Bell is laboring under difficulties. The first week of training he couldn't heave a ball across the infield. He bounced 'em. Then he began to get them into Grimm's hands by arching his throws. Now he is able to line them just a bit if he doesn't have to hurry. But a hurried peg is liable to go any place. It was one of these things that cost Sunday's game with the Angels. His is one of those not unusual arms which cannot be hardened in a hurry. In another week, if the weather remains hot, he will begin to feel and act like a ball player.

There is sort of a race between Bell's arm and Hornsby's bum heel. So far it looks like it is going to be a dead heat. The Rajah claims after each workout that he notes some improvement but you think otherwise after watching him on the field. He moves around his position better than he did last fall but when running refuses to put on full speed. Even jogging down to first base brings on a limp, but he doesn't attach any importance to it. The Rajah is not easily worried.

Today for the Cubs was much like an off day at home during the regular season. McCarthy had the regulars and the Goofs who returned from their two days at Fresno out for about two hours of routine fielding and hitting. This was staged before one o'clock so that the athletes could devote the afternoon to plain loafing or visiting.

POT-POURRI.

CHICAGO has proved during the season just ending that it is a hockey city. If further evidence were needed, it was furnished Sunday night, when 17,476 spectators, said to be the world's largest hockey attendance, saw the Blackhawks perform.

Placing hockey among Chicago's winter sport fixtures has been accomplished against handicaps. It was well established in other cities before Maj. McLaughlin and associates undertook it here. It required courage, healthy financial courage, to obtain a franchise, players, and ice equipment. We have no permanent indoor ice rink and our players could not get adequate practice at home. Our teams were not consistent winners.

Still the Chicagoans interested kept reaching into their pockets until they obtained a measure of reward this season with a team which won enough games to earn a permanent following for the fastest of indoor sports. Sponsors of Chicago hockey are not even yet monetarily by a long way, but they may look to the future, with any kind of a break, with confidence.

De La Salle H. S. basketball five performed a notable achievement in annexing the national Catholic prep title for the second year in succession. Caliber of contending teams in these all-star tourneys is so high and the competition so keen that it requires a high grade outfit to win at any time. We congratulate the De La Salle boys and their coach.

Meantime April 15 and the opening of the baseball season is nearing.

THIS IS NEWS! BITES OPPONENT, BOXER SUSPENDED

New York, March 24.—(AP)—Three 30 day suspensions for fouling were handed out to boxers by the state athletic commission today, one of them for the offense of biting an opponent.

In the fourth round of a six round bout between Leroy Smith and Stanley Niemeck in Buffalo, March 17, the referee's report said, "Smith rushed Niemeck through the ropes and sunk his teeth in the body."

TRAINER CLEARED IN RACE SCANDAL; JOCKEY BARRED

New Orleans Stewards Open Investigation.

New Orleans, La., March 24.—[Special.]—Jefferson Park stewards today were investigating the weird ride of Jockey Palumbo on Galahad in the Proteus handicap Saturday. Galahad, a German bred horse, is from the Phil Reuter stable.

The race was won by Klingstone, and at one stage of it Jockey Palumbo let Galahad, the even money favorite, drop back fifteen lengths behind the leaders. When Palumbo returned to the scales he was greeted with boos from the crowd, and Stewards John Ireland and Thomas C. Bradley suspended him pending an investigation.

Trainer Bet on Galahad.

Reuter, who trains the horses owned by a number of prominent Chicagoans, satisfied the stewards that he was not in on any fraud, proving to them that he had wagered on Galahad, and that he had advised friends in Chicago to bet on Galahad to win.

The management of the Jefferson Park track received reports today that several local handbooks had made a cleanup on the race, and it was suspected the bookmakers were in on the scandal. When the handbook part of the plot was introduced, the management of the Jefferson Park association announced that Jockey Palumbo would not be permitted to ride again at this course.

Loses Jockey Shropshire.

Trainer Reuter is in charge of one of the largest stables here. He trains for several owners and is a former Chicagoan. He lost the services of Jockey E. Shropshire several weeks ago, and since then has been employing a number of lightweight lads to ride his horses. Palumbo was among them.

Galahad is a noted mud runner, and the track on Saturday was just to his liking. The crowd wagered heavily on him, but there was a quiet plunge on Klingstone, which aroused the suspicions of the stewards. Klingstone won handily after Palumbo had taken Galahad out of the contention.

The stewards expect to be able to make a final ruling on the case before the season closes here Saturday.

CLEVELAND WINS PRO TITLE; BEATS ROCHESTER, 21-15

Cleveland, O., March 24.—(AP)—Cleveland won the American Professional Basketball league world series tonight by defeating Rochester, 21 to 15. This was the fourth game that Cleveland won in the series to Rochhester's one.

Cleveland started slowly, but wound up like a whirlwind. It was 18 minutes, with the score standing 6 to 1 in favor of Rochester, before Cleveland could score from the field. The first basket for the victors was made by Pete Barry, whose play was outstanding. The half ended in a 7 to 7 tie.

In the second half Cleveland rapidly piled up a lead. Lapchick of Cleveland and Kintzing of Rochester were high point men, each with eight points. Lineup:

ECKIE AT WORK

ECKIE—AS WE KNEW HIM

BY DON MAXWELL.

Walter Eckersall was the most energetic, hardest working fellow I ever knew. He never strolled into the office. He came rushing. And that was the way he continued day or night. Eckie was the first fellow to arrive at the ringside for a fight; the first official to report for duty at a football game; the first fellow back in the office after the game or the bout was over.

Other writers might take their time, loaf a bit, fumble around before starting their pieces. Eckie tackled the job at hand and got it done while the rest of us were getting ready to start.

No assignment was too difficult, none too inconsequential for Eckie. It was impossible to get him to slow down. He was just as eager to cover an unimportant wrestling match or a boresome track meet as he was to cover the Tunney-Dempsey fight in Soldiers' field.

Work was a fetish with him. Doing his job gave him more thrills than anything else. He didn't want a day off. His vacations consisted of going to California to write about the East-West games during the Christmas holidays.

Football, of course, was Eckersall's favorite sport. Millions have watched him officiate. They will testify that Eckie worked just as hard and enthusiastically as an official as he was wont to work as a player. But outside of football the sports that appealed most to Eckersall were two TRIBUNE promotions for young folks—the Silver Skates Derbies and the Golden Glove boxing tournaments.

For fourteen years Eckersall was the director of the skating event. Weeks ahead of the Derbies he began planning, carrying out details that to a lot of us would have been laborious and unpleasant work. Most of us would have shoved those details onto somebody else. That wasn't Eckie's way. He did the whole job himself.

The Golden Gloves were handled in like manner. If you were one of that record breaking 23,000 who watched the intercity bouts you marveled at the smoothness with which the program was run off. The success of the intercity tournament was a tribute to Eckersall's genius for details.

Another of Eckersall's outstanding attributes was his ability to win the loyal coöperation in TRIBUNE promotional work of men in all walks of life. Years ago he organized a band of fellows interested in athletics among youths.

Almost without exception this original band stuck with Eckie through the years. No matter how tired they might be after their day's work, if Eckie needed them they responded. No matter how trivial or how uninteresting the job he wanted them to perform they did it because they wanted to please Eckie.

They were loyal to him because he was loyal to them. The Intercity bouts provided an example of the lengths to which Eckie would go to prove that loyalty. The boxing commission decided that a certain official had made an error. It issued an order, whether just or unjust doesn't matter, which made it impossible for THE TRIBUNE to use that official in the Intercity bouts. With a hundred and one details to worry him, Eckie dropped everything to attempt to iron out the difficulty. He didn't want to hurt the feelings of the official who had served him and THE TRIBUNE faithfully. You would have thought that the commission order had hit Eckie personally. He was hurt because a friend was hurt. That was Eckie's way.

Known to thousands, hailed as the greatest football player Chicagoans ever saw, a figure to be pointed out where ever sport fans assembled, Eckersall never lost a diffidence, a modesty, that was almost embarrassing to his friends. Sport's spotlight never dazzled Eckie. If he ever made a public speech, there is no record of it in THE TRIBUNE'S files. It was wasted effort to ask him to attend a sport function if he thought the folks there would try to make over or flatter him. He shunned hero worship.

It is hard for one to write an appraisal of Eckie without writing sentimentally. In truth Eckie was a sentimentalist himself, although that is the last thing he would have admitted. He was a sentimentalist over those things we respect in life, whole heartedness, honesty, and loyalty. He looked for those things in a man and when he found them he overlooked anything else. "If I can't say something good about a fellow I don't say anything."

That was Eckie.

SPORT LEADERS JOIN IN TRIBUTE TO ECKERSALL

Laud Former Star as One of Gridiron's Greatest.

Athletic leaders from all parts of the country joined last night in a tribute to Walter Eckersall, football authority, sports writer, and former all-American quarter back, who died in Chicago yesterday.

Within two hours after Mr. Eckersall's death was announced telegrams from all parts of America and some cablegrams from Europe were received in THE TRIBUNE office expressing deep regret at his passing and also paying high tribute to him as a sportsman.

U. of C. Friends Stunned.

Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletes of the Western conference, said, "I was shocked to learn of the death of Walter Eckersall. My acquaintance with him goes back to his high school days. Then I followed him when he was one of the greatest college athletes every known. After he was graduated from the University of Chicago I had frequent contacts with him. I have always valued his friendship and will miss him as an old friend whose place cannot be taken. He loved his fellow men. The Western conference has lost one of its finest officials and I personally have lost one of my very best friends."

Out at the University of Chicago the news of Eckersall's death cast a shadow of grief. Athletic Director A. A. Stagg, coach of the Maroon teams on which Eckie played in 1903, 1904, 1905, and 1906, was aboard a train en route home from the football rules committee meeting in New York, but H. O. Crisler, athletic director at the University of Minnesota, former Maroon coach; Nels Norgren, Maroon basketball coach, and Groundkeeper Jimmy Twohig, warm admirers of the famous athlete, all expressed keen personal regret.

"Country's Leading Official."

Tug Wilson, director of athletics at Northwestern university, stated: "I regarded Walter Eckersall as one of the stanchest friends college athletics ever had. He was among the greatest players football ever produced and as an official he ranked as the leader in the country. The best tribute I can pay him is that an opposing team never refused to accept him in a game when his name was suggested. He was fair and impartial and wrote scientifically of football, yet made it clear to his readers."

News of Mr. Eckersall's death was received with expressions of deep regret at the University of Illinois. In the absence of George Huff, director of athletics, and of Robert Zuppke, football coach, Carl Lundgren, assistant director of athletics, said: "Eckie's fame as a football player is secure, of course. As a writer he was an influence toward the best in intercollegiate athletics and he rendered a service as a high class official. He played his first football against Illinois in 1903, when he ran back a punt 60 yards to tie the score of a game which Chicago eventually won decisively.

Sport Loses a Friend.

"Eckersall is one of the holders of the 50 yard dash record in the state interscholastic track meet held annually at Illinois, the time being 5 2-5 seconds. This event is to be abandoned this year, so Eckersall's name will always be linked with the Illinois interscholastic. This was also a national interscholastic record."

Minnesota, Michigan, and Wisconsin universities also paid tributes. "The country generally and the middle west in particular has lost one of its best and most colorful athletic figures and one of it finest critics of football." Tad Wiemen, line coach at Minnesota said. "Amateur sport has lost a great personal friend," he continued.

Harry Kipke, Michigan's youthful grid coach and selected on Eckersall's All-American team of 1922, paid this tribute:

"In Walter Eckersall's death we mourn a great loss to the entire sport world. He was outstanding as an ath-

Walter Herbert Eckersall, three times all American football player and for more than twenty years nationally known athletic authority of THE TRIBUNE sports departments, died suddenly at 2:35 o'clock yesterday afternoon in his room at the Chicago Athletic association. Death was due to a heart attack.

Since last fall, when he was a flu victim, Eckersall failed to regain his accustomed vigor, although to intimates he insisted he was in "tiptop" condition. There was no suspicion of immediate danger, although flu had left a weakened heart condition. For several days he had not been feeling well and was resting in his room when C. W. Dunkley, an intimate friend, called for a visit. He found Eckersall seriously ill and death followed before a physician arrived.

Grieved Over Mother's Death.

Another intangible factor in his failing health, which only his close friends may estimate, was grief over the death of his mother, which occurred a year ago last fall when Eckersall was in New York as an official for the Army-Notre Dame football game. There always had been a strong bond of affection, and after the death of his father he made a home for his mother at 7331 Kingston avenue, where he resided until her death.

Eckersall was the most colorful figure in the history of American football. He was picked three times on Walter Camp's all American eleven, the first westerner ever so honored. He has been named on practically every all time all American eleven selection.

Starred at Hyde Park High.

Born in Chicago 46 years ago of a pioneer family, Eckersall attended Wadsworth (then Woodlawn) grammar school, where a sister is now a teacher. He first attracted attention at Hyde Park High school, whose football teams of the period 1899-1902 were nationally known. Weighing 135 pounds he was the mainspring of a running attack to which his great punting and drop kicking gave added threat. That Hyde Park team also included Tom and Harry Hammond, who later went to Michigan; the McKillop brothers; Sammy Ransom, the fleet colored back, who later matriculated at Beloit, and others who achieved collegiate fame.

As the most promising prep school athlete of the time, Eckersall was sought by many colleges, for recruiting then was less dignified than now. Michigan, Wisconsin, and Chicago all thought he was theirs. His residence near the university gave the final choice to Chicago.

Famous for 2-0 Victory.

In college, Eckersall played at 145 pounds in the days of massed interference and 200 pound lines. His escape from injury was miraculous. He had a knack of curling himself almost in a ball as he went down. Rules against piling on were less stringent then, and Eckersall never was handled more gently than the rules allowed.

Perhaps the play from which he received the most publicity occurred in the great Chicago-Michigan game of 1905. This was the last of "Hurry-Up" Yost's famous "point-a-minute" elevens which had not been defeated for five years. Chicago had a good eleven, but was not considered the equal of the Wolverines. The contest was held at Stagg [then Marshall] field.

Despite a desperate and somewhat unexpected strength of defense by the spirited Maroons, Michigan crashed almost to the Chicago goal line where Stagg's men gained the oval on downs.

Eckie Seized Opportunity.

Eckersall dropped back behind his own goal posts to punt. There was no score at this time and it looked as if a single score meant victory or defeat. Michigan forwards set themselves for a Herculean effort to block the punt. Michigan's safety man was in position either to signal for a fair catch and free kick for goal or to carry back the ball.

Johnny Garrels, left end, moved from his position over to the other side where the Wolverines were massed to crash through. Looking down the field Eckersall saw the opposite left flank unprotected. Eckie called the punt signal, then cried "Signal," as if checking it, and then the numbers for a run around Michigan's left end. Failure meant being downed for a safety.

His Daring Succeeds.

The very daring of the play was its success. Garrels was first to detect the ruse and, like Eckersall, a speedy track man, cut across on the diagonal and brought down the Maroon from behind. Eckersall, however, had carried the ball out 28 yards, a total run of perhaps 40 yards. That was the turning point of the game. Eckersall on the next play sent a long spiral punt deep into Wolverine territory and Michigan was on the defensive. Shortly afterward, a Michigan back was downed for a safety in attempting to carry out a punt, for the only score of the 2-0 game.

During his collegiate career of 1903

ENTRIES REACH 28, MARK FOR U. OF C. TOURNEY

4 More Schools Accept Invitations.

Four more teams yesterday accepted invitations to compete in the University of Chicago's twelfth annual national basketball interscholastic, which opens next Tuesday. Central Y. M. C. A. day school, Illinois academy champion; Baylor academy, Chattanooga, Tenn., holder of the city and Tennessee interscholastic association titles; Corinth, Kentucky champion, and Cavenaugh High, Lawrenceburg Ky., state title runner-up, were the additions. There now are twenty-eight teams entered.

Carr Creek Eliminated.

Carr Creek, Ky., the sensation of the tournament two years ago, fell in the second round of the state meet last week. The class A title was won by Corinth, Ky., which defeated Cavenaugh, class B winners, by a shot that was in mid air when the gun ended the game.

Among the invitations sent out yesterday by Manager Fritz Crisler were those to De La Salle of Chicago, winner of the National Catholic tournament, and to Terrill academy, of Dallas, Tex., which won the National Academy tourney at Madison, Wis.

Eight teams which are entered played last year or in some other season. Only one team which won a state title this year refused to return to the Chicago meet and declined only because the state association refused to permit it to play.

Teams Coming Back.

Teams which competed last year and will play this season include Jena, Louisiana champions; Athena, Tex., defending champions, and Lakeland, Fla., Spartansburg, S. C., which competed in 1928; Durham, N. C. which played in the Chicago meeting in 1925, '26, and '27; St. John's Military academy, in the first tournament back in 1917; Burlington, Vt., here in 1927, and South High of Minneapolis, here in 1927, are repeating quintets.

MINER WHO WON AGUA CALIENTE POOL TO RETIRE

San Diego, Cal., March 24.—(AP)—George Fischer, weighmaster of the Washoe Sampler Works mine, Butte, Mont., who won $51,750 on the Agua Caliente handicap, has decided to quit work. Fischer drew Victorian in the sweepstakes to make his "killing."

"I'm writing my letter of resignation today," he said. "This has put me on easy street, and there I plan to spend the remainder of my days."

Swiderski and Retzlaff Win at White City

King Levinsky this morning is considering going back to his fish business. Last evening at White City he lost an eight round decision to Paul Swiderski of Syracuse, N. Y., in the windup of James Mullen's show. The King used everything but the bucket in his corner in an effort to beat the Pole and was warned repeatedly by the referee for use of rough tactics.

It was one of those alley fights that the fans expected to see, and there were many calls for Swiderski to knock out the west side Ghetto boy. More than once the Pole had the Jewish lad tottering, but Levinsky refused to give away.

The expected happened in the Charlie Retzlaff-Frankie Lennon fight, but it came quicker than expected. Lennon went to the mat fifteen seconds after the first bell and still was out from a left hook to the chin after he had been taken to the dressing room.

Mickey Joy stopped Dick Richards in the second round, when the referee ended the fight to save Richards from further punishment. Russell Buelick, who is said to have fought 83 fights in five weeks, also took a sleeping potion from Baxter Calnes of Wichita, Kas.

Angelo Puglissi won a four round decision over Corbett Eicles, while Tony Lungo took the verdict from Don Friend in a like number of sessions, Nisse Ramm, Swedish heavyweight champion, punched his way to a five round victory over Art Maley. Maley was on the floor five times in the first round, twice in the third, and was knocked out of the ring in the fifth.

LORD DERBY TO WITNESS CLASSIC KENTUCKY RACE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 24.—Lord Derby, Great Britain's premier sportsman, has been lured by the Kentucky Derby and plans to sail for America on April 26 for a visit, the feature of which will be the American turf classic.

During his trip he will be the guest of Joseph Widener of Philadelphia. He is expected to stop over in Washington to visit his old friend, Hugh Wallace, who was American ambassador to France when the earl was British ambassador there.

"I will be back in England in time to see our own Derby," he told his friends today. This is the world famous racing event which takes place on June 4, and which is named for Lord Derby's ancestor.

EASTER HERO IS SCRATCHED FROM GRAND NATIONAL

LONDON, March 24.—(AP)—The unexpected scratching of John H. Whitney's Easter Hero from the grand national today left only five American owned horses to face the starter Friday, and turned the gruelling four mile test into a complete riddle.

Sir Lindsay, which put up a good performance in the Cheltenham gold cup, will be the lone bearer of the Whitney silks. Gordon Selfridge's Ruddyman, Victor Emmanuel's Rhyticere and Royal Arch, and S. Sanford's Sandy Hook complete the American representation.

Easter Hero first developed lameness after winning the Cheltenham, but appeared to have recovered, turning in a good trial Sunday. An examination today, however, showed a return of the lameness, and it was decided to scratch him.

Don May Make Attempt for Speed Record Today

146 Game Spoils Start, 266, 252 in Singles.

Cleveland, O., March 24.—[Special]—Harry Krebethke, member of [illegible] George Springuth five of Chicago missed a chance to set an American Bowling Congress record in the singles division today. The Chicagoan, veteran of six A. B. C. shows, shot a total, but had one of the best games in big time pin history.

Krebethke spilled the maples at counts of 266 and 252. He then needed only 192 to wrest the lead from Frank Hrach of Cleveland and a $22 prize to beat the A. B. C. record of 701, established by Harry Smyers of Pittsburgh in the Chicago tournament in 1924. But Krebethke ran into a few splits, two 6-7-10, a 4-7-10 and a 5-7 in the final game, finishing with 146.

Three changes occurred among the leaders in the day's bombardment. Buck and W. Foecks, Tarantum, Pa., rolled into seventh place in the doubles with 1279; J. Ramlich tied O. Crane of Flint for fifth place in the singles with 690, and Earle Shepard, Kansas City, landed in a tie with J. Dingle of South Bend for sixth hole in the all-events with 1,893.

Joe Wanzung and Eddie Kortum topped the Chicago bowlers who rolled in the doubles today. They turned in a 1,225 score. Frank Kair and Herman Wenholz were second high among the Chicagoans with 1,178. Joe Wanzung's 636 and Eddie Kortum's 635 in the singles were other high Chicago marks. Scores of Chicagoans:

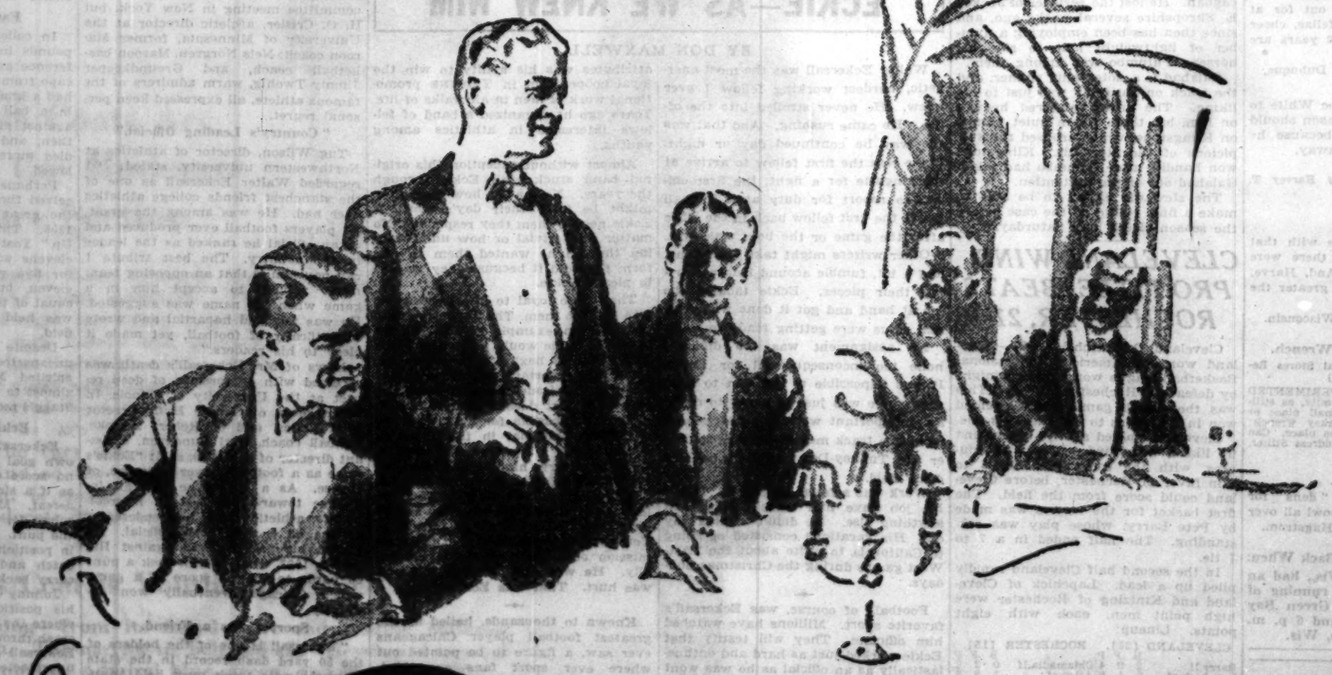
... in a speaker it's POISE!



... in a cigarette it's TASTE!

CHESTERFIELD'S taste speaks for itself—no amount of talk can tell you as much as one puff of its flavor.

Taste Chesterfield—and you will recognize a distinct and pleasing flavor, a spicy fragrance, and a rich, wholesome "character" that is Chesterfield's own.

Good taste! What else counts half as much with critical smokers? How else could Chesterfield win and hold its immense popularity...

"TASTE above everything"

MOON MULLINS—MAMIE LOOKS FOR THE SILVER LINING

Giants Score 3-1 Win Over San Antonio

San Antonio, Tex., March 24.—(AP)—The New York Giants were outhit again today but managed to defeat San Antonio of the Texas league, 3 to 1.

Roy Parmelee, slated for the regular berth on the Giants' hurling staff, and Fred Fitzsimmons kept the Texans' ten hits well scattered. The National leaguers found Bill Richardson, George Malicki and Tom Estell for eight safeties.

San Antonio [Tex.]	000	001	000—1 10 2
New York [N.L.]	010	100	01*—3 8 0

BRAVES RAINED OUT.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 24.—(AP)—Rain saved the Boston Braves from a bus ride to Bradenton, where today's game with the St. Louis Cardinals was scheduled. This holiday gave Manager Bill McKechnie a chance to continue his search for another catcher to add to the Braves' weak receiving staff. The Boston pilot believes his club will finish well up in the second division of the National league if he can turn up a capable performer behind the plate.

RED SOX BOOK GAMES.

Pensacola, Fla., March 24.—(AP)—The spring exhibition game schedule of the Boston Red Sox, which to date has been the easiest of any big league club, became much more difficult today, when seven games were added to the list. Manager Heinie Wagner and his players will have nothing much to do but practice until next Friday, but thereafter they will play 17 games in as many days.

BROWNS TAKE REST.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 24.—(AP)—After a light workout today, Manager Bill Killefer of the St. Louis Browns declared a holiday for his charges. Killefer is fearful lest his athletes become overtrained. While the players rested Killefer spent much time worrying about his batting order. Tomorrow the Browns will meet the House of David team here.

TIGERS CUT SQUAD.

Tampa, Fla., March 24.—(AP)—Manager Stanley Harris has cut the roster of the Detroit Tigers to 29 men, it became known today. This involved sending down four players.

Frank Barnes, pitcher, goes to Toledo; John Prudhomme, pitcher, to Toronto; William R. Steincke, catcher, to Beaumont, Tex., and Charles Staples, pitcher, to Evansville, Ind.

On June 15 Henry Greenburg, first baseman from New York, and John Watson, infielder, from Marshall college, West Virginia, will be released.

PIRATES BEAT OAKLAND.

Oakland, Cal., March 24.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates opened an exhibition series with Oakland today and won the initial contest, 6 to 4. Score:

Pittsburgh [N.L.]	000	021	210—6 8 1

1930 FISHERMEN HAVE NEW MARKS AT WHICH TO AIM

Record Muskalonge Is 53 Pounds.

BY BOB BECKER.

Thousands of fishermen in the Central states start each year for their favorite angling waters with the fervent hope that they can connect with a record breaking fish which will win a prize in some contest.

Although there still are some big ones left in American and Canadian waters, the fact that three world's records were broken last year is going to make the 1930 fishing season a tough one for the boys who still are looking for a giant fish at the end of each rainbow.

Here are the marks which we'll have to shoot at this year when, within a short time, it will be possible to unlimber the fishing tools. Better clip 'em and paste 'em in the top of your tackle box. It'll settle all arguments about that "biggest" muskie or bass.

First, the world's record for muskalonge taken on regulation tackle was broken last year by an Ohio angler when he landed a specimen weighing 53 pounds 12 ounces. It measured 57 inches in length. The previous record holding fish was a 51 pounder. The 1929 prize winning muskie was taken from the Lake of the Woods, that big body of water which has a habit of growing some of the largest lunge on the continent.

The biggest northern pike ever taken on angler's tackle also was caught last summer. It weighed 45 pounds 12 ounces and measured 49 inches in length. This mark will be a hard one to reach by 1930 fishermen. Basswood lake, Minnesota, produced this prize winner.

The third world's record involves the salt water anglers because in the channel bass class a 74 pound fish was written into the books. A ten pound northern large mouth bass was the largest recorded fish of this species taken last summer while a 15 pounder was top fish among southern large mouths.

Hawks Leave for Montreal; Make Last Stand Tomorrow

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Fourteen hockey players who wear the uniform of the Chicago Blackhawks boarded a Montreal - bound train last night to make their last stand in the playoffs for the Stanley cup and the world's championship. Beaten 1 to 0 by Les Canadiens at the Stadium Sunday night, the Hawks must win by at least two goals tomorrow night to stay in the running.

HAROLD MARCH.

Of the sixteen regulars through the season Harold March and Marvin Wentworth were left at home in hospitals. March hasn't recovered from the skate slash in his thigh and Wentworth still is suffering from jaundice. Though crippled, the Hawks still have hopes of winning the series, which is decided on a basis of total goals in the two games.

Welland Tops Scorers.

Should the Hawks be leading Les Canadiens by a goal at the end of the regular three periods in tomorrow night's game, play will continue until one team scores another goal.

Final figures on scoring issued by the National Hockey league yesterday show Ralph Welland, Boston's little center, to be leading the league both in goals and points. Players are given one point each for a goal and one for an assist. Welland scored 43 goals and had 30 assists for 73 points.

Though he was out of the final games with a broken shoulder Frank Boucher, Rangers' center, held second place with 62 points, 26 goals and 36 assists. Dit Clapper of Boston is third, one point behind, with 41 goals and 20 assists. Bill Cook of the Rangers ranked fourth with 29 goals and 30 assists.

Third in actual scoring in the league was Howie Morenz of Les Canadiens with 40 goals, but in points he was outranged in the Canadian division by both Hec Kilrea of Ottawa and Neis Stewart of the Maroons. Kilrea had 36 goals and 22 assists, Stewart 39 goals and 16 assists, and Morenz 40 goals and 10 assists.

Gottselig Best Goal Getter.

Johnny Gottselig was the leading goal getter of the Hawks, but he was far behind Tommy Cook, the tiny blonde center, in points, as Cook proved his value as a play maker through the season. Tommy had 14 goals and 16 assists, while Gottselig had 21 goals and only 4 assists, the points being 30 to 25. Art Somers, scrapping center, was only a point behind Gottselig with 11 goals and 13 assists.

Cook ranked only in a tie for fourteenth place in the scoring in the American division, but the secret of the Hawks' high place in the final standing comes in the scoring of all the forwards. The Hawks had more men among the first 35 scorers in the division than any other team. Nine of the Hawks ranked from 15th to 33d place, just half of those 18 places.

In penalties Art Somers drew more time off the ice than any of the other Hawks. He spent 74 minutes in the penalty box, 20 minutes of it for a major penalty for his battle with Bill Cook of the Rangers. Couture was next with 63 minutes in penalties. All of the Hawks were far behind the league leaders, Joe Lamb of Ottawa, 119 minutes; Sylvia Mantha of Les Canadiens, 108 minutes, and Eddie Shore of Boston, 105 minutes. Scoring and penalties of the Hawks for the season:

	Goals.	Ass'ts.	Points.	Penalties in min's.
Tommy Cook	14	16	30	16
John Gottselig	21	4	25	28
Arthur Somers	11	13	24	74
Ty Arbour	10	8	18	26
Duke Dutkowski	7	10	17	42
Earl Miller	11	5	16	50

ROCKNE'S RETURN FROM FLORIDA IS DELAYED AGAIN

Notre Dame, Ind., March 24.—[Special.]—The return of Knute Rockne from Florida, where he has been recuperating from a congestion in his right leg has received another setback.

Mr. Rockne was expected in South Bend today, but he has been advised by his physician to spend approximately three more weeks in Florida to avoid any possibility of complication from uncertain weather. He was scheduled to speak at the Notre Dame basketball testimonial banquet here tomorrow evening at which a captain for next season will be elected, and no one has been provided to take his place on the list of speakers.

Several other men prominent in sports will talk, and the university will be represented.

CENTRAL A. A. U. SWIM TITLES AT STAKE TONIGHT

Men and women swimmers will compete tonight in Blackhawk park pool, Fullerton and Lavergne avenues, in the Central A. A. U. senior and junior championships under the auspices of the commissioners of the Northwest park district. In addition, the National A. A. U. junior 400 yards relay championship for women will be decided.

The following events in the central championships are on the program: Men's senior 220 yards free style, men's junior 400 yards relay, women's senior 300 yard medley, and women's junior 500 yard free style and 300 yard medley. Gold, silver, and bronze medals will be awarded.

N. U. SPLASHERS BEAT STANFORD; GO EAST TODAY

Wildcats Will Seek National Title.

Northwestern's swimming team made its farewell performance of the season with a victory over Stanford university, 45 to 30, in a dual meet at Patten gymnasium pool last night. The Wildcats won six out of the eight events, losing only the fancy diving and the 440 yard swim.

Capt. Al Schwartz, in his last home appearance under Purple colors, won two events and was anchor man on the winning 160 yard relay team. The Purple ace won the 40 and 100 yard swims, the latter in the fast time of :52.6.

Three other purple stars wound up their collegiate careers with victories. Dick Hinch, back stroke expert, won every event during his three years of competition in the Big Ten, easily took his specialty last night in 1:41. Bob Howlett and Don Petersen, the other two seniors, swam a dead heat to win the 200 yard breast stroke.

Austin Clapp, Stanford's premier free style performer, treated the large crowd to some fancy stroking by winning the 440 yard swim in 5:15.

lete and a critic and was the best football official in the country."

The athletic staff at the University of Wisconsin sent the following telegram to THE TRIBUNE:

"The athletic department of Wisconsin expresses deepest regrets at learning of Walter Eckersall's death. He was a fine man, a great writer and an official and critic who was a credit to the game."

"I am sure every coach regarded Eckersall as an adviser as well as an official and critic" Dick Hanley, coach of the Northwestern football team said. "He worked for the good of amateur sport and his opinion was unbiased."

Edwin Balmer, novelist and Harvard graduate, wires from Irvington-on-Hudson: "We join in tribute to memory of the greatest football player I ever saw and to the fairest and most sportsmanlike official on the playing field and to an inspiring reporter of the game."

Paul Gallico, sports editor of the New York News, wired: "Regret passing of Walter Eckersall more than I can say. Our cordial associations with him in connection with intercity Golden Gloves bouts always will be remembered as pleasant contacts with a great athlete and great sportsman."

Paddy Harmon, well known in Chicago sport circles, said: "I am deeply grieved over the death of our dear friend, Walter Eckersall, the sports world and his many friends have suffered a great loss.

"Amateur sports have lost a great asset," commented Anton J. Cermak, "and hundreds who are interested in them a loyal and warm hearted friend. Chicago will feel his loss keenly."

to 1906—freshmen were eligible then—Eckersall held nearly every punting and drop-kicking record. In 1903 at Madison, he drop-kicked three field goals for Chicago's only points and Milwaukee papers headlined the result "Eckersall, 15; Wisconsin, 6."

The following year he caught a Badger kickoff in the shadows of his own goal posts and ran for 106 yards [the field was 110 yards then] for a touchdown. That run was the determining factor in an 18 to 11 victory.

In 1905, he again defeated the Badgers by a dropkick.

It was in 1905 also that Eckersall performed the feat of dropkicking five field goals in two different games, against Illinois and against Nebraska.

Excelled on Track.

As a track man, Eckersall several times equaled :09 4-5 in the century dash. He was an excellent shortstop in baseball and also a speed skater and consistent bowler.

After leaving college he became a sports writer for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE which position he held to the time of his death. His services always were in demand as a football official, where he was exceedingly popular with players because of his understanding of their difficulties. He inflicted penalties ruthlessly for unnecessary roughness, but was slow to declare penalties for technicalities without first giving a warning. He also was sought as arbiter for other sporting events when his newspaper work did not interfere.

Eckersall is survived by a daughter, Elizabeth, 19 years old; two sisters, Miss Etta Eckersall and Mrs. Stephen [Jessie] Anderson of Chicago; and two brothers, Arthur of Denver, and Elmer of Gary, Ind.

Funeral services will be held Thursday morning, but details have not been arranged. Burial will be at Oakwoods.

AMATEUR LEAGUES MEET.

K. OF C. FIVES IN SEMI-FINAL TILTS TOMORROW

The semi-final games will be decided tomorrow night and the finals Saturday night in the championship round of the Knights of Columbus Basketball league. Tomorrow night's games are expected to bring out the best basketball of the final round, which is setting new attendance records for the league at the Chicago Stadium.

Aquinas vs. De La Salle and St. Patrick's vs. Loyola-Hyde Park are the two championship bracket games. O'Connor and De Soto and Marquette and Hennepin will play in the consolation round.

NEBRASKA CLUB TO PLAY BALL GAMES AT NIGHT

Lincoln, Neb., March 24.—(AP)—Baseball will be played under electric lights here this summer by the Links club of the Nebraska State league, a class D circuit. President Bob Robinson of the local club announced today he had signed a contract and made payments on a $7,500 lighting outfit. Ninety bulbs using 135,000 watts of electricity will supply illumination. Games are to start at 7:30 o'clock.

HOUSTON SELLS PLAYERS.

Houston, Tex., March 24.—(AP)—Fred Ankenman, president of the Houston Texas league baseball club, today announced the sale of Cosmo Ostelle, outfielder and Gerald Myers, southpaw pitcher, to the St. Joseph, Mo., team of the Western league.

CHICAGO STOCKS CLIMB HIGHER ON FAVORABLE NEWS

A. M. Castle Is Active on Rumor of Its Acquisition

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Optimistic reports from Washington on the business situation and short covering by bear operators enabled Chicago stocks to climb higher in the dealings yesterday.

Leadership for the market was provided by the motor shares and a few industrial specialties. Reports of negotiations by Bethlehem for the acquisition of A. M. Castle sent the stock of the latter company to 66 on fairly active trading.

W. B. Simpson, chairman of the board of Castle, stated last night that he was not at liberty to comment on the reported deal.

Have Strong Spots.

Other strong spots in the specialty group were Standard Dredge, Construction Materials preferred, and Winton, Associated Apparel Industries on light sales dropped 3 points to 41½.

Several automotive issues registered good gains. Bendix advanced to 49¼ and closed less than a point under that figure, establishing a new 1930 high. Borg-Warner claimed 1¾ to 47 on sales approximating 15,000 shares. Allied Products, on lighter dealings, closed up 2 at 48.

A few odd lot sales in Lehmann corporation sent the price up to 94. Burnham was the most active among the investment shares and improved 1¼. North and South American corporation closed at 25 for a net gain of 2¼.

Middle West was active among the utilities, advancing nearly a point on transactions approximating 60,000 shares. United Gas rose 1¾ in sympathy with the strength in gas utility stock on the New York exchange. Utilities Power and Light improved about a point.

Greyhound Revenues.

The Greyhound corporation reports gross passenger revenue for February of $382,126, compared with $359,568 for February, 1929, an increase of 6 per cent. The corporation operates bus lines between Chicago and New York and is a minority stockholder in the firm operating as the Greyhound Lines.

L. C. Burr & Co., department store chain of Butler Brothers, announced that seven leases have been signed up at the present time for new stores.

STEEL MERGER FOES WILL CLASH AGAIN TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 24.—The whole problem of the proposed merger of the Bethlehem Steel corporation and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company is slated to be thrashed out anew at the special directors' meeting of the latter company called for tomorrow.

The meeting was called by James A. Campbell, chairman of Youngstown, at the request of counsel for the group of stockholders, headed by Cyrus S. Eaton, opposing the merger. Demand will be made at the meeting for a complete audit of the books of both companies. Mr. Campbell, in a letter last week to the opposition group, refused the audit, but said Bethlehem was willing to furnish any information requested, provided such information was deemed "relevant" to the merger.

Heavy pressure is being brought to bear upon Mr. Campbell to reverse his stand on the merger. The Eaton interests already have made several concessions, including offers to license Youngstown for the manufacture of welded pipe under the Johnson patents now held by Republican Steel corporation. Mr. Eaton also has announced he favored a merger of Youngstown and Inland Steel company with headquarters maintained in Youngstown. Headquarters of Republic already have been established in Youngstown.

German, Holland Bank Rates Are Reduced Again

New York, March 24.—(AP)—The central board of the reichsbank, presided over for the last time by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, its retiring president, decided today to reduce its discount rate a half per cent to 5 per cent and the Lombard rate a half per cent to 6 per cent. The previous bank rate of 5½ per cent had ruled for only 17 days, since March 7, the day when Dr. Schacht tendered his resignation. The Bank of the Netherlands announced the lowering of its rediscount rate from 3½ per cent to 3 per cent beginning tomorrow.

TRADE REVIVAL IS SEEN JUST AROUND CORNER

Auto Production Is on Upgrade.

Tribune Adds Feature Improving Stock Tables

In this issue and hereafter The Tribune will give even more complete information concerning stocks traded in on the New York and Chicago stock exchanges. In addition to the dividend yield on stocks, based on closing prices, the tables will show the actual cash dividend paid. The latter figure is placed in position immediately after the name of each stock.

BY O. A. MATHER.

With President Hoover's national business survey conference sounding no key, other spokesmen for trade and industry joined in a chorus of future prosperity yesterday. There were a few minor chords, inspired by current conditions, but they were almost drowned out by the major rhythm.

"Industrial production will experience a spring revival which, while not nearly as pronounced as that witnessed in 1929, will nevertheless be of fairly substantial proportions," the standard statistics company says in a report survey. "Automobile factory operations now are definitely on the upgrade and should attain quite considerably higher levels in March and April than in the two preceding months, with open weather making for increased sales of both new and used cars.

Construction Should Resume.

"Also, with the advent of open weather, activities in building construction trades should register noticeable expansion. Construction probably will continue below the levels of last year until July or August. Steel output, which lately has contracted moderately, should renew its advance before the end of this month and in April is likely to be larger than in any month of the first quarter."

Sales of new automobiles at the end of 1929 were not abnormal, due to production control, Vice President Donaldson Brown of the General Motors company said.

"Even during the hectic conditions in the last quarter of 1929, the production of the industry, generally speaking, was kept within a satisfactory relation to the movement of new cars at retail," he continued. "Contrary to popular opinion, new car stocks were not abnormal at the close of the year."

American Radiator Reports.

A revival of building construction also is predicted in the annual report of the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary corporation, made public last night. In spite of adverse conditions last year, net earnings were $30,412,171, or $2.02 a share on the common stock, compared with $21,019,178 earned by both companies in 1928, which was prior to their merger.

"If history repeats itself," the report says, "the present downward trend of interest rates should continue and in the absence of conditions not presently discernible a revival of demand for mortgages will in due course lead to a general revival of building activity. Housing for about 979,000 families should be required this year. With the population increasing at its present rate and with marriages running at the rate of 1,200,000 a year, it would seem that the above estimate of new homes is conservative. If this rate of new construction for any reason be interfered with or delayed there will develop in due course of time a demand for new building construction to make up an accumulated deficiency. In other words, curtailment in the building industry represents for the most part a postponement of demand and not an extinction thereof."

Industrial Diversity in Ill. Balances Employment

BY SCRUTATOR.

Illinois is one of the great workshop states of the Union, as well as leader in agriculture.

Data gathered by official and semi-official statisticians reveal a steady concentration of more and more industrial facilities in the state and in Chicago.

The Illinois Chamber of Commerce has just published a report showing that in 1929 the state added 147 new industrial concerns in cities and towns outside Chicago. Besides, 122 concerns made important plant additions in 48 communities.

Represents $15,000,000 Invested.

It is estimated that the first group represented investments of slightly less than fifteen million dollars and annual pay rolls approaching ten millions. The expansion of firms already in existence meant more than sixteen millions of investment and a pay roll of ten millions more.

This survey indicates that there is now employment in the cities outside Chicago, but including all the suburbs that normally belong to the metropolitan area, for 16,000 more persons that there was at the end of 1928. This is not, probably, strictly true, as no accounting has been made of firms that went out of business or reduced their scale of operations.

However, the thirty odd millions for new plants is in effect a payment for services performed. Building and installation of machinery can mean little else than expenditures for materials and labor. The permanent improvements alone probably meant a living for 20,000 persons.

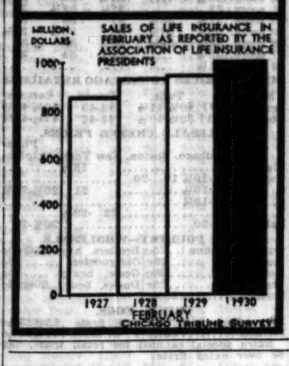
The progress of Illinois, which the last census reports showed to be third among the states in value of manufactured products, is in little danger of slowing down. One Chicago firm making listings of these kinds states that within a very few years thirty-eight large companies doing business on a national scale have located plants of their own in the metropolitan area, while retaining their other facilities in distant cities. An ink company, which located at Clearing because its freight rates from the east were overhigh, has made three enlargements in six years.

Figures like these show that there is a rather steady increase in employment possibilities in manufacturing all over the state. Danville established new industries that meant jobs for 500 and Quincy's are to absorb more than 350. Even with the offsets, whatever they may be, of firms moving outside the state, such additions are impressive.

Shows Variation.

There is in the list of new industries a wide variation of effort. Certain disadvantages of concentration on one particular line of endeavor, as in Detroit with automobiles, readily are apparent. The striking feature is that Chicago and the state of Illinois are engaged in general manufacture that has its system of balances. It is certainly true that unemployment has been less marked in this area than in some others that had less variety, during the slump of late 1929.

FEBRUARY SALES OF LIFE INSURANCE SET A NEW RECORD FOR THE MONTH



CURB STOCKS STRONGER; LIST MOVES AHEAD

(New York curb list page 27.)

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 24. — Stocks staged a strong recovery movement on the curb exchange today and, led by selected stocks in each group, almost the whole list moved ahead in impressive fashion.

Industrials, particularly aviation shares, utilities, and oils all showed higher tendencies with quite a few good sized gains sprinkled through a list that showed mostly plus signs before the net changes of the day. Short covering in the morning part of the session was instrumental in restoring confidence after the selling of last Friday and Saturday.

The aero stocks enjoyed a brisk advance in active trading with Fokker and Western Air Express and a few others gaining from 2 to more than 3 points.

U. S. Sues to Test Vacuum, Standard Oil (N. Y.) Merger

St. Louis, Mo., March 24.—(AP)—The United States government today filed suit in District court here to test the legality of the proposed merger of the Standard Oil Company of New York and the Vacuum Oil Company, Inc., to create a new company known as the General Petroleum corporation.

The suit, which was filed by District Attorney Louis H. Breuer, was in the form of a supplementary petition to the decree of Nov. 20, 1909, which ordered the dissolution of the old Standard Oil company under the Sherman anti-trust laws.

The petition alleged that a merger of Standard of New York and Vacuum, two of the companies created by the dissolution order, would be a violation of the 1909 decree. It also charged that the directors of the two companies had "entered into an agreement for the merger of the two companies in violation of the terms of the final decree intended to prevent any such combination of the interests of the companies and keep them in the field as competitors."

Asks for Injunction.

The petition asked for an injunction order forbidding the calling of a meeting of stockholders to approve the directors' plan and forbidding the companies from entering into "any similar contract, agreement, or arrangement."

The merger, it added, "would completely eliminate all existing and potential competition between the two companies in interstate and foreign commerce in petroleum and petroleum products and would violate the provisions of the decree."

When the merger plan was announced it was stated that the stockholders would not be asked to pass on the proposed consolidation contract until the legality of the merger was passed on by the courts.

The new company would have a market value of $1,100,000,000 on the basis of current stock quotations and would be second in size only to the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Announced in Washington.

Washington, D. C., March 24.—(AP)—The department of justice announced today that its representatives had filed in the District court at St. Louis, a petition asking that the proposed merger between Vaccum Oil company and the Standard Oil Company of New York be declared illegal.

Both companies were parties to a dissolution suit filed in the St. Louis court against the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and its subsidiaries. The government in its petition asserted that the two companies have been and are substantial competitors.

The government asked that contract for the proposed merger be declared in violation of the former decree, that it be declared void and that the Vacuum and Standard Oil companies involved, with all of their employes, be enjoined from proceeding further with the merger. The department announced it planned to bring the case to trial as soon as the defendants had filed their answers.

All the legal proceedings will be conducted in the court for the eastern district of Missouri, since the original suit was tried and the decree entered in that court.

STATE SAVINGS BANK & TRUST OPENS TO PUBLIC

Formal opening of the State Savings Bank and Trust, 3159 Roosevelt road, which succeeds the old Independence State bank was held yesterday. Congratulatory telegrams and floral pieces were received from several hundred persons. A number of new accounts were opened, officials reported. Alfred K. Foreman is president of the reorganized bank and Edwin G. Foreman Jr. is chairman of the executive committee.

(New York stock list page 29.)

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 24.—More favorable reports from Washington on the business situation, fresh evidence of the ease in basic credit conditions coming in the form of a cut in the German bank rate, and some rather conspicuous pool activity in behalf of various issues stimulated a rather brisk buying movement on the stock market in the late dealings today.

United States Steel took its place as bellwether of the list and led a long procession of gilt edged favorites and specialties for advances of 1 to 6 points. Steel itself gained 4⅝, ending the session at a new 1930 peak of 192⅝.

Oil Shares Strong.

Oil stocks were uniformly strong and the motors again did well. Public utility shares improved materially, particularly those with natural gas connections. A number of recent bear targets enjoyed helpful short covering.

HEAR MERGER PLANNED FOR AMERADA CORP., STANDARD OF KANSAS

New York, March 24.—(AP)—The New York Herald-Tribune tomorrow will say preliminary discussions have been under way for some time looking toward a merger of the Standard Oil Company of Kansas and the Amerada corporation, but that no agreement has yet been reached.

Amerada controls the Amerada Petroleum corporation and the Amerada Refining corporation.

It is understood that as part of the merger plan Standard Oil of Kansas has applied for listing on the New York Stock exchange and that the request will be acted on this week. Standard of Kansas now is listed on the New York Curb exchange.

Total assets which would be involved in the deal would amount to about $33,000,000, of which approximately $23,000,000 constitute the present assets of the Amerada corporation and subsidiaries. Amerada corporation functions as a holding company and owns extensive oil acreage in the midcontinent field and in Venezuela, as well as manufacturing casing head gas.

Defeat Three Amendments to Board of Trade's Rules

Three amendments to rules, including a proposal to change opening hours of the securities market from 10 a. m. to 9 a. m., were defeated yesterday by the Chicago Board of Trade. A proposal to trade in securities from 9 o'clock to 3, one hour later than the New York close, received 108 votes, whereas 417 balloted adversely. Other amendments defeated were relative to contracts for cash grain and bids on grain to arrive.

Over 33,000 Own Shares in General Foods Corp.

Help wanted

Certain gears used by one of the country's most important manufacturers were continually cracking, chipping, breaking under the severe shocks to which they were subjected.

Help was asked and help was given.

Interstate Metallurgists, with years of experience in trouble in steels, found that a certain alloy steel, hardened in oil, would meet the requirements in this particular case, exactly.

Failure in these gears is ended.

May Interstate Metallurgists work with you on your troubles?

WHEAT PRICES RISE FOLLOWING A LAME START

Short Covering Leads to Upturn in Market.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat made a weak start and a strong finish yesterday, general selling being in evidence early in sympathy with a break in Liverpool and Winnipeg.

The surplus in the pit was absorbed by shorts and commission houses and holders of bids, and when Winnipeg turned strong toward the last there was general short covering which brought about an upturn of 2¾@3¾c from the inside figures, with the close ⅝@⅞c higher.

Conflicting crop comments from the American southwest and from Illinois and Indiana were ignored by the local element early, with considerable selling of the July on reports of light showers over western Kansas, and a leading local operator was quoted as expressing an extremely bearish opinion as to the future trend of the market.

Lower at Liverpool.

Commission houses took the May and the latter gained around ½c on the deferred delivery, although the government was said to have done very little in the nearby month. Liverpool closed 2⅝@2¾d lower on general liquidation and prospects of Canadian grain. Buenos Aires finished ⅝c higher, while Rosario was up ⅞@1⅛c.

The general run of the news during the day was favorable for a lower range of values, although statistics were bullish. The visible supply decreased 2,309,000 bu for the week and is 151,252,000 bu, against 123,213,000 bu last year, while supplies on ocean passage decreased 2,600,000 bu for the week and are 35,888,000 bu, or 33,000,000 bu less than last year.

Part of the weakness in Liverpool was due to the fact that Germany has ceased buying cash wheat, as the latter could not arrive before the new import duty goes into effect. Crop comments from abroad were generally favorable, but decidedly contradictory reports as to the situation in Russia are being received, and private returns indicate that the government is meeting considerable opposition from the peasants in its efforts to increase the acreage.

Corn in Strong Rally.

Corn weakened early with wheat, but there was no material pressure on the market thereafter. Commission houses gradually absorbed the surplus in the pit, and there was also buying against bids. Locals started to buy toward the last and ran prices up 2@2⅝c from the early low, with the finish at the top with net gains of ⅝@1¼c, May being 85@85½c and July 86⅝@86¾c. The visible supply showed a decrease of 248,000 bu for the week, an unusual condition for this season of the year, and the total is 24,497,000 bu, against 34,539,000 bu last year. The trade looks for light receipts from now on and purchases to arrive were only 18,000 bu.

Cash interests bought oats on an early break and later the pit element were on that side in sympathy with the strength in other grains. Final trades were ⅛@⅜c higher, with May 44¼c and July 43¾c. The northwest was the best seller.

Liquidation was on in rye, with support coming mainly from spreaders, who in turn sold other grains. March was especially weak, finishing 3c lower, with other months off 1@1½c, with May 62⅞@63c and July 68¼c. Last week's buyers were the best sellers of the nearby months.

BREAK AND RALLY IN LARD

Lower prices for grain and hogs, with big receipts of the latter, created liberal selling of lard and bellies on stop loss orders early yesterday, with a decline of 25c in lard and 20c in bellies. Buying accredited to cash interests absorbed the offerings on the decline and made a rally, the close on lard being at net losses of 12½c, while bellies were closed the same as on Saturday.

Liverpool lard was unchanged to 3d lower. American cut hams were 1s lower. Exports of lard for the week were 10,911,000 lbs, against 11,957,000 lbs last year. Of bacon there were 6,085,000 lbs, against 3,331,000 lbs last year. Prices follow:

Sharp fluctuation in March butter futures featured trading on the Chicago Mercantile exchange, the range being ¾c, or $144 a car, with a net decline of ¼c, or $48 a car. Local conditions seemed to favor the strong opening, but seaboard factors destroyed bullish confidence. Sales were 51 cars and receipts 12,612 tubs.

Expected heavier receipts emphasized the current trend to lower levels in egg contracts, the decline being ¼@¾c a dozen. Sales were 62 cars and receipts 40,737 cases. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Bearish sentiment dominates the wheat trade and it is said that nothing but heavy exports, bad crop news and increased foreign and local speculative buying can prevent prices from sagging gradually after every sharp bulge. There are men in the trade, however, who believe that values are low enough, although they admit they are above an export parity. A reduction of 3,000,000 bu per week in the visible supply for the next 14 weeks to July 1 would make a loss of 42,000,000 bu, which would leave 109,000,000, against practically 93,000,000 bu last year. Such a supply would be probably the largest on record for the period.

Those in close touch with the export situation say that higher exchange rates in leading European countries are interfering with export sales and renewed competition from Argentina also is considered one of the most important factors. There is said to be a number of large lines of wheat held by strong interests which pit traders say may force higher prices for a time.

Corn traders who are friendly to the buying side say that there is not likely to be any increase in the visible supply for a month or more, and possibly for a considerably longer period. They predict a light movement, a good consumptive trade and increased speculative buying. On the other hand there is a prospect of an increased acreage, but that is a long way off as an important factor.

Washington, D. C., March 24.—(AP)—Radio sales reported to the department of commerce increased during 1929 as contrasted with 1928 and 1927, with the total for the last quarter of the year almost half of the aggregate.

In the past year, 10,455 dealers or one-fourth of those in the country, reported average sales of $13,000. In the preceding twelve months the average was $10,800 and in 1927 the average was $11,750.

Total sales of the 10,455 dealers amounted to $135,845,635 of which $59,248,585 was in the last quarter.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 24.—Control of another railroad has been added to the list of Van Sweringen holdings through the purchase of the interest of the Thomas Fortune Ryan estate in the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad, it was learned today.

According to the interstate commerce commission's 1929 plan, the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, a 1,000 mile line, was assigned to system No. 11, in which the principal units were Chicago and North Western, the Omaha, the C. & E. I., and the Mobile and Ohio.

The earlier tentative consolidation plan of the commission, however, linked the Chicago and Eastern Illinois with the Missouri Pacific, giving the latter an entrance into Chicago.

The Chesapeake and Ohio's application for a system merger filed in February last year asked for the C. & E. I. Thus the Van Sweringens might have either of two purposes in mind for the Chicago and Eastern Illinois. They have virtual control of Missouri Pacific, to which they might wish eventually to deliver the C. & E. I., and they are also directing, of course, the merger plans of the C. & O., which might continue to express the desire for the Chicago-St. Louis line.

Capitalization of the C. & E. I. includes 220,641 shares of preferred and 238,453 of common with equal voting rights. Both classes of stock were strong today, the common selling around 25 and the preferred about 50. At these prices the indicated value of the capital stock would be about $16,500,000.

LONDON BANKS WITHDRAW FUNDS FROM U. S. MART

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 24.—The strongest market of the year in sterling developed today as large London banks withdrew funds in increased amounts from the American money market for employment at home.

The rise in the so-called gilt edge group on the London stock exchange, combined with the drop in call money last week to 2 per cent here, were powerful factors stimulating such international switching operations, but perhaps the most impelling reason why London money is not finding New York attractive is to be found in the 2½ per cent asked prices for American bankers' acceptances, in which more foreign money is employed than is the case with the call loan market.

Another reason for the switching operations is that in some sections of central Europe short term bank loans and other investments may be profitably made at rates superior to those quoted in New York, London, and Paris, so that, should the funds withdrawn from here not find immediate placement in London, they can be sent elsewhere in Europe.

FINANCIAL NOTES

An issue of 100,000 shares of 6 per cent cumulative prior preference stock of the Standard Gas and Electric company amounting to about $10,000,000, will be offered today by a syndicate, including H. M. Byllesby & Co., W. C. Langley & Co., Harris Trust and Savings bank, A. C. Allyn & Co., and the J. Henry Schroder Banking corporation. The stock will be offered at 99 and interest to yield 6.06 per cent.

Initial public financing for Twin States Natural Gas company, Inc., to own and operate natural gas properties in Kentucky and West Virginia, has been underwritten by E. R. Diggs & Co., Inc., and will consist of an issue of 100,000 shares of no par participating class A stock of the company to be publicly offered this week. Application has been made to list the stock on the Chicago exchange.

C. W. McNear & Co. are offering $157,000 City of Miami, Fla., 5 per cent gold bonds, due serially 1935 to 1956, inclusive, and priced to yield 5.75 per cent. According to information received by the bankers, tax collections of Miami for last year were over $8 per cent.

Plans for the financing of Duquesne Gas corporation, which has been recently formed to acquire and operate natural gas properties in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, are announced by Furlaud & Co., Inc., who have purchased an issue of $4,000,000 first mortgage 6 per cent convertible gold bonds.

United States Shares corporation is offering a new fixed investment trust, United Fixed Shares. The portfolio contains 40 securities, 21 industrials, 10 railroads, 6 public utilities, 3 oils and metals, all of which are listed on the New York stock exchange.

The Harris Trust and Savings bank, First Union Trust and Savings bank, and First Galesburg National Bank and Trust company are offering $450,000 Galesburg, Ill., sanitary district 5 per cent bonds at prices to yield from 4.00 to 4.40 per cent.

The Hamilton Gas company has purchased in fee the gas and oil rights on the property of Senator W. E. Chilton in Knott, Perry, and Breathitt counties, Kentucky, consisting of 15,000 acres.

among them Simmons, Gillette and Gen Register.

Vanadium Steel Rises 13¾.

The ease with which various shares of the specialty type moved ahead for spectacular gains indicated that bear operators in those issues had suddenly found themselves in a rather tight pinch. Vanadium Steel was a good example. Along about noon, when the stock was being quoted around 112 on the tape, reports from the floor told of a bid for a substantial block at 125. A little later the price went to 127 and finally to 139, where it closed net gain of 13¾ points.

There are only about 380,000 shares of the stock outstanding and apparently the bulk of it is closely held, despite the floating supply at a minimum and making the stock readily susceptible to bullish operations. Worthington Pump, where the total capital stock is much smaller, behaved in much the same manner, along with Penn-Wheeler which likewise has a very limited appeal.

Opening Is Irregular.

Opening prices were irregular all around and selling was heavy in some directions throughout the forenoon. Final weakness in Montgomery Ward and a number of other issues of that type was an unsettling factor of no little weight. Renewed weakness in commodity markets also helped to hinder constructive operations and there were evidences of concerted bear attacks here and there. Montgomery Ward dropped to new low levels for the present issue, yielding below the 60 bottom before the pressure against it was relaxed. The decline was accompanied by reports of unsatisfactory current earnings, but inasmuch as the company does not make semi-annual or quarterly statements, nothing itself to monthly figures on sales data on earnings is available except at the end of the year. However the stock turned suddenly in the afternoon, scoring a complete recovery from the morning low as shorts, finding resistance aplenty at the bottom, proceeded to cover briskly.

Brisk rebounds also occurred in Johns-Manville and a number of other issues of "blue chip" classification which had been more or less under attack in the early dealings.

Western Union continued under pressure as a result of the statement of President Newcombe Carlton that the January returns of the company were not as good as they might be. The stock, which closed at 204 on Friday, was down to 189 when the ticker sound its merry little tatoo this afternoon. This represented an additional decline of a point. At one time during the forenoon shares were selling as low as 185.

Steels, Rubbers Gain.

The steel shares as a group were carried up in the wake of their leader and the rubbers moved into new high ground for the year. Goodyear gained nearly four points, Goodrich 2¼ and United States Rubber more than two points on the day.

In the oils section resumption of heavy buying of Standard of New Jersey, lifting that stock to new high ground for the year, had its basis chiefly in growing realization of the scope of the company's operations in natural gas. Until the recent disclosure of the natural gas operations of its subsidiaries, Standard Oil of New Jersey had attracted little interest by reason of its position in that industry. But it turns out that the company through a number of subsidiaries is one of the best integrated producers of natural gas in the business. Houston Oil advanced more than 7 points.

Du Pont Company May Acquire Chemical Firm

Wilmington, Del., March 24.—(AP)—Announcement was made today by E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. that an agreement has been entered into between the Du Pont company and the Roessler & Hasslacher Chemical company of New York, which, if approved by stockholders of the chemical company at a special meeting in April, provides for acquisition by the Du Pont company of the entire assets and business of the chemical company.

The Roessler & Hasslacher company is a chemical specialty manufacturing concern which operates several chemical manufacturing plants, principally at Perth Amboy, N. J., and Niagara Falls, N. Y.

UNITED FOUNDERS CORPORATION

COMMON STOCK

A holding company which in February, 1930, had more than 40,000 registered common stockholders; an increase of 325 per cent since May, 1929. Wide national distribution affords a broad market base for the common shares.

It is the largest stockholder in American Founders Corporation, United States Electric Power Corporation and the Public Utility Holding Corporation of America. Quarterly dividends are paid in stock at the annual rate of 5.71 per cent.

We consider United Founders Corporation, which maintains a diversified portfolio of general investments and ample cash resources, an attractive purchase for long term investment at current market quotations.

TAILORS QUIT LOOP FOR UPPER BOUL MICH SHOP

Luggage Shop Rents Space Farther North.

BY AL CHASE.

Two North Michigan avenue leases were the outstanding features of yesterday's real estate market. Richard W. Farmer & Co., men's tailors, now at 16 West Jackson boulevard, have rented all of the second and the entire third floor in the Story & Clark building, 175 North Michigan avenue, for a five year term.

Farther north on upper Boul Mich, in the 737 North Michigan avenue building, built and owned by the Charles Chapin estate, Samuel Zahler has leased the store at No. 737 for five years beginning April 1, and will open a luggage shop under the name of Mc-Master's. Mr. Zahler sold out his shop at 4826 Sheridan road the first of the year. Albert H. Wetten & Co. negotiated yesterday's lease.

Sells 24 Flat Building.

George M. Calas has sold the twenty-four apartment building at the northeast corner of North Rockwell and Fitch avenue to Axel K. Sjolander. The structure was completed in October, 1929. The vacant southeast corner of Ridge and Jarvis, 144x160, was taken in exchange. A. A. Peterson & Co. and the Prudential Realty company were brokers.

Mark Harris has sold the store and five apartments at the northwest corner of Harrison street and Central Park avenue, lot 29.92x125 feet, to Isidore Waller. He took other property in part payment.

Sells 150 Car Garage.

Joseph Bigley sold the 150 car garage at 2031 Lincoln avenue to Loren Frantz and the latter in turn transferred it by quit claim to Henry Johnson. Before transferring the property to Mr. Johnson, Mr. Frantz leased the garage to Mervyn Michaelis for twenty years from March 15, 1930. The size of the lot is 100x125 feet and the property is reported to have sold for $145,000.

The two apartment building at 1107 Hull street, Evanston, was sold by Charles Buscher Jr. to Gustav Welso for a reported $55,000. James P. McCarthy of Gubbins & McDonnell was broker.

Another sharp decline was recorded in the hog market yesterday, with closing sales almost back to the lowest point of last week, which goes back to January for a lower price level.

Losses of 15@25c were general soon after the opening, the average going down 25c at $9.85. The extreme top declined only 10c at $10.65. Receipts showed an increase over a week ago but were considerably smaller than in 1929 and 1928. Five western markets expect 52,000 hogs today, against 38,900 the previous Tuesday. Trading in hog futures was slow and uneven. April light sold at $10.60 and March heavy at $9.70.

Demand for choice cattle showed some improvement yesterday and, with the supply below normal, there was a good clearance at 15@25c higher prices. Prime weighty beeves showed the most strength and outsold all other weights. A feature of the trade was the sale of a load of 1,750 lb steers that reached $15.00, which equals the highest paid for cattle in two weeks.

Good 1,235 lb averages brought $14.35, the next highest sale of the day, while 1,002@1,009 lb yearlings were bought at $14.25. Cows and heifers shared in the strength, selling 15@25c above the close of last week. Calves were unchanged. Stockers and feeders were steady to strong.

Buyers forced lambs down 25c further yesterday, top fed westerns dropping to $10.35, with bulk of wool stock at $9.50@10.00. Several loads of choice light reached $10.25@10.35, while best light shorn lambs sold at $9.60.

Receipts were smaller than a week ago, but exceeded trade requirements. Aged sheep were scarce and in demand at stronger prices. Yearlings showed little change. Feeding and shearing lambs sold readily at $9.50@10.00.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 6,000 cattle, 17,000 hogs, and 16,000 sheep, against 4,110 cattle, 12,928 hogs, and 15,786 sheep the previous Tuesday and 8,266 cattle, 22,942 hogs, and 11,558 sheep a year ago.

HOLDING ON 57TH RISES $103,000 IN NINE YEARS

A $103,000 increase in sale price in nine years for a piece of south side realty is reported by Paul L. Day of Carroll, Schendorf & Boenicke. Harry Salvat and Henry J. Neumeister yesterday sold the property at the northeast corner of Blackstone avenue and 57th street, lot 100x150 feet, improved with seven stores and twelve apartments, to Isabel Gillespie for a reported $175,000, subject to $77,500. Mr. Day, broker in yesterday's transaction, states that the same property brought $72,000 in a sale nine years ago. Clyde L. Day and Jesse Marcus were attorneys in the sale yesterday.

Oklahoma Insull Utility Reports $2,135,850 Income

Public Service Company of Oklahoma, an Insull company, reports net income for 1929 of $2,135,850 which compares with $1,687,451 in the previous year. After payment of dividends there remained a balance of $885,598 which was transferred to surplus.

HEAVY TONE IN COTTON

Cotton markets had a heavy tone a good part of yesterday, with an opening break of around 20 points, a moderate rally, and a finish at net declines of 20@30 points in Chicago and 20@24 points in outside markets, there being a moderate rally from the low point toward the last on covering by shorts.

Spot cotton lost 25 points with New York 15.70c, New Orleans 15.20c, Galveston 15.65c and Houston 15.60c. Liverpool closed 18@21 points net lower with spot sales 5,000 bales.

Export clearances for the season to date aggregate 5,758,324 bales against 6,714,241 bales last year. Port receipts aggregate 7,487,000 bales so far this season against 8,399,749 bales last year. Prices follow:

U. S. NOW SURE OF 530 MILLION TAX REVENUE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—Gratification was expressed at the treasury department today at the continuation of daily receipts of taxes at levels nearly comparable with last year. Officials said that it now appears virtually certain that the estimate of around 530 million dollars will be reached or possibly exceeded and that the revenue loss, as shown by the total figures, may not be far different from the reduction in taxes.

Up to the close of business March 21 the deposits of taxes in the treasury since March 1 had been $491,700,996, a reduction of $35,000,000 from last year.

For the fiscal year the total had reached $1,744,335,138, an increase of $133,000,000 over last year. The payment for March 21 was $31,372,280, approximately $16,000,000 below the corresponding day last year.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, March 24.—(AP)—Cotton goods were quieter following an easing in the raw material. Finished goods were in better call for prompt shipment. A more active demand is reported for silks in the gray for finishing purposes. Burlaps were rather easier. At new prices for fall, fancy worsteds in men's wear are more active.

RAILROAD NOTES

Authorization to sell $50,000,000 of its refunding and improvement 5 per cent mortgage gold bonds was sought yesterday by the Erie railroad in an application to the interstate commerce commission.

Application of the Gulf, Beaumont and Great Northern railway, a Santa Fe subsidiary, for authority to issue $1,132,000 of its general mortgage 6 per cent bonds for refunding purposes was received yesterday by the interstate commerce commission.

The Southern railway has asked authority to issue and sell $3,106,000 of its first consolidated mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds, due in 1994.

Sinclair Denies Intent to Sell Marketing Facilities

New York, March 24.—(AP)—Harry F. Sinclair, chairman of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation, said today that plans are under way for the expansion of the corporation's marketing facilities. He did not give any further details, but took occasion to deny that they were to be taken over by one of the Standard Oil companies.

"Our marketing facilities are vital and are not for sale," he said. "Rather than reduce them, we contemplate their expansion. The report (of their sale) is not only untrue, but it is utterly ridiculous."

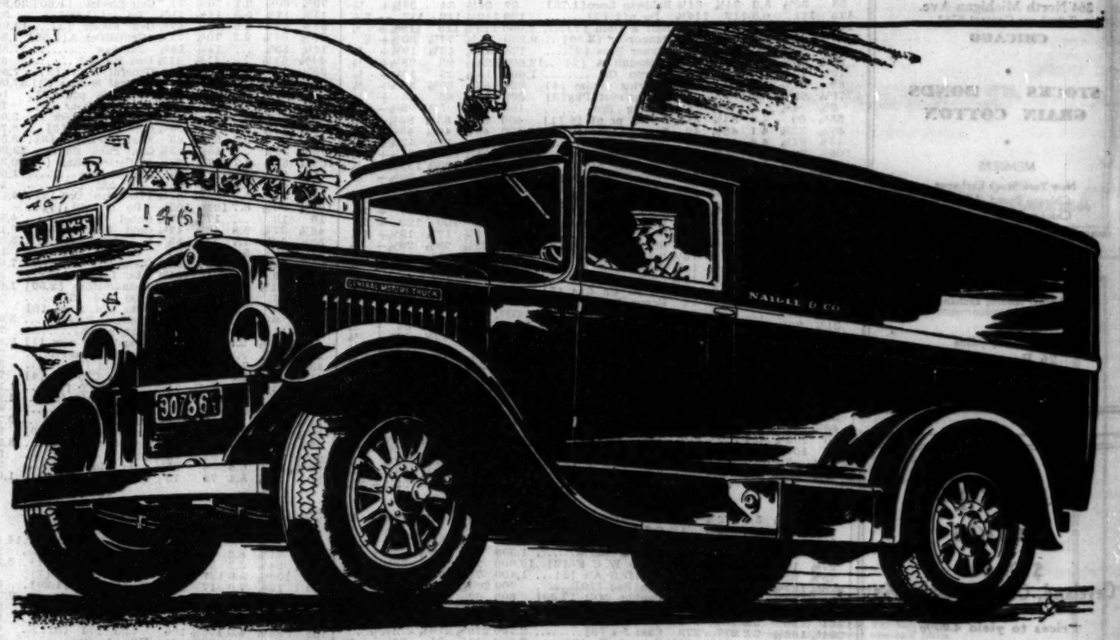
GENERAL MOTORS TRUCKS

ANOTHER SENSATIONAL VALUE - NEWLY ADDED



$745 1-TON RANGE

Model T-17a . . . 6,500 lbs. "Straight Rating" (total gross weight, including load) . . . 2 chassis and 8 types available . . . price chassis only, f. o. b. Pontiac, Mich.

THIS GREAT TRUCK is newly added to the General Motors Truck line to provide new suitability and economy to all haulage and delivery in the 1-ton range. It is one of the greatest values ever offered by this company.

It is all-truck—in every detail. Balance is perfect; load-distribution is correct; there is no excess body-overhang. The modern 6-cylinder engine provides 58 actual horsepower—smooth power, and plenty of safe speed. A year of special tests developed the efficient 4-wheel truck brakes. Bodies are exceptionally well built, roomy, and more strikingly handsome than any you've seen. Driver comfort is higher than anything in past truck-practice.

For every other capacity range there is a General Motors Truck, accurately suited, and of value just as outstanding. This is particularly true of light duty—with 4 basic models, 8 chassis, 31 different types! Every one packed with the extra value made possible by great engineering and manufacturing leadership. See them—by all means find out what they offer.

The Ace of Spades

By WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Jim Rutledge, accompanied by Sim Hart, is sent out with a herd of cattle to fulfill a contract made by his father, Chandler Rutledge. On the trail they are overtaken by some men of the Moss outfit enemies of Rutledge. The Moss men start a stampede and run off some of the Rutledge cattle. Jim recovers them, but in doing so shoots and kills one of the Moss raiders. The men of the Moss outfit swear to be revenged for the man they believe Jim killed. Jim takes refuge in a ranch house, where he finds Ellen Lawson in charge of the house. She hides him when the Moss gang comes to the house inquiring for him, and sends them off on another trail, even though she learns that he has injured her brother. Jim rides on into the town after saving Ellen from the unwelcome attentions of Dave Moss. Shear, the town marshal, threatens to arrest him for the attack on Steve Lawson, but Harrison Pendleton, an old trail driver, arrives on the scene in time to save Jim from arrest. Shortly afterward Shear kills Doc Brown, who, he claimed, had threatened his life. This causes a great deal of excitement in the little cattle town. Jim goes to the hotel and is astonished to find Ellen Lawson there. She tells him she has come to speak to her brother, Steve. Jim guides her to where Steve is sitting in a poker game with Shear, Buck Roe, and others. As they reach the table the lights go out, and when the room is again lighted Shear is found crumpled in his chair dead, with blood flowing from his head. Ellen's right hand is covered with blood. She had become separated from Jim in the dark and some one had jostled her. In putting out her hand for support she had touched the crumpled figure. Jim and Ellen are questioned by the sheriff, Pendleton, and Jim is arrested, but is later released. Jim is determined to find the murderer to clear himself. Ellen arranges a meeting to warn him against Dave Moss, and learns that Moss is trying to force her to marry his son, Pete. He suggests that she marry Jim, and they are quietly married. He goes about his investigation and is led into a trap by the Moss gang. Old Dave Moss tells him he has not long to live. Chandler Rutledge comes to town, and when Ellen tells him Jim has been out for some time he and Pendleton decide to go in search of him.

INSTALLMENT I.

THE HUNT STARTS.

Chandler Rutledge was in a hurry to find Devil Dave Moss. "This is a hurry-up job. Does he live where he did last year?" he asked his friend.

"Yes." Pendleton did not attempt to argue with him. There would be time for that. "Go kinda careful, Chan," he urged, hesitantly, not sure whether he ought to obey orders or insist on accompanying Rutledge.

Jim's father did not walk. He ran. Every moment counted now—unless he was already too late.

The house was dark. He tried, very softly, the doors. They were locked. He went to a window and with the butt of his Colt broke the glass. Putting his hand through the ragged opening, he turned the catch and raised the sash. In another moment he was in a dark room. From a pocket he took a box of matches. One flared, and he lit a lamp on the table.

Chandler did not attempt to move softly. Any one in the house must have heard him. He passed from the room into a hall. This led to the kitchen. Nobody in it. Another door opened to a bedroom. Clothes had been tossed here and there. Some one had been lying in the bed, for it was still warm. The Texan went up the creaking stairway. The second floor was as deserted as the lower one.

Harrison Pendleton's great voice shouted at him from outside. "You in there, Chan?"

Rutledge opened the door. "They've lit out. The house is empty," he said.

Four men were with the big cattleman. Two of them he recognized, Garrick and Roundtree. Jerry Denver was one of them.

"Where d'you reckon they've gone?" asked Garrick.

The fifth man of the party spoke up. "At the K. C. corral. Shall I find out if they've gone?"

Chandler looked at him. He was a red-headed boyish cowboy. "Who are you?" he asked sharply.

"I'm Sim's brother, Steve Lawson."

"All right. Find out an' report right away at the Trail's End hotel. If you're rider with us bring a horse and yore own weapons." Rutledge turned to the others. "They've taken Jim with them. Gentlemen, meet me at the hotel as fast as you can, ready to ride. I'm waiting for nobody; soon as I can get a sign telling me which way to go I'm in the saddle."

"If the house is empty they must have stopped for Sam. Likely they brought their mounts here, seeing as he wouldn't be fit to walk." This was Jerry Denver's suggestion.

They examined the ground. There was evidence that six or seven horses had been here very recently. They had headed westward.

"We'll start from here," Rutledge announced. "Move fast, gentlemen. We're following a hot trail."

Within fifteen minutes they were riding out of town. Once more Steve Lawson spoke to Rutledge.

"Looks to me, sir, as though they're heading for our claim. They keep supplies in a cache near there."

"How do you know?"

Returning to painful consciousness, it took Jim a little time to orient himself. He was propped up against a fence. Some one sat beside him, and when he stirred a revolver was poked against his ribs.

Young Rutledge was acutely aware of a head that throbbed as though hammers pounded it. To get information he lifted a hand to the side of it.

"Keep still," he was ordered.

Jim looked at his moist fingers. "Blood," he said, surprised.

Then the situation came clear. He had been trapped, assaulted, and brought here by his enemies. With a shudder he recalled the awful thing Devil Dave had done to Mamie Dugan. It was to be his turn next.

Where had they brought him? He was in the yard of a house lighted with lanterns and down. He could hear men moving to and fro, running up and down. What were they doing?

Presently he heard the sounds of horses coming down the road. A man dismounted and tied them to a hitchrack.

"That you, Clay?" some one called from the house.

"Yes. All ready?"

"All ready."

The lamps in the house were blown out. The front door was locked. Jim was jerked roughly to his feet and lifted to a saddle. His ankles were tied together by a short rope passed beneath the belly of the horse.

Dave Moss pulled himself to a saddle and rode close to the prisoner. "How you feelin', fellow?" he jeered.

Jim did not answer. He looked at the man, then looked away.

Young Moss, furious at his contempt, flung out an answer to the question he had asked. "I'll tell you how you're feelin', fellow. You're scared—scared stiff. Think I don't know? Yore heart is dead inside you, even if you are throwin' a bluff an' trying to keep yore chin up. Before we're through with you, fellow, you'll beg like a yellow hound dog."

The horses began to move. Buck Roe ranged himself on one side of the prisoner, Clay Moss on the other.

Buck explained a point or two to their intended victim. "You're on the slowest horse in the bunch. It's dead on its feet. No use trying to run. It won't get you anything."

They traveled toward the west, hour after hour. He did not understand it. Had Dave Moss pulled up bag and baggage? Was he leaving for the last time the country where he had a ranch and a shebang hidden in the hills?

Good Morning!

The Cinema management may well point with pride to their sixth feature picture! "Cyrano de Bergerac," as adapted, as played, as directed, is a treat!

Those who have seen or read Edmond Rostand's fascinating heroic comedy will be impressed by the faithfulness of the screen transcription. Cyrano, Roxane, Christian, Ragueneau—the famous Cadets of Gascogne—move with fine zest and feeling through the inimitable situations and colorful surroundings of Rostand's imagination. In no place has the director attempted to go the master one better. He has been quiescent, instinctive, inspired, and deeply sympathetic, and the players have responded magnificently to his guidance. You will be struck by their utter unself-consciousness and apparent unawareness of the camera.

Costumes, sets, scenery, exquisitely hand painted, enchant; there are some breath taking episodes on the battlefields, and moments tense, tender, thrilling, and humorous to sway the emotions of the observer.

I have read "Cyrano de Bergerac," but haven't seen the play, so can't compare Pierre Magnier's (he is of the Comédie Française) Cyrano with the hero of Richard Mansfield's and Walter Hampden's creation. But I found M. Magnier fascinating in the rôle of the nose afflicted, gallant poet-philosopher-swordsman.

I was, in fact, unreasonably fond of him before the picture ended, and, indeed, would have been willing to swear that the nose was not at all a grotesque appendage but a thing of beauty. (You see, Magnier MUST be good!)

If you don't know the story of "Cyrano de Bergerac" it's time you should—and the Cinema theater is the place for you to learn it.

A thought: Wonderful to have seen Constant Coquelin, the French actor who created the part, as Cyrano!

"Party Girl," adapted from Edwin Balmer's novel, "Dangerous Business," is too studiedly yellow to qualify as "excellent," but so well directed as to be interesting. It serves well in one respect, for it proves that Jeanette Loff—who never has had a real chance before — is not only a beauty, but a talented actress with a singing voice that far surpasses Gloria Swanson's. It is a charming voice—quiet, sympathetic, resonant.

This piece sings of girls provided by a "social bureau at the solicitation of business firms, for the entertainment of out of town buyers who would like to be gay dogs for a night." By means of their endearing and shrewdly utilised young charms the entertainers are supposed to land contracts for their hosts. Sex appeal substituted for high pressure salesmanship, you see.

Blackmail and romance brush skirts and melodrama and vulgarity chase each other around in circles. The picture is not without its cheap thrills. A girl falls six stories to the pavement but lives long enough to talk sadly and coherently to the unhappy youth who kneels by her side. The fall doesn't even rob her of consciousness. There's a laugh in that for the medics.

The acting is good throughout, and young Douglas Fairbanks acquits himself magnificently. Also he has had his hair cut.

See you tomorrow!

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Will the present styles in women's dresses last long?

The Answers.

Miss Rose Suess, 2254 Farragut avenue, home girl — I don't think so. They were extremely short, then some went to the extreme in length. But now they are coming back to sensible lengths, with even hem lines. The styles are feminine. The short skirt for business and the simple lines for evening wear will be the outcome.

C. E. Fry, 6706 South Sangamon street, railroad clerk—Women are women and style is style, but conservative suits look just as well and stylish and I should think they would please both the women and the men. The present novel mode probably is but a passing phase.

Miss Anna Runnion, 2313 Altgeld street, office clerk—It seems as though more and more women are buying the new long style dresses. I didn't like the present fashions until just lately, when I began wearing them. I thought if they were the style I would wear them, too. They are more dressy than any short length style could possibly be.

Edward Schulz, 14 Keystone avenue, billing clerk—I don't like the new style of dresses. I think they look rather odd when a girl walks down the street with a long dress tagging behind her. It reminds me of a street cleaner. The short skirt was the niftiest thing women ever wore.

Mrs. Nelle Leibsohn, 839 Sheridan road, calculator operator—For business the short modes will prevail, but for dress and evening attire I think the ladies prefer the longer and more formal type of dress. Drapes are extreme right now, but I think they will be modified and the soft, clinging lines will be retained.

Charities Tell How Ice Fund Aids the Poor

Nearly 900 Families Helped Last Year.

How the dimes and dollars from TRIBUNE readers brought healthful happiness into the lives of tenement babies through THE TRIBUNE'S free ice fund was told time and again last summer. The most convincing story of all is contained in the 1929 report of the ice fund recently completed by the United Charities of Chicago.

That organization administers the fund for THE TRIBUNE each year by seeing to it that the deserving families of the congested districts receive the tickets that bring ice to the back doors of "the rear flat and three flights up."

Last year the free ice fund made possible the distribution of 60 per cent more ice than had been distributed during each of the three previous years, the report showed. During 1929, there were 898 families provided for, or 231 more than in 1928. Last year 517,080 pounds, or 212,830 pounds of ice more than in 1928, were given to families of every race and creed.

In addition to families in the nine districts of the United Charities, several day nurseries and other welfare organizations for children received ice tickets from the fund. The heaviest users among these were the Central Charity bureau, the Infant Welfare society, the Jewish Social Service bureau, the Juvenile court [mothers' pension division] Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium, and St. Rose's day nursery. Others receiving tickets were the Children's Memorial hospital, De Paul settlement and day nursery, Henry Booth house, Little Wanderers' Association of America, Madonna center, and St. Elizabeth day nursery.

The free ice fund was established several years ago as an effort to aid in reducing the infant mortality rate in the thickly populated areas. By keeping the baby's milk cold and fresh, it stood to reason that less sickness would prevail during the hot weather. Many children are alive today only because of THE TRIBUNE'S free ice fund.

The daily visit of the ice man from June to September is welcome help for the poor families. All the children in families receiving the tickets are benefited. For ice keeps vegetables fresh on hot days, and water cold, and meat from spoiling. And it compensates a bit for the small sultry quarters of underprivileged families.

The ice fund will call on its friends again in three short months.

Rushmore Memorial to Be Dedicated on July 4; Finished Later

Washington, D. C., March 24.—(AP)—Dedication ceremonies at the Mount Rushmore National memorial in the Black hills are being planned for July 4, Representative William Williamson of South Dakota, a member of the Rushhmore national commission, announced today.

The celebration will be the occasion of the unveiling of the head and shoulders of the rock hewn figure of George Washington and the head of Thomas Jefferson. Gutzon Borglum, sculptor, will complete the figures of Abraham Lincoln and Thomas Jefferson later.

The inscription for the memorial, to be written by former President Coolidge, probably will not be composed by that time, Williamson said, as it is to be the last portion of the memorial carved.

Marion Talley Makes New Move Toward Farm Life

New York, March 24.—(AP)—All the furniture was moved out of Marion Talley's apartment in West 73d street today, so that it may be sold and the grand opera singer may retire to the middle western farm which she says will be her future home. The furniture was taken to auction rooms.

Miss Talley in April, 1929, announced she would forsake the complicated life of a big city and go back to the "simple atmosphere of a western farm."

Widow of James A. Hughes Seeks His Seat in House

BEG YOUR PARDON

The Rogers Park Woman's club will hold its annual men's meeting this evening at the clubhouse at 7079 North Ashland avenue. Husbands of members will be guests. It was incorrectly stated in Sunday's TRIBUNE that tonight's affair was to be the annual meeting. The annual meeting and election of officers will take place on April 15.

Announcement in THE TRIBUNE yesterday of a Deneen meeting at the Grand Opera house at noon sent several hundred people to the theater at that hour. There they were informed by Deneen workers that the announcement was a mistake of THE TRIBUNE. The announcement was issued by Deneen headquarters on Sunday, and the mistake was acknowledged at the headquarters yesterday.

THE STAGE

"BABES IN TOYLAND" will remain at the Majestic theater for three weeks instead of the fortnight which has been the custom for the Victor Herbert revivals. Its engagement will end April 12 and the theater will be dark during the following week. Franz Lehar's "The Merry Widow" will be revived for the two weeks beginning April 20.

During the engagement of "Toyland" there will be three daylight performances each week—the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinées and a Saturday morning performance, beginning at 10:15 a. m.

The Theater Guild, whose plans for its next New York season were announced last week, is now mapping out its Chicago season for 1930-'31. The one definite fact that has come out of the guild's council chambers to date relates to Bernard Shaw's new play, "The Apple Cart." It will open the guild's program at the Blackstone theater about the second week of October.

George White's "Scandals" will end its engagement at the Grand Opera house Saturday night, April 5. The theater will be closed until the arrival of "A Wonderful Night," which is a new staging of Johann Strauss' operetta, "Die Fledermaus." Saturday night, April 19, is the date fixed for the opening of "A Wonderful Night," to avoid conflict with the Easter Sunday premieres.

The next large scale musical production to be made by the Messrs. Shubert will be "Three Little Girls," an operetta from Vienna which has had long runs in various European capitals. Walter Kollo was the composer; Marie Armstrong Hecht and Gertrude Purcell have adapted the libretto, and Harry B. Smith rhymed the lyrics.

The company will include Natalie and Betinna Hall, recently of the American Opera company; Martha Lorber, Charles Headley, Harry Puck, John Goldsworthy, Lorraine Weimar, Raymond Walburn, and Charles Brown.

The sixth edition of John Parker's excellent reference work, "Who's Who in the Theater," has just been published by Isaac Pitman & Sons, New York. It has been completely revised and brought up to date; nearly 500 new biographies have been added. The new book contains about 3,000 careers of men and women of the theater and its allied professions.

Sunday night performances of "Nina Rosa," at the Great Northern, will be omitted for the rest of the engagement. This operetta, now in its eleventh week, is the long lived item on the current playbills.

Gus Edwards, the "pied piper" of juveniles with theatrical talent, is still playing his seductive tunes. Incidental to his appearances at the Palace this week, he announces that he will meet all comers, provided they are young, on the stage, next Thursday morning. If they do their stuff well enough they may hope for jobs. Mr. Edwards calls this ceremony "conducting an audition."

Sousa Leads Student Band of 314 Pieces

And What a Wallop That Puts Into Marches.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Three hundred and fourteen boys and one girl, the combined high school bands of Senn, Hammond, and Emmerson of Gary, were on the stage of the Auditorium last night to give a gala concert for the music supervisors' national conference, the first meetings of which had taken place during the morning and afternoon. A battery of sousaphones covered the back tier of the stage seating, an army of trombones raised their brazen arms at the right, there were cornets and saxophones, clarinets and bassoons until the eye grew tired in the attempt to count them.

Perhaps the climax of the program came at the end, when Lieutenant Commander John Philip Sousa, who had come to Chicago as guest-conductor for the concert, stepped upon the stage and directed the massed bands through Lacome's "Mascarade" and two of his own marches, "Semper Fidelis" and "The Stars and Stripes Forever," with "El Capitan" as an encore. At least the boys and girls played as though it were a climax, and it became a stirring event, as it always is when this greatly famed veteran conductor takes charge of proceedings.

Before this the three conductors, Capt. A. R. Gish of Senn, H. S. Warren of Emmerson, and Adam P. Lesinsky of Hammond, and also another guest conductor, Prof. Austin A. Harding of the University of Illinois, had directed various numbers. Prof. Harding had an interesting experiment. Feeling that a more complete instrumentation is needed for better band arrangements, he made a test demonstration of the "Poet and Peasant" overture in a setting that called for one-third saxophones, one-third woodwinds, and one-third brass and percussion instruments. Another feature of the program was a marimbaphone solo, Liszt's Second Hungarian Rhapsody, by Reinhardt Elster, who holds the title of national champion of this instrument, and who is a member of the Hammond band.

The supervisors' meetings during the day were given up chiefly to discussions. Demonstrations will take place today. Mr. Sousa maintained that it was a mistaken idea that music had any particular effect on character or morals. He admitted that it had a certain socializing influence that rehearsals kept children out of mischief and gave them something to think about.

On the other hand, Dr. Edward Howard Griggs of New York argued a connection between moral carelessness and artistic chaos, and saw the tide turning toward a renaissance of the spirit and humanistic culture. The general trend of the speakers was that music is a necessity in this country, an opinion added to by Miss Mabelle Glenn of Kansas City, president of the conference, when in her opening address she referred to the necessity of an outlet for young musicians after they leave their schools.

Other music during the evening was furnished in three halls. Pedro Espino, tenor, was presented at Kimball hall by the Society of American Musicians, having been a prize winner in the contest held by the organization during the winter. His first public recital disclosed him as the possessor of an unusually charming voice impelled by the spirit of a sensitive musician, the qualities that give marked promise to future achievements. His program consisted of a group of old Italian works, another of French and German, a third of English, and a final set of Spanish folk-songs. Helen Leefelt was his accompanist.

Serge Prokofieff, composer-pianist, and his wife, Lina Llubera Prokofieff, soprano, were brought to Orchestra hall by the Chicago Society for Cultural Relations with Russia. A good part of the program was from the pen of Mr. Prokofieff, himself, though there was liberal representation from Moussorgsky, Mjaskovsky, Rimsky-Korsakoff, and Stravinsky as well. Mr. Prokofieff is well known as a pianist of brilliant, if at times, hard performance, a manner which he applies to the works of other composers as well as his own. Mme. Prokofieff displayed a voice of pleasant quality and evident liking for Russian music.

The Fisk University Glee club, famous over a longer period for its singing of spirituals, gave a concert at the Eighth Street theater.

South Africa Takes Two Pictures of New Planet

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa, March 24.—The existence of a new planet has been confirmed by two photographs taken at the Harvard observatory at Mazelspoort, near Bloemfontein.

Director Dr. Paraskevopoulos says the object is certainly a planet. It is an extremely small object moving "westwards" at a rate of about ten seconds of an arc in twenty-four hours in close proximity to a star of 3.5 magnitude known as Delta Geminorum.

As to computation of the planet's orbit, Dr. Paraskevopoulos says the Harvard observatory in the United States from its store of photographic plates will be able to trace the object and measure each position for the last forty years. Once the orbit is determined the exact position of the new planet in the sky can be calculated for hundreds, even thousands, of years hence.

Arthur B. Davies' Memorial Formed by Scope of His Art

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

There are two exhibits in the print galleries of the Art institute which invite attention. In the main gallery is a magnificent collection of drawings and prints by Arthur B. Davies, the American painter whose death abroad last fall came as an unexpected blow to contemporary art. Mr. Davies was more than a painter, more than a craftsman. He was a distinct figure in the development of American aesthetics. His designs for rugs, his tapestries, his thousand and one interests outside of painting as a profession made him a very real influence in contemporary thought.

This exhibit of his is something of a memorial. It recalls many sides of him which perhaps are too easily forgotten. We are apt to associate him with the exquisite Persian precise-like paintings in the Martin A. Ryerson collection upstairs in the museum and to overlook the side of him which was purely classical. In the current show we get both sides, all sides of his genius.

There are cool landscapes and slim nymphs; there are quantities of figure studies. Some of these are deliciously exaggerated, others are remarkably honest. There is grace and charm and poetry in abundance. Rhythm runs through the exhibit with an increasing crescendo just as it does through the "Bolero," that slight fragment of a melody which Reval wrote and which the Symphony orchestra last Friday picked up and swelled into a haunting processional.

The second exhibit in the print rooms now is one of etchings by Rembrandt, and the atmosphere of this exhibit is forty degrees colder than that of the Davies' exhibit. The etchings are many of them small. They are fascinating if one reads them in the light of the customs of that distant day. We see the "cutter of mafls," the "fryer of flapjacks," the street musicians, the beggar, the mother and child.

MRS. WALTER I. BREGMAN.
[Trout Ware Photo.]

The marriage of Miss Geraldine Mildred Whitman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Whitman of Cleveland, O., to Walter I. Bregman, son of Mrs. Louis I. Bregman of Chicago, was solemnized last Sunday evening in Cleveland. Mr. Bregman and his bride have left for a trip to California and later will go to New York by way of the Panama canal. On their return in the latter part of April they will reside in Chicago.

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

Now that science has taught the necessity of vitamins in the diet and that green vegetables furnish the most available supply, lettuce has attained a position of great importance. It is a mine of vitamins always available, easily grown at home, and always in the market. It is a training diet for health.

Lettuce decidedly is a cool season crop. Plant it early in the spring as soon as the ground can be worked. Leaf lettuce is a surer spring crop than head lettuce. Prizehead, in spite of its name, is a leaf lettuce and desirable for the home garden. The leave show a touch of red. If warm weather comes early the heading varieties will not do well. They may be used for leaf lettuce, however, if they fail to head. The chances of success are good if you start plants under glass. May King or Salamander, two early heading varieties, are well recommended. Big Boston is a good fall heading kind.

Lettuce thrives best in soils which have a good supply of humus or partially decayed plant material. Even on well manured soils a good commercial fertilizer not too high in potash should be used at the rate of a pound to every forty square feet. If a good supply of manure is lacking, use twice as much fertilizer. Lettuce which is well fed and well supplied with moisture grows quickly and is crisp and tasty. If checked in growth it becomes bitter. It is important to keep the weeds out.

Lettuce rows are spaced 12 to 15 inches for hand cultivation. Thin before the plants begin to crowd one another. Leaf lettuce may be thinned at first to four inch spacing. Then alternate plants should be used early. Head lettuce needs about ten inches between plants.

Mark Golden Wedding with Air Journey to Kansas City

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Benedict, 3037 West Washington boulevard, yesterday celebrated their golden wedding by a journey by air to Kansas City. It was their first experience in an airplane. Mr. Benedict is 73 years old, and his wife is 70. They took off at the municipal airport in the morning in an American Airways plane, and will return by plane after a visit of a week or ten days. Mr. Benedict is secretary of the Chicago Photo Engravers' association.

91 Chicago Club Women on Yearly Washington Trip

Washington in cherry blossom time will be visited the rest of this week by ninety-one Chicago club women who left yesterday on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad for their seventh annual pilgrimage to the capital. During their stay they will attend several social functions, and visit the historic sights of the city. On one occasion the Illinois congressmen will be their guests, and on another they will be hostesses to a group of nationally known women at the Mayflower hotel. The party was headed by Mrs. W. G. Brown, wife of the general passenger agent of the railroad.

French Deputies Vote Solid for $40,000,000 Flood Relief

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 24.—With unanimity seldom seen since the war, the French chamber of deputies today forgot politics and voted $40,000,000 for the reconstruction of areas of southern France which have been recently ravaged by floods. At the same time, the chamber adopted an elaborate set of measures to prevent graft of the fund.

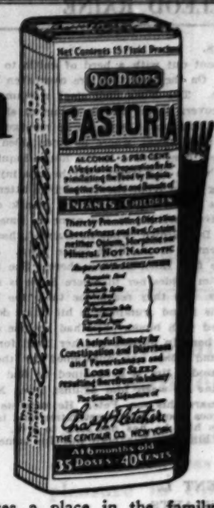
Children Cry for it



Children hate to take medicine as a rule, but every child loves the taste of Castoria. And this pure vegetable preparation is just as good as it tastes; just as bland and harmless as the recipe reads. (The wrapper tells you just what Castoria contains.)

When Baby's cry warns of colic, a few drops of Castoria has him soothed, asleep again in a jiffy. Nothing is more valuable in diarrhea. When coated tongue or bad breath tell of constipation, invoke its gentle aid to cleanse and regulate a child's bowels. In colds or children's diseases, use it to keep the system from clogging. Your doctor will tell you Castoria deserves a place in the family medicine cabinet until your child is grown. He knows it is safe for the tiniest baby; effective for a boy in his teens. With this special children's remedy handy, you need never risk giving a boy or girl medicine meant for grown-ups.

Why You Should Never Cut a Corn

If you are troubled with corns or callouses, do not run the risk of blood poison by paring them. Statistics show that many deaths have occurred from this seemingly innocent practice of paring corns.

Simply go to your druggist and get a few cents worth of Ice-Mint, rub a little on any painful corn or callous. Immediately the pain will disappear and in a short time the corn or callous will loosen and lift off easily with the fingers—root and all—leaving the surrounding skin in a healthy normal condition.

This, together with the fact that Ice-Mint overcomes such affections as sore, tired, aching, puffed or burning feet and makes them cool, easy and comfortable, is probably responsible for the hearty endorsement given it by druggists.

To rid one's feet of every hard corn, soft corn, corn between the toes or painful callousses in such a pleasant and safe way, makes it seem the height of folly for anyone to pare a corn and people are warned to stop it.

MARRIED AT ST. CHRYSOSTOM'S

[Du Bois Photo.]

Mrs. Robert Quincy White is the former Miss Carolyn Jane Everett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Everett of 1512 Dearborn parkway. Her marriage took place last Saturday at St. Chrysostom's church.

WEDDING

Miss Dorothy Louise Moulds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fryer Moulds of 5739 Kimbark avenue is to be married to Ernest Sweet Stevens, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Stevens of 1314 East 58th street on June 12, at the Hyde Park Baptist church. Miss Moulds attended Swarthmore college, and the University of Chicago. Mr. Stevens was graduated from the University of Chicago.

Damrosch Here; Telling How Radios Spread Good Music

Noted figures in music, including Walter Damrosch, conductor, were the guests of honor at a dinner given them in the Drake hotel last night by the National Broadcasting company. Merlin H. Aylesworth, president of NBC, was toastmaster. Following the dinner plans were discussed for next season's Music Appreciation hour, to which millions listen.

"In the winter of 1928," Mr. Damrosch said, "I started a series of educational morning concerts intended for schools, colleges, and other institutions. Their purpose was to open up the vast and important field of music to the younger generation. Through carefully selected programs played by my orchestra, and accompanied by short explanatory comments from me, they were to be initiated into the works of the great music masters. I am delighted with the results obtained."

Embassy Party in Berlin.

BERLIN, March 24. — (AP) — Mrs. Frederic C. Sackett, wife of the new American ambassador to Germany, gave her first reception to women of the diplomatic corps last night. She was introduced by Mme. Kemal Eddine Sami Pasha, wife of the Turkish ambassador and daughter of a former sultan.

Bishop Declares Public Often Finds Churches Offer Chilly Welcome

Bishop H. P. Almon Abbott of Lexington, Ky., former rector of St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church, 1424 North Dearborn parkway, declared yesterday that the coldness of present day churches is driving many people out of such congregations. He stated that workingmen are leaving churches because of inhospitality. He added that rented pews do not extend our Christian hospitality. Bishop Abbott is the Lenten preacher this week at the noon day Lenten services conducted by the Episcopal Church club.

"The most hospitable being in the universe is God," said Bishop Abbott.

The former Chicago rector declared that many people today are afraid of truth and prefer to cling to antiquated forms and valuations. He stated that fundamentalism has driven great numbers of young people from the church and added that orthodoxy is also taking its toll.

"You cannot hamper the spirit of modernity," Bishop Abbott asserted. "The man who is afraid of truth does not believe in God. If St. Paul were here today he would be a devoted friend of science."

Marriage License Is Asked for Daughter of Mussolini

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, March 24.—A request for a marriage license for Edda Mussolini, daughter of Il duce, and Count Galeazzo Ciano, son of the minister of communication, was made this afternoon by Premier Mussolini to Prince Boncompagni, governor of Rome. This request was made at private ceremony at the Torlonia villa.

The bans are to be published at Rome on the Sundays of March 30 and April 6. The wedding ceremony is to be performed privately in Rome near the end of April.

Tito Schipa Arranges for Charity Concert on Easter

Tito Schipa of the Chicago Civic opera, who is to sing a benefit concert on Easter Sunday at the Chicago Civic theater to aid the fund for a new addition to St. Mary of Nazareth hospital, North Leavitt and Division streets, was in Chicago yesterday making plans for the concert. Dr. John J. Killeen is chairman of the concert committee. The tenor left last night for Kansas City to continue a concert tour.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 24.—Mrs. E. C. Ellis, wife of the representative from Missouri, gave a luncheon for 46 today at the Congressional Country club on the River road in honor of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Franklin H. Ellis of Chicago.

Mrs. Nicholas Longworth and her daughter, Paulina, have gone to Atlantic City for a short visit.

Mrs. James R. Mann, widow of a representative from Chicago, gave a dinner tonight. Among her guests were Miss Julia Mattis, niece of the late Senator McKinley of Illinois.

Mrs. Frank J. Loesch of Chicago, who is spending some weeks here, gave a luncheon today at the National Woman's Country club.

The newly appointed American minister to Denmark and Mrs. Ralph Harman Booth of Grosse Pointe, Mich., have been joined by their daughter, Miss Virginia Booth.

Mrs. William Howard Taft, widow of the former chief justice, accompanied by her sister, Miss Maria Herron, who has been with her since the death of Justice Taft, will leave tomorrow for Cincinnati to attend the funeral of their sister, Mrs. Charles P. Anderson, who died suddenly in Paris ten days ago. They will return here to remain in the Taft home until they sail April 21 for Italy.

ENGAGED

Miss Kathryn A. Sandmeyer.
[Dagnerre Photo.]

John Edward Sandmeyer of 1425 East Marquette road announces the engagement of his daughter, Kathryn Alma, to Pratt Robert Loveland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hood Pratt Loveland of Washington, D. C. Miss Sandmeyer is a graduate of the University of Chicago and a member of the Achoth club. Mr. Loveland attended Purdue university and is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. The wedding will take place in August in Bond chapel at the University of Chicago.

King George to Give Informal Party at Buckingham Palace

LONDON, March 24.—(AP)—King George enters this week on one of the busiest since his illness more than a year ago. More than 250 guests will attend an informal afternoon party at the palace tomorrow. Their majesties will move freely among the company in the state rooms.

The first levee to be held at Buckingham palace since 1913 will come on Thrusday. Usually these functions are held at St. James's palace, but the naval conference makes that impossible.

Consequently London will be deprived of its accustomed spectacle of the king proceeding to St. James's with his escort or royal life guards. The king holds a privy council meeting on Friday. The court will probably move to Windsor on Monday and remain there until May.

Child Welfare Students Here; Plan Report to President Hoover

An attempt is being made here to determine the physical and mental factors contributing to the growth of the normal child. The study is being done by a subcommittee of the White House conference on child health and protection. The section on child growth and development convened yesterday at the Shoreland hotel. Thirty physiologists and other experts from all over the United States, each an authority in his own field, will meet behind closed doors until tomorrow.

No inkling of the findings of the committee will be available until next fall. Then the entire conference will make its report to President Hoover, according to Dr. Harold C. Stuart of Boston, vice president of the section. Dr. Stuart is presiding for Dr. Kenneth Blackfan, professor of pediatrics of the Harvard Medical school, Boston, who is president of the section. The Chicago meeting, he said, is one of a series being held by the section to gather material for its final report to the President.

Civic Light Opera Starts First Season's Rehearsals

Rehearsals are now in full swing for the season of light opera in the Civic theater and the first work scheduled for production, Balfe's "Bohemian Girl," is rapidly rounding into shape, according to announcement made last night.

With the return of the Chicago Civic Opera company from its annual tour today, the entire personnel of the light opera company will be in Chicago, and by the time the season opens April 21 artists, chorus, ballet and orchestra will be ready with at least three of the contemplated works.

The opera company closed its annual tour last night in Kansas City, and many of the American artists plan visits to Europe, while others will occupy their time with concert tours.

Beautiful Disposition Test to Select Y.W.C.A. Queen

Beauty that reaches the disposition will be sought in a beauty contest closing on April 3, conducted by the industrial girls of the West Side Y. W. C. A. On that night the health and beauty queen chosen will be crowned at a dinner in the loop branch, 59 East Monroe street. The judges will be members of the Y. W. C. A. health education staff. Other industrial clubs of the city will be guests of the West Side girls at the dinner.

Don't Pity the Poor Prune!

If they're the sour type, add two level teaspoonfuls of Rumford Baking Powder to each pound, and you won't need to use any sugar. You'll improve the flavor as well as save money.

If your prunes are the sweet kind, use a little lemon peel as well as the Rumford. It gives a pleasant tang. This is one of the 24 new uses of Rumford given in our unusual little book "Several New Things Under the Sun".

Send us your name and address and it will be sent to you at once, free. Look for the coupon in it. Your grocer sells Rumford—buy a can today.

FRESH!...FULL FLAVORED! because it's Dated!

★ LOOK FOR THE DATE ON THE CAN

CLIVE BROOK COMMENTS. "Most men enjoy a meal heartily, regardless of what is set before them," says this star of many Paramount pictures. "With coffee it is different. They demand that it be fresh. That's why so many insist on their coffee being dated."

THERE it is, Madam! Right on the label! The date that guarantees freshness . . . full flavor . . . delightful aroma!

For that date shows you just how long your grocer can keep any given can of Chase & Sanborn's Dated Coffee. You can't buy coffee that has had a chance to go shelf-stale under any circumstances.

For we watch those dates, too! And we take back any can that the grocer hasn't sold by the expiration date . . . replacing it with a fresh one!

And what a difference it makes in the coffee you drink! You get all the flavor . . . the fine aroma, the satisfying richness, the tip-top perfection . . . of coffee straight from the roaster.

Try a can of Chase & Sanborn's Dated Coffee! See what a difference there is. How much more fragrant each brimming cup . . . how much more satisfying its rich, mellow taste. Your grocer has it . . . Look for the date on each can.

Woman Who Chases After Youth Misses Pleasures of Her Age

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

At a beauty salon opening recently a young Englishman and one of our young American stage stars conducted a dialogue on the subject of beauty.

Speaking of the duty woman owes herself, her friends, her acquaintances (and the landscape, I presume), the very young man insinuated that the time to give up hope was when eyelids are closed in a last untroubled sleep.

An afternoon later, attending a solo performance and talk given by a noted woman of the English stage on how to treat the English language with the consideration justly due it, parts of American conversation waylaid my ear between rest periods in the lesson on English.

"There's Frances," came through the ether from a source close behind me. "She makes her life miserable. She fights her age as if it were some terrible monster come to devour her. She will not eat. She has a masseuse work on her daily. She gets a facial every day.

"She is running away to some quiet spot for rest periods all the time, and she looks simply awful. She is the same age as we are"—including the companion of the afternoon—"and just look at her! She looks, ly anything, ten years older."

I heard more about Frances. Frances pays a five figure rent for her apartment. She goes abroad to do her shopping every time she needs clothes. She likes to do that because then she can rest going and coming from her shopping tours, which are so exhausting. She never has time to read anything, and before she became infected with this youth obsession she took a fairly active part in things.

She wouldn't come this afternoon to hear the talk because some people were dropping in that evening and she wanted to sleep so she would look fresh.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

MISS G. H.: UNLESS YOU KEEP the cuticle at the base of the nail pushed back the shape of the nail is destroyed. Regular use of olive oil or cold cream will soften the cuticle and make it adaptable to the use of the orange stick in getting the "moon" shape.

MRS. G. B. C.: EVEN THOUGH you have a permanent wave you should brush the hair. At least you should give the scalp a couple of minutes' massage with the finger tips every night in order to have a sheen on your hair. My booklet on the hair may be had for a stamped, addressed envelope.

WOMAN'S DRESS.

Paris indorses the one piece tweed dress of diagonal weave for general utility occasions. The scalloped closing gives emphasis to the flat hipline, while the narrow belt is passed underneath the scalloped edge. It is brought through a bound opening, so as to keep the vertical line at the left side carried out by scallops and the plaited inset of the skirt. Faille silk crêpe in a blending tone is used for the cascading one sided rever, and the neck is collarless.

The pattern, 3293, comes in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material with 3⅛ yards of 27 inch contrasting.

Theory and Practice in Most Marriages Are Different Things

BY DORIS BLAKE.

One of our much quoted psychoanalysts suggests that marriage is just about the same as it always was, except that science is bringing its skeletons out in the public market places to air. Science is looking upon the wounds and the hurts of matrimony with a detached, coldly analytical mind. In the light of discoveries it is conceded by said psycho-analyst that the surprise is that marriage survives at all. But with the aid of science it is further conceded that future marriage will be easier because of the new scientific cures for what ails it.

All of which might sound more impressive if human beings were really cast in the mold of scientific experimental material. The trouble with most of us is that we are not. Emotions are stronger than reason in almost any critical period of our love lives.

A certain lecturer whose talks were patterned after the scientific treatment and healing of matrimonial problems came home one evening after a particularly stirring talk on jealousy. He analyzed the vice as beneath the dignity of a reasoning mind. When he arrived home his wife was not there to greet him. When she came in an hour later from a perfectly harmless game of bridge at a friend's house the sound reasoner hit her a smack that sent her sprawling first on the floor and later in the direction of a lawyer's office.

Another omnivorous consumer of the scientific school of literature whose parlor talk indicated a soul of rare, high, wide and broad understanding of motives and cures for marriage ailments, beat his wife up a couple of times in their short, hectic married life. Maybe these are exceptional applications of scientific reasoning, but it does seem that the only reasoning that is ever going to right marriage must have the flavor in it of a power higher than mental additions and subtractions. At least when the word "duty" stood in the marriage text the skeletons were kept hidden and marriage prospered better than it is doing at this moment.

Quilted Silk Jackets Defy the Nipping Winds

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Silk suits are going to have a most successful run in fashion's drama this season. Suits of all kinds are smart, and the suit of silk has a leading part. The silken suits that get their lines over best are distinguished by hand made chic. They are bringing back hand run tucks, quilting, and bits of embroidery. With so much hand work going into the making of the soft silk suit, it is about the prettiest ensemble a girl could have for many of the daytime affairs that demand beauty in the clothes line this spring.

Marthe et Renée have found a way of making the silk suit warm enough to wear before the weather man says that lightweight clothes are in order. They quilt the jackets of some of their best silk suits on a woolen foundation, and lo and behold! they defy the nipping winds.

The Marthe et Renée jacket suit shown is made this way. This suit is fashioned of black silk faille, and the cut of the jacket is a clever compromise between bolero and regulation length. The sleeves of this suit are trimmed with plaited frills of white handkerchief linen, which is also used for the simple sleeveless blouse.

This blouse is indelibly stamped with individuality by the potted plant motif in black faille that is encrusted on the side front by hand. Out of this plant grows a white handkerchief linen carnation. The skirt of this smart suit is hand plaited to the knees, and then cross tucked to make a checked pattern. Below the knees it is released in a plaited ruffle.

Too Outspoken.

I attended a funeral the other day and every one who had a car tried to accommodate those less fortunate. Two men whom I did not knew, but evidently friends of the dead man, offered to take me and asked if I would get two other ladies, as they had a vacant back seat. I asked two ladies whom I was not acquainted with if they would care to ride with the two gentlemen. They gladly accepted and soon I learned that one was the wife of the minister who had conducted the services.

Imagine my embarrassment when one of the men said, "Wasn't it terrible the way that minister kept repeating the same thing and prolonging the widow's agony."

Needless to say I rode back alone with the two men. J. H.

SEE how decay germs have damaged it with their acids? The gum tissue has receded. In less than a year this tooth will be lost—unless it receives immediate dental attention.

Thousands have such a tooth in their mouths now. The prey of acid-forming germs! What a shame they didn't know about Squibb's Dental Cream. It contains 50% of Squibb's pure Milk of Magnesia. Plenty of this safe, effective antacid to penetrate tooth crevices, and render decay acids harmless. To keep the delicate gum edge—The Danger Line—firm and healthy. MICHIGAN DEFIES U. S. ARREST IN RADIO QUARREL Going Right Ahead with Police Wireless.

Lansing, Mich., March 24.—[Special.]—Despite the fact that word was received from Washington that the department of justice was being instructed to arrest persons attempting to build a state police radio station Gov. Fred W. Green and other state officials responsible for the state's plans were going ahead today with arrangements for an early start on the broadcasting plant.

Gov. Green laughed at reports that the federal radio commission is attempting to block the Michigan program because it has issued no license for such a station and approved no wave length.

"We have opened bids for the station," said the governor. "I do not believe that constitutes an overt act. In any event we are going ahead with the station, arrest or no arrest. The legislature stipulated that a station be established and appropriated funds for its construction. We expect to carry out the mandate of the legislature."

Says State Has Power.

"The state has police powers which it must exercise and protect. I do not know who might be arrested in event the department of justice should comply with the federal radio commission's reported request."

It was indicated that the attorney general might be asked to meet the federal commission's proposed petition for an injunction against the state's action by seeking an injunction itself against interference on the part of the federal body.

The radio engineering laboratory of Fort Worth, Tex., was believed to be the low bidder for construction of the broadcasting plant, offering to build the transmitter for $12,500 and install it at a rate of $20 a day. The state plans to buy 30 receiving sets for automobiles and 50 sets for state police posts and sheriff's officers throughout the state. The state proposes a 1,000 watt station to operate on a wave length of about 124 meters and to be used exclusively for police purposes.

Commission Asks Arrest.

Washington, D. C., March 24.—(AP)—The federal radio commission today requested the department of justice to instruct its agents in Michigan to arrest any persons who started to build the state police radio station which Gov. Green said would be constructed at Lansing without waiting to obtain a permit from the commission.

Commission attorneys also have prepared petitions for an injunction against the Michigan department of public safety. The petitions would be filed in a Michigan federal court should the governor attempt to carry on the project in defiance of the commission.

Subpoena 50 Contractors in City Hall Pay Roll Quiz

Fifty teaming contractors who have worked for the department of public works were named in subpoenas issued yesterday by Assistant State's Attorneys Homer Dodge and Harold Klein. They were notified to appear at the state's attorney's office today with records showing the work performed for the city for the fee of $11.50 per day for each truck. Each teaming contractor was also requested to bring with him his license and vehicle tag numbers so that the prosecutors, who are investigating city hall pay rolls, can check rumors that the same trucks were reported doing work in different wards on the same day and collecting a fee from more than one ward.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Dough Does It

Mack, Gibbons, Hopper Fill Air with Baseball

N. U. President Tells of University's Work.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

De Wolf Hopper, comic opera comedian; Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics; Floyd Gibbons, newspaper "Head Line Hunter," and an obediently responding orchestra played a race with time on the Family Party program from New York through W-G-N, 8:30 to 9, with happy results. Mr. Hopper's inimitable interpretation of his classic "Casey at the Bat" was the piece de resistance.

Mr. Mack, speaking from Fort Myers, Fla., revealed some of the secrets in the training of young Athletic pitchers, which may or may not augur well for the Cubs and the Sox.

Mr. Gibbons' play in the game consisted of a narration of the high lights of certain world season games.

Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern university, from W-G-N, 9 to 9:30, explained convincingly how his university is training thousands of young men and women for their future careers. This is something that augurs well not only for Chicago but for other districts throughout the country. A group of students sang university songs.

The Rochester, N. Y., Civic orchestra, through KYW, 9 to 9:30, continued its successful advertising of its own civic pivotal point by playing admirably several of the choice works of early and modern composers.

On the W-G-N 9:30 to 10 modern concert, Don Lindley, trumpeter, played a work of his own, "Trumpet Stomp," the stomp being an ancient dance and this trumpet stomp being a flipper on the instrument's three keys.

Diamond Market Faces Break as Diggers Quarrel

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAPE TOWN, March 24—A complete break in the diamond market is threatened within the next 12 hours. A conference of representatives of the big diamond mining interests including De Beers, Jagersfontein, the alluvial diggings and southwest African interests were unable to reach an agreement with the government and is expected to dissolve tomorrow without settlement. This probably will mean independent operation by various interests in selling diamonds. The position is viewed here with grave concern. It is believed that some companies will be compelled to pass dividends.

MAE WEST TRIAL IS TEST OF PEN VS. POLICE CLUB

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—The trial of Mae West and her "Pleasure Man" cast today was branded a test case which will directly affect Broadway's racy plays of the future. With Broadway Mae in the test tube as a playwright it is a finish fight to determine whether the nightstick is mightier than the pen.

With the elimination of the third count in the indictment, that of maintaining a public nuisance, the 55 defendants now are on trial for "participating in an indecent, obscene play" and for "taking part in a performance showing sex degeneracy." The nuisance clause was dropped at noon.

If a conviction is obtained in the "Pleasure Man" case, it was explained this afternoon, the district attorney will in all future drama cases introduce expert evidence as to the meaning of lines spoken by those who took part in the play.

James T. Powers, police sergeant and one of the department's second string drama critics, took the stand this afternoon.

The assistant critic corroborated down to the last unprintable detail the story Capt. Coy had told of the antics performed by men dressed like women on the stage the night "Pleasure Man" played its one night stand.

Hero Who Saved 8 from Drowning Is Dead at 82

Possessor of two medals for heroism, Anton Buck, 82 years old, died peacefully while reading a newspaper yesterday in his home, 10317 Bensley avenue. As a youth of 17 years he was rewarded by the king of Denmark for rescuing five persons from a floundering vessel in the Baltic sea. As a man of 60, he was acclaimed by the city council and citizens of Elgin for rescuing three persons from a ferry boat in the Fox river. He was a carpenter by trade. He leaves a widow and three sons.

BALFOUR'S HEIRS GIVEN LEAVE TO PUBLISH PAPERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 24. — Complete power to publish or destroy his political and private papers, has been given to Lord Balfour's relatives in the late political leader's will which was filed today in Edinburgh. Under the will, the trustees are to be the marquess of Salisbury, Viscount Cecil, formerly Lord Robert, Lieut. Col. Edward William Sturgis Balfour, and Maj. Edward Cecil Lascelles.

A codicil makes the late earl's nephew, Viscount Trapain, his principal heir. The document states that this was done with the full consent of the family "to save my heirs as much estate duty as possible." The viscount is 28 and his father, Gerald the present earl is 77. The heavy death duties imposed in England will thus be avoided in case of the aged earl's death.

ADMIRAL BYRD'S GRANDMOTHER IS DEAD IN VIRGINIA

Mrs. Byrd had made her home with her daughter here for the last 18 years. Despite the fact that she was in ill health for some time prior to her death, she kept up her interest in the exploits of her grandson during his Antarctic explorations. During the last presidential campaign she cast her first ballot, voting for Alfred E. Smith. She was a native of Tennessee.

D. P. THOMPSON FUNERAL RITES TO BE THURSDAY

David P. Thompson, assistant to the president and a director of the Inland Steel company, died early yesterday at Miami Beach, Fla., of pneumonia. He was 49 years old and popular in Chicago society. He resided at 1247 North State parkway. Funeral services will be held at his birthplace, Newcastle, Pa., on Thursday.

At the deathbed were his son, Alexis, 15 years old; his former wife, Mrs. Millie Caffee Thompson Beaumont, and her present husband, Maj. Victor Beaumont of London. Mrs. Beaumont's presence was in fulfillment of Mr. Thompson's last request before he became delirious. Major and Mrs. Beaumont were in Chicago when news of Mr. Thompson's acute illness came. A train was held twenty minutes while they packed and, en route to Florida, Mrs. Beaumont became active in obtaining specialists to care for her former husband.

Mr. Thompson was the son of the late Alexis W. Thompson, at one time president of the Republic Iron and Steel company and later president of the Inland Steel company.

Upon graduation at Yale, Mr. Thompson entered the employ of the Republic Iron and Steel company. He joined the Inland interests in 1912 and at the time of his death was in charge of operations. Mr. Thompson was an officer of many Inland subsidiaries.

For Safety's Sake It's Best to Adopt the Child You Rear

By Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

A "Sex Education Booklet," by Mrs. Bevans, will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A mother, lacking in responsibility, went away to fresh fields and pastures new, leaving her children to be entirely supported by their grandmother. When the children were quite large the mother married. Her husband wanted the children. So she took them away from the grandmother. The grandmother has no redress.

A man who had always been a heavy drinker, when his wife died turned his children over to his sister and went away, sending no money for their support. Eight years later he came back and claimed the children. The sister who loved them devotedly is heartbroken.

A father left his sister and mother the care of his baby son, and disappeared. When the boy was 12 he turned up with a second wife and decided he wanted his son again from the two women who had brought him up.

Touching, sometimes piteous, letters are made worse when there is no help for the writers. Because I have received a number of such letters I want to make a suggestion so that other unselfish women may be spared unnecessary pain, and also children may be protected.

If you find yourself presented with a child or children by a son, or daughter, or brother, or sister who seem not to care, and if you assume the responsibility for them—if you love them and intend to bring them up and want them to be always with you, and if you know their parents are and always will be unfit to have them, take steps to adopt them legally. You will spare yourself and the children untold misery by doing so.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Doll and Buggy for Little Girl.

"I have a little daughter, 8, who has always longed for a doll and buggy. I had hoped to give them to her for Christmas but my plans went astray. She knows to have a birthday soon and I wonder if you know of some child who no longer wants hers. I know my little girl would be happy to have them. Mrs. A. K."

Here is an opportunity for one of our young readers to make a little girl who hasn't been blessed with many luxuries extremely happy. Perhaps you have more dolls than you really need to play with, or maybe you are outgrowing your doll buggy. If so, won't you give them to this child and give her the happiest birthday she has ever known?

Offers Banjo Instruction Book.

"I have a good instruction book for the banjo. It is a complete course and as I have not been able to continue it, I would like to pass it on to some one anxious to learn to play this instrument. E. S."

If you aspire to be a banjo player and already have the instrument, here is your opportunity to learn to play it. I am sure you will be able to accomplish a great deal with this book of instruction. Write me for it; please do not telephone.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Calf's Liver Dumplings.

The following recipe should have been put into a letter answered the other day: One-half pound calf's liver chopped fine, suet about the size of an egg, also chopped fine; three crackers rolled fine and browned in one tablespoon of butter, one egg, two tablespoons water, one teaspoon chopped onion, about a cup of flour. Make this into globes about the size of golf balls, cook for one-half hour in a soup or some fat liquid, and serve with a tomato sauce. This will make about a dozen dumplings.

When the dumplings are to be served with a piquant sauce like that made with tomato, it does not matter so much if they are cooked in plain boiling water which can be seasoned with a piece of fat pork, or with some other fat and vegetables. Some time ago we tried these out in various ways and thought that they were most agreeable when served in a good standby tomato sauce.

The easiest sort of a tomato sauce and one that should be in every cook's repertoire, whether the cook be a professional or just a semi-occasional performer, can be made exactly like a white sauce, using the tomato purée in the place of the milk of the white sauce. With one tablespoon butter, two of flour, and one cup of tomato, we can make an excellent sauce which we may salt to taste and pep up with other seasonings, such as a bit of pepper. Besides being excellent for the dumplings, we may use it with veal cutlets and particularly with warmed over meats.

Another sauce used with liver dumplings is the butter sauce, which is made like a white sauce, with boiling water instead of the milk, and often has in it some slices of boiled egg. Liver dumplings are also drained and dried and rolled in crumbs and fried. It is our own opinion that this sort of cooking is a difficult type, but a good deal depends on whether one likes liver or not.

A cold slaw or chiffonade lettuce with a piquant French dressing is a suitable accompaniment for meat balls of almost any sort, and they are needed if a sauce is not prepared for these balls or dumplings. We really need to go to Swedish cookery to learn to make meat balls well.

Springfield Masons Meet.

Springfield, Ill., March 24.—(AP)—The thirty-eighth annual reunion of the Springfield consistory and coördinate bodies of the Masonic order opened here today at the Masonic temple and will continue through Wednesday.

BETTER BRAN FLAKES

CRUNCHY-CRISP flakes that have all the famous flavor of PEP. With just enough bran to be mildly laxative. That bring the nourishing elements of wheat.

You'll say they are the best bran flakes you ever tasted. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Lowest Rate in Chicago on Household Loans
$100 to $300

By reason of the large volume and by limiting our service to the larger loans, from $100 to $300, "Household" has been able to reduce its interest rate to almost one-third less than the charges permitted by law.

Here Is the Cost
On 20 Month Payment Plan:
$100 Average monthly cost.....$1.32
$200 Average monthly cost.....$2.63
$300 Average monthly cost.....$3.94

USED CARS SACRIFICED AT PRICES BELOW COST
BY STUDEBAKER SALES COMPANY

PACKARD SEDAN. For attractive appearance and efficient performance this car is hard to beat. 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $295.

COLE SEDAN. Has exceptionally good tires. Equipment includes heater, snubbers, spotlight, spare tire, etc. This is an unusually clean appearing car that runs fine. $145.

ELCAR 8 SEDAN. A late model that was owned by a prom. roller while in Chicago. As he was attending tournaments most of the time this car was given very little use. It's in marvelous condition today, and its de luxe in every respect. Equipped with shock absorbers, heater, spare tire, bumpers, etc. $785.

STANLEY STEAMER SEDAN. 1928 that looks as though it were never used before. The tires are like brand new and the boilers are in A1 condition. Equipment includes 4 whl. brakes, trunk, spare tire, bumpers, etc. $985.

PONTIAC COUPE. This late model must actually be seen to be appreciated. Finish has not a scratch on it, and the upholstery is in the original new condition. Has good rubber and many extras. $385.

JORDAN 8 SEDAN. This car looks and runs better than many automobiles selling for $600 and over. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, driving light, spare tire, bumpers, etc. $345.

CHRYSLER COUPE. Model 70 with rumble seat. A close examination will convince you this car was given exceptional attention for it's in unusually fine shape now. Has a smooth running motor and many valuable extras. $650.

STUDEBAKER COACH. Std. 6 that's in exceptionally clean condition. Has a sweet running motor. Extras are spotlight, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $195.

LINCOLN SEDAN. 7 pass. that was given very careful attention so now it's in wonderful condition. Has shatter-proof glass, spare tire, shock absorbers, bumpers, etc. $475.

CADILLAC PHAETON. It's a beauty. The finish glistens and the upholstery appears new. Motor is very efficient. $295.

FORD COUPE. 1929 that's a beauty. Has a wealth of extra equipment. This Ford was only driven a few miles, and now it will give new car satisfaction. Offered at an exceptionally low price.

STUDEBAKER COMMANDER. Late model Sedan that looks as though it were direct from the factory. The finish is bright and every upholstered part is free from a little wear. The motor has been carefully checked over and adjusted wherever necessary. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $595.
